SHELTON BOYS SAY THEY'RE OUT OF WILLIAMSON COUNTY FOR GOOD

Earl Doesn't Know if Their Old Anti-Klan Followers Are in Gang Now Killing Birger's Cohorts.

GIVES HIS VERSION OF ORIGIN OF FEUD

Asserts Enemy "Talks With His Big Mouth About Wanting to Meet Us on the Highway."

Now comes Earl Shelton of the Shelton gang, with his version of how he and his brothers, Carl and Bernie, fell out with Charley Birger, opposing Illinois gang leader, who has proclaimed a protectorate over his home town of Harrisburg against the Shelton outfit and who told in yesterday's Post-Dispatch of his split with them, and of his plans to exterminate their "mob" in his own way.

A Post-Dispatch reporter found Earl Shelton in friendly hands in East St. Louis yesterday, suffering from malaria fever. He has been in bed with this ailment for three weeks and is in a weakened physical condition.

He listened to a reading of the account of the gang feud in Williamson County, as given in yesterday's Post-Dispatch by Charley Birger, Williamson County gangster, who has let it be known that he and his gang are on the warpath for the Shelton brothers, Earl 32, Carl 34 and Bernie 26. Carl was in East St. Louis yesterday but departed last night for Hot Springs, Ark., where Bernie has gone for his health.

First Statement by Sheltons.

Upon hearing Birger's account of the origin of gang warfare in Williamson County, Earl Shelton, raw-boned mountain type with piercing black eyes, turned painfully on his pillow and said:

"To begin with let me say that this is the first statement of trouble in Williamson County ever made by the Shelton boys, for the Shelton boys do not talk."

He turned for confirmation of this statement to a mutual friend who had taken the reporter to his bedside.

"No," Earl continued, "we are not given to boasting of what great warriors we are, like Birger, who is not a warrior but a coward. He's got himself all hemmed in with armor and machine guns, and whenever you see a man hiding behind a fortress, that means he is afraid to come out in the open.

"He talks with his big mouth about wanting to meet us on the highway, but he is only talking and we are not afraid of him. If we didn't know he was only blowing, we might get excited and go up there to see what it is all about, but we know Birger and are not taking his loud talk very seriously.

Out of Williamson for Good.

"We are out of Williamson County to stay. That's news for you. My brothers and I quit that county more than a month ago and are through with all this shooting business. We are going to make our home in East St. Louis and we are not going to give the police any trouble.

"To understand Birger's motives in attacking us and blaming us with all the crime that has been committed in Williamson County you must know that he is a kike.

"You will recall that it was a kike, Max Greenberg, who started the gang warfare in St. Louis with the Egans following the killing of Willie Egan.

"Well, Birger is of the same type as Greenberg. He is a dope runner. So was Greenberg. The ordinary kike wants all the profits and everything else he can swindle you out of, but this viciousness is intensified in the kike with criminal instincts. The criminal kike will make a deal with you and blow your brains out when you call for your share. That is Birger.

Fell Out Over Slot Machines.

"The first break between Birger and me came when I refused to smuggle some of his relatives into this country through Florida. I flatly refused to become a smuggler and this caused a slight estrangement.

"Later on he and I bought some slot machines, which he placed in the spots in Williamson County. My brothers and I were to get half the profits and Birger the other half. But Birger took it all and thereupon banished him from

HARD COAL COSTS LONDON AS MUCH AS POTATOES NOW

Lloyd George Says Government Ought to Seize Mines to End Strike.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—Due to the coal strike which began in May, anthracite now costs London housekeepers by the pound as much as potatoes and nearly the same as cooking apples. Even soft coal costs more than cabbage, carrots and several other winter vegetables.

Anthracite, by the hundredweight, at the beginning of cold weather, sold for approximately $1.50 to $1.75, while soft coal retailed at about $1.00 for a 112-pound sack.

All sales are regulated by the Government, under emergency regulations. Private dwellings are allowed not more than one hundredweight a week, unless there are unusual circumstances which must be explained to the authorities for additional permits.

By the Associated Press.

CARNARVON, Wales, Oct. 29.—Former Premier Lloyd George yesterday described the coal dispute as "the greatest crisis since the war." Speaking at a meeting of the Liberals, he argued that the Conservative Government would be justified in taking over the mines.

"We are passing through the greatest crisis since the war," he said, "and the government avows its complete helplessness. Yet our trade balance is going down, until this will see the end of it, and we shall be forced to finance ourselves with foreign credit.

"This country, once banker for the world, is now walking to the money lenders."

CATHOLIC CHURCH BOMBED THIRD TIME IN A YEAR

Guard Only Lately Removed When San Francisco Edifice Is Dynamited Again.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—For the third time in 10 months, the Catholic Church of SS. Peter and Paul here was bombed early today. A dynamite blast set off at the door of the edifice shortly before worshipers began to arrive for early mass, did damage amounting to several thousand dollars.

The Rev. Father di Martini was sleeping only a few feet from the exploding bomb, but was uninjured.

The oak doors were blown off, stained glass windows were shattered and a hole was made in a granite stairway. Nearby houses were shaken slightly.

Because of the two previous explosions the church had been under guard until a few days ago.

Four pieces of fuse were found by Father di Martini, who also reported that before the explosion an automobile had been parked near the church.

The regular early mass was held in spite of the explosion.

HURRICANE'S FORCE MEASURED

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 29.—The rain and wind exerted a pressure of 250 pounds to the square inch in the recent Florida hurricane. F. E. Schmidt, New York engineer, told the American Institute of Steel Construction his investigations after the storm had determined. The annual convention of the institute is in session here.

Architects and structural steel experts, Schmidt said, need a new instrument by which they can measure the pound pressure of a square foot of wind in order to build intelligently and guard against windstorms and hurricanes.

DETROIT BUSINESS INTERESTS CLASH WITH CHURCHES

Church Council Declares There Is "Sinister Attempt to Dominate Pulpits."

BOARD OF COMMERCE REGRETS PUBLICITY

Says There Is No Reason Why Controversy Should Be Dragged Through Public Press.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 29.—The Detroit Council of Churches was criticised "for dragging into the public press" the quarrel precipitated by the invitation to labor leaders to deliver pulpit addresses during the recent convention of the American Federation of Labor, in a brief statement issued today by the Detroit Board of Commerce. The statement follows:

"If any individual church member is interested in the facts concerning our controversy with the American Federation of Labor, such facts are readily available at the office of the Detroit Board of Commerce. We see no reason why such a controversy should be dragged through the public press."

The statement followed action of the Church Council last night in making public a statement declaring industrial organizations were carrying on a campaign of coercion and intimidation against Detroit ministers for extending the invitations to labor leaders.

The alleged campaign was branded as a "sinister attempt to dominate the pulpits of Detroit" and a number of acts were cited which were termed "unpleasant forms of pressure" brought to bear on the churches.

The controversy had its inception in the issuance of a number of invitations to the labor leaders and their subsequent withdrawal by church officials and directors of the Y. M. C. A., after representatives of the employers' associations demanded the right to answer the labor speakers. Church officials explained that rather than have such debates developed it was decided to cancel the invitations.

The action of both the ministers and the employers' associations were denounced on the floor of the Federation convention, where speakers charged that the reason behind the cancellation of invitations was threats of business organizations to withdraw support.

The Church Council statement quotes an article in the Detroiter, official organ of the Detroit Board of Commerce, which contained the phrase "If the ministers of Detroit open their pulpits to men who are admittedly attacking our Government and our American plan of government," etc.

"The false and insulting nature of this innuendo deserves the severest kind of reprobation," the statement said, adding that an example of attempts to coerce the church developed when a high official of the Board of Commerce in a letter to his minister raised the question as to whether the church was getting money from labor.

DISCLAIMS CAMPAIGN CHARGE

Mills Denies Any Personal Reflection Against Gov. Smith.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The personal issue was out of the State gubernatorial campaign today and the controversy between Gov. Smith and his Republican opponent, Ogden L. Mills, again centered on whether New York City is supplied with milk up to the legal standard.

Mills disclaimed any reflection on the Governor's private life, explaining that when he said Gov. Smith "was not to be trusted" he meant it in a political sense. To that the Governor countered that Mills was "not fit to be Governor," having "cast his lot with the greatest political dead one (William Randolph Hearst) in the world today, a discredit to his State and to every place where he has ever been."

BYRD PLANS FLIGHT TO EUROPE

Intimates London or Paris Will Be Objective From New York.

By the Associated Press.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 29.—Lieutenant-Commander Richard E. Byrd intimated last night that he was planning a flight from New York to London or Paris next summer.

The American naval officer, who commanded the first successful expedition to fly to the North Pole, said he could make no announcement of the exact plans of the proposed expedition.

Smoking Car Yarn Basis of Oregon Corruption Charges

Walter Hayes Says He Repeated Gossip but Made No Charge of Bribery.

By the Associated Press.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 29.—Gossip overheard in the smoking compartment of a Pullman car was the foundation of charges that $35,000 was paid to the Portland Morning Oregonian for opposing the candidacy of Senator Robert N. Stanfield of Oregon, it was developed yesterday by Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon as he closed his investigation here into senatorial campaign expenditures in this State. The information regarding the smoking-room gossip came in a telegram from Walter Hayes of Washington, D. C., former secretary to President Roosevelt.

George Putnam, publisher of the Salem Capital-Journal, who brought about the Oregon inquiry, had testified that he had learned of the alleged $35,000 transaction in a conversation with Hayes when the latter visited the Capital-Journal office at Salem.

Hayes' telegram, which was placed in the record, read: "The following is substantially what was said by me, not to Mr. Putnam, but to the other men in his office while I was there. I said that while on the train leaving Spokane, I overheard in the smoker two men discussing the Oregon election. I inferred from their conversation that they were associated with an Eastern company. One told the other that he understood that an Eastern corporation had sent in money to help defeat Stanfield. I did not hear the name of the company. I did not hear the name of the Oregonian mentioned, nor the name of the Portland Electric Power Co."

C. M. Clark of Philadelphia, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Portland Electric Power Co. and Franklin T. Griffith, president of that company, testified that neither they nor the company had made any contribution in the Oregon campaign.

DIVORCE DECREE BY AIRPLANE HASTENS MAN'S THIRD WEDDING

Charles W. Benedict of Riverside, Cal., formerly of St. Louis and New York, was married last Saturday at Brookline, Mas., to Mrs. Louise Caton Potter.

Mr. Benedict is 60 years old and his bride 40. He had been married twice previously, recently obtaining a divorce from Carlotta Novarro, a Spanish musician to whom he was wedded in California several years ago. Divorce papers were sent by air mail from California to Massachusetts in order that the marriage might not be delayed and a waiver of the five-day regulation in force in Massachusetts was obtained. The couple left immediately after the ceremony for a seven-months' tour of the world.

Mr. Benedict is the son of the late E. C. Benedict of New York. He came to St. Louis from New York 30 years ago and married Mrs. Zoe Papin Buerthe. She died eight years ago, and he then moved to California.

BONDSMAN GETS OUT FROM UNDER $30,000 FORFEIT

Louis Rose, on Same Day Court Enters Order, Transfers All Property He Had Listed to Qualify.

WOULDN'T HAVE BEEN GOOD FOR IT ANYWAY

Rejected by All Other Judges, but Accepted by Gayer, Who Says He Can't Watch All the Time

On the same day, Aug. 23, that three $10,000 bonds he had signed were declared forfeited by the Circuit Court, Louis Rose, a professional bondsman, transferred the title to all the property he had listed at the Recorder's office, search of the records by a Post-Dispatch reporter disclosed today.

There is nothing on the records now to show that Rose has any property, and the forfeited bonds, if reduced to judgments, would be uncollectable unless Rose voluntarily paid them.

Moreover, even if Rose had kept the property in his own name, he would not be good for the forfeited $30,000. By his own statement to the Court of Criminal Correction he possessed real estate which he valued at $15,500, on which there were deeds of trust amounting to $5435, and "$10,000 in stocks and bonds."

Barred by All Judges but Gayer.

This bondsman, barred by every Judge of the Circuit Court from signing bonds, was accepted by Judge Paul Gayer of the Court of Criminal Correction on $42,900 worth of bonds since last Jan. 1. The Circuit Judges had refused to accept Rose on bonds after it became known that Judge A. B. Frey last spring had investigated Rose and found his qualifications spurious.

In his statement of qualifications made in the Court of Criminal Correction last January Rose said he owned a flat building at 2802-04-06 Texas avenue. This property was appraised at $13,000 by the Assessor. Rose obtained the holding in December, 1925, from Joseph Rose, a relative. He kept the property until the day his three $10,000 bonds were forfeited and then transferred it to Frank Goebel, "consideration $100." The transfer is dated Aug. 23 and so are the forfeitures.

The three forfeited $10,000 bonds name Michael Sullivan, robbery suspect, as principal. Sullivan failed to appear in the Court of Criminal Correction and the bonds were sent to the Circuit Court for collection. Rose also signed, with Judge Gayer's permission, a $10,000 bond for Lawrence Julian, a $2500 bond for Jack Gold and two $800 bonds for Ollie Moor. Provisional Judge Grodski, who sat for Gayer during his vacation, accepted Rose on another $800 bond.

Sidener to Look Up Law.

A writ of scire facias was certified to Circuit Judge Ossing's division of the Circuit Court on Sept. 2, as the first step in bringing Rose to book for the $30,000 forfeitures. Circuit Attorney Sidener, whose office has charge of the collection of bond forfeitures, said today that he would ask for a hearing in the Rose case the first law docket day in November. When apprised of the transfer of property by Rose, the Circuit Attorney said he would see if the statutes gave him power to set such a transfer aside on the ground that it was an attempt to defraud the State.

When the apparent ruse by which Rose made it impossible for the Sheriff to levy on him for the forfeited bonds, was explained to Judge Gayer, the Judge said:

"Well, I cannot be expected to watch bondsmen's property. They can swear one day they have $50,000 in property and the next day transfer it to someone else. I will make Rose give new qualifications before permitting him to sign any more bonds."

It will be recalled that Judge Gayer accepted Sam Arky, professional bondsman, on two $1000 bonds which have been reduced to judgments and which Arky has thus far refused to pay. He told reporters who asked him about this that he would call Arky in and require him to give new qualifications. So far as known Arky has not done this and has not signed any more bonds. Arky had no property listed in his name and presumably was not good for a penny, but various Circuit Judges permitted him to sign $670,000 worth of bonds in 1924. Of this amount Circuit Judge Ittner accepted him for $144,000.

STATE SENATOR GOT $26,000 GRAFT, SAYS EX-DRY CHIEF

R. W. Stone, on Stand in Chicago, Accuses Lowell B. Mason in 1,000,000-Gallon Wine Plot.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Ralph W. Stone, former prohibition director of Illinois, who is under indictment, testified today that he paid $26,000 in graft for approval of permits for withdrawal of sacramental wine to Lowell B. Mason, dry State Senator, who is a candidate for re-election next Tuesday. Stone was called as a Government witness in the trial of Mason and Maj. Percy Owen, also a former Illinois prohibition director, for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

Stone said he gave Mason $3000 after Mason had agreed that he would use political pressure while Stone handled the legal end of the business, and added that he paid Mason $23,000 within three months, May to August, 1925, in money received for the approval of wine withdrawal permits.

It was the first time Mason's name had been mentioned in testimony, the previous three days of the trial having been devoted by the Government to outlining the alleged conspiracy by which more than 1,000,000 gallons of sacramental wine was said to have been withdrawn illegally at the rate of $300 for 2000 gallons.

"After a talk with Mason in regard to the sacramental wine he said he was in a position to demand poltical courtesy and that he was willing to take up the matter with the prohibition office," Stone testified.

Mason asked, Stone said, that no mention of his name be made, because he was representing a dry district.

Later, Stone related, the collections stopped and the sacramental wine business collapsed after the arrest of Rumps and Bennett.

He told of a meeting with Owen in which Owen claimed Mason had double-crossed him. Stone said Mason refused to contribute to the campaign fund of Bennett and Rumps, but that Owen finally gave $1000.

Stone testified that he split the $300 for each permit in this way—$200 to Mason, $50 to himself and $50 to A. E. Bennett and Bernard Rumps, prohibition agents. After the first few payments, Stone testified Mason told him to "raise the ante" from $300 to $400 and the increase was split proportionately.

Wednesday was distribution day and Mason's office "payoff house," said Stone, adding that he collected between $32,000 and $34,000 between May and August, 1925, turning over $23,000 to Mason, $7000 to the agents and retaining $5000.

At the opening of today's court session, Mason saw his expressed hopes of going before the voters with a clean slate dashed when Federal District Judge Carpenter announced that after today court would be adjourned until next Wednesday, the day after the election, so the jurors from out of Chicago might return home to vote.

Today's first witness was Harry Ex, Chicago representative of the California Fruit Products Co., who was named in the indictment, but not made a defendant. He told of gaining information from Irving Friedman, salesman, that applications were disapproved because the distributers were not paying the required $300 graft.

Ex said he declined to "do business that way," but that Friedman offered to collect the graft from congregations requiring the wine, and that the applications then went through.

MULE 47 DAYS WITHOUT FOOD

Army Animal Had Fallen Into Pit in Panama Jungle.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The traditional toughness of the Army mule again was upheld in a report received today by the War Department from the forty-second infantry in Panama.

During recent maneuvers one of the outfit's mules broke loose and strayed into the jungle. A native found him 47 days later in a 10-foot pit on the edge of the jungle. The mule apparently had stumbled into the hole the day it ran away and had spent the whole period without food and only such rain water as may have trickled in. When found the animal was a living skeleton covered with ticks. It was taken to camp and now is reported to be as fat as ever.

YOUTH WHO KILLED POLICEMAN HANGED

Richard Evans, 19, Confessed, Before Going to Gallows, He Fired Fatal Shot.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Richard Evans, 19 years old, was executed today for the murder of a Chicago policeman. He was hanged at the Cook County jail at 7:10 o'clock.

Before going to the gallows Evans confessed that he and not a drunken companion, as he had steadfastly maintained, shot and killed Patrolman Edward Finnegan last March after the officer arrested the two for speeding.

Frantic eleventh-hour efforts were made to stay the hanging, as it was stayed a week ago to permit review by the Supreme Court. The court refused to intervene. The city was searched without success for a Judge who would issue a stay writ on an insanity petition and efforts to reach Gov. Small failed.

Evans remained composed during the final hours before the death march, devoting the later hours in the death cell to writing notes, one to the mother who, with his father, mortgaged a home to obtain defense funds. He walked unaided to the gallons, outwardly calm, and his only statement was, "I will have paid my debt to God and society."

Besides admitting killing Finnegan, Evans also told police that he and Otto Hacker had committed 10 robberies before the murder occurred. Evans first came to the attention of police at the age of 13, when he was sentenced to a reformatory. He had been paroled seven months before the officer was killed.

RUMANIAN QUEEN'S VISIT GOT POLICEMAN IN DUTCH

Washington Cop Fined $75 for Taking Glass of Wine at Legation Party.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The Police Board has fined Patrolman Lafone Starkweather $75 for accepting a glass of wine at the Rumanian legation while he was assigned to guard Queen Marie the evening of her arrival here. The wine not only made the officer drunk but also ill. He was found in a daze, sitting on a box in the legation yard. One glass of "good legation stuff," he said, was responsible.

"Oh, it was a pretty wild night at the legation," Lieut. Michael Raedy told the board, adding that he had assigned Starkweather to duty there because he was known to be not a drinking man.

BANKER, 67, ENTERS PRISON

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Oct. 29.—John N. Richardson, 67 years old, president of the defunct American State Bank of Wichita, Kan., which failed for more than $2,000,000, joined the "bankers' colony" in the State Penitentiary in Lansing yesterday, to serve a term of from nine to 45 years.

Because of his advanced age, and physical condition, it is probable Richardson will be given some light task. The banker has been suffering from heart disease. He recently arrived in Wichita from California. Richardson, his wife, several relatives, and Leon Fordyce, Deputy Sheriff, arrived at the prison in a large enclosed motor car from Wichita.

POLICEMAN KILLS ROBBER ATTEMPTING BANK HOLDUP

Although Hit Three Times, Detroit Patrolman Shoots Two Brothers — Third Thief Escapes.

GUARD IN TURRET FIRED ON INTRUDERS

They Fled From Depository and Encountered Officer Who Had Been Called by Children.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Oct. 29.—One bank robber was shot to death and another wounded shortly before noon today by a passing patrolman after an unsuccessful attempt to rob the Bank of Detroit branch at Chopin and Michigan avenues, on the West Side.

Patrolman Frank J. Dombecky, who shot the two robbers, was wounded by their return fire. One robber who had remained at the wheel of their automobile, escaped.

John Skimanski, a jeweler, trimming his store window near the bank was slightly wounded by a stray bullet. All the wounded men are expected to recover.

Opens Fire From Turret.

Two of the robbers, one armed with a sawed-off shotgun, the other with a revolver, entered the bank, training their weapons on John Block, the manager, Charles Davies, teller, and Estelle Zelek, a clerk. At the same moment Albert Coffer, a bank guard, opened fire with a shotgun from a turret at the rear. At the first shot the holdup men turned and fled.

Meanwhile, children of the neighborhood witnessing the attempted robbery called to Patrolman Dombecky who was making an investigation in the neighborhood. Dombecky and his companion, Patrolman William Gadde, reached the front of the bank as the robbers ran from the bank.

Wounded Man Kills Robber.

The robbers opened fire, one of the first shots striking Dombecky in the groin. Leaning against the bank, Dombecky continued firing until struck by two other bullets. Both robbers who had been in the bank went down before the policeman's bullets, one dying instantly. The other was wounded three times in the legs. At receiving hospital he gave his name as Arnold Porter and his age as 18. The dead man was Carl Porter, 34, brother of Arnold.

The contents of a shirt pocket saved Arnold Porter's life. A bullet pierced the pocket directly over his heart and went through a tobacco box, but was halted by a box of cartridges behind the tobacco tin. Two of the cartridges exploded.

The dead robber was shot only once—through the heart. The driver of the robbers' car escaped while the shooting was going on.

Dombecky, in a riot last September, killed a man who had just slain his partner, Patrolman Frank Marcinkowski.

HOUDINI HAS LITTLE CHANCE FOR RECOVERY, DOCTORS SAY

Physicians Expect Crisis in Condition of Magician Within 24 Hours.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Oct. 29.—Harry Houdini has but a slim chance to escape from the illness which has held him hovering near death since he collapsed following a performance of his theatrical offering Sunday night, it became known today.

Houdini is suffering from streptococcus peritonitis, which developed following an operation for appendicitis, performed Monday. Streptococcus peritonitis, physicians said, is a particularly virulent form of poisoning and but few cases are known to the medical profession where persons suffering from it have recovered. The infection in Houdini's case has become general.

Houdini's appendix burst three days before the operation was performed.

The crisis in Houdini's condition will come within the next 24 to 48 hours, it was said. A bulletin issued by the four attending physicians today said Houdini had "a very restless night, with a moderate elevation of pulse and temperature this morning."

GOVERNOR CAN'T SAY WHAT HE'LL DO ABOUT GANGS

Small Hasn't Heard of Williamson County's Latest Outbreak, but He Guesses That He Will.

NO TIME TO LISTEN TO ACCOUNT OF IT

Then, on Stump, Praises Kankakee Candidate for Making Home Town Safe From Lawlessness.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

KANKAKEE, Ill., Oct. 29.—Gov. Len Small of Illinois "hasn't heard" of the newest blood feud in Williamson County in which two men were slain last Monday night and in which two gangs, the Birger and Shelton, are vowing to exterminate one another.

He "doesn't know" that the gangs are cruising his pet hard roads in armored cars, carrying machine guns and rifles, as well as small arms, and are shooting it out wherever they chance to meet.

He "can't say" what he will do, if anything, to restore the security of the decent majority of citizens of Williamson County.

Of course the Governor does know. But he is not ready to take cognizance of the situation until the people of Williamson County implore his aid.

Guesses He'll Be Told About It.

In response to an inquiry whether he would seek to learn about the new menace to law and order in Williamson County, he replied: "I guess if they get to killing people down there, some of the citizens will send me word about it."

Williamson County has had the Governor stumped for a long time. Advisers who accompanied him to a political rally last night, in this, his home city, confessed that the Governor was perplexed. In response to their inquiry as to what he would do, he countered with? "What would you do?" The mention of Williamson County is a dread sound to the Governor's ears.

The correspondent reached the Governor at the conclusion of the political rally in which the cheers of several thousand of his townsmen had thundered in his ears. Speaker after speaker had lauded him—all for his building of the same hard roads over which the Williamson County gangs are dashing.

The Governor's own speech was a plea for victory of his friend, Louis H. Beckman, Mayor of Kankakee, who is now seeking to accompany the Governor to Springfield as a member of the Legislature.

Strong for Safety—in Kankakee.

The Governor's chief recommendation of Beckman was that he had taken up his duties as Mayor at a time when holdup men and other criminals were making the streets of Kankakee unsafe. "And he stoipped all lawlessness," the Governor proclaimed.

"What will you do about the new situation in Williamson County," the Governor was asked by the correspondent.

"I don't know a thing about it" he replied.

"Would you like to hear?" "Haven't time now."

"Will you seek to learn?" "I guess if they get to killing, the people down there will let me know."

"If they should, what will you do?" "I can't say now."

"Birger, one gang leader, says it is war to the death, a war on your hard roads, Governor." "Have you any objection?" the Governor flared.

"Have you, Governor?"

No answer.

Birger is named in a warrant obtained by the Sheltons charging murder two months ago of two Shelton henchmen. The authorities of Williamson County have not yet served the warrant. Instead, Birger boldly steps forth in the role of a sort of Robin Hood, issuing a manifesto assuring his home town of Harrisburg that he will supplant constituted authority in protecting it against the depredations of his enemy gangsters.

Has Power to Use Militia.

The Governor has the power to send militia into any section of the State in which local authorities cannot maintain order or fail to maintain order. He can order martial law, supplant civil courts with military courts and employ whatever drastic methods are necessary to stamp out lawlessness, to rid any community of desperadoes.

Four officers of the Illinois National Guard have been in Williamson County since last Tuesday as "observers." They are acting under orders of the Adjutant-General.

Gov. Small addressed a letter to citizens of Williamson County last July warning them of martial law if they failed to maintain the peace. The occasion of the letter was the withdrawal of the National Guard after it had been on duty in the county for three months at a cost of $300,000 to the State. "If I am compelled at any time to send troops back to your county," the Governor wrote, "I am afraid I will have to establish martial law."

Sheltons Say They're Out Of Williamson County War

the crowd. I told the boys to have no more to do with him, and this made him wild. He had collected more than $3000 from the machines, but said it all went for protection money. I know that he falsified the books, and took all the money.

"That was the cause of the break. His explanation that we turned highway robbers is to relieve him of suspicion, for he is a robber.

Version of Stolen Ring.

"He relates that some of my friends held up a man and that the man had him come to redeem a stolen ring. What actually happened was this: Birger came to us and told us a man in Harrisburg had a ring with two rubies which could not be matched in the world and that he would give a thousand dollars for its return if stolen. He suggested that we stick up this man, and I told him there and then that we might be whisky runners, but we balked at robbery.

"But that did not stop Birger. He was determined to get that man's ring and shake him down for a lot of money. And he did have some of his men rob the man, and he collected $1000 for the return of the ring and paid it as first payment on a Cadillac car that he now drives.

"In passing I might remark that the Cadillac is not the only car Birger has. If the State authorities are interested they will find that Birger has two 'hot' Lincolns, on one of which there is a reward of $1000 for its recovery. ("Hot" in underworld parlance means stolen.)

"Birger accuses us of being ruthless gunmen, but he is only doing that to direct attention away from himself.

Killing of "Whitey" Doering.

"He admits he killed 'Whitey' Doering, the Egan gangster. Doering had gone to him to collect $900, a just debt. He couldn't get it, so he pulled his gat, snapped the trigger twice, but it didn't respond. Birger grabbed a gun and shot him.

"Birger was in partnership with another man in the Halfway Garage in Williamson County and shot his partner in cold blood so he could take his partner's interest in the business to himself.

"Birger also killed Willie Holland, a young miner, the main support of his widowed mother and sister and boasted of the deed. Willie was a dear little, mild-mannered chap, 18 years old, who wouldn't have offended anyone. He was so mild that we called him 'Wild Bill.'

"One day Birger shot him in the face and killed him. He gave no reason, except that he distrusted Willie. This awful crime shocked us all, it was so ruthless and uncalled for.

Ambush in East St. Louis.

"Three weeks ago, just about the time I became ill, Birger and another of his cut-throat outfit came to St. Louis with a notorious woman of Williamson County to trap my brother, Carl. They had the woman register at the Weiss Hotel in East St. Louis and telephone my brother to come and see her. He suspected an ambush and did not go. We later learned that Birger and his fellow assassin were planted a short distance away, across the railroad tracks, with rifles ready to shoot if my brother entered the hotel.

"It makes me laugh to see Birger now holding himself up as a hero and brave man. He wants Williamson County to think he is going to clean up things for them, and he is trying to make it appear that my brothers and I have been threatening him, when, as a matter of fact, we haven't molested him. I am here ill, Bernie is ill at Hot Springs and Carl has been dividing his time between us.

"Birger is just the kind who would like to walk into this sickroom and shoot me full of holes as I lay helpless in bed. I'd hate like hell to be killed in bed, but he would look upon this as an ideal situation. I know, and can prove it, that he is now seeking to learn my whereabouts so he can send an assassin to finish me.

"If there was a serious attempt at real law enforcement in Williamson County Birger would be dangling at the end of a rope. I would expect to be arrested if I openly boasted, as he did to a Post-Dispatch reporter, that I went about shooting up places where I thought my enemies might be concealed. Birger knew we were not in that house. He wouldn't have gone near it if we had been there.

Sheltons Are Sheriff's Deputies.

"Williamson County need not fear any reprisals from the Shelton Brothers and should take Birger's tale as so much hot air. We are not going back to Williamson. There is too much shooting around there, and we invariably get the blame for all of it.

"Birger can have the war all to himself.

"Our association with him virtually ended in our war on the Ku Klux Klan in Herrin and Williamson County. In the fight at Smith's garage at Herrin a couple of years ago, when we burnt up the kluckers, my brother and I stood side by side with Sheriff Galligan. We all still are deputy sheriffs of Williamson County, my brothers and I, and we were with the Sheriff for law enforcement against the kluckers.

"In an election day fight in Herrin, when six men were killed, Birger was present, fired a few shots and ran away, even before the thing warmed up.

"He was with us in the fight at the hospital in Herrin. That was another great day for him, because it gave him an opportunity to shoot into a hospital. He emptied his rifle into it several times and when shots began coming our way he beat it.

"He was a good fighter against the kluckers when we were with him, but he never stood alone and he never will. The only shooting my brothers and I ever engaged in was against lawless Ku Kluxers who tried to tell us where to get off. I never hurt anyone who did not molest me and neither have my brothers, except a few nonunion men who took strikers' jobs. I have given some of those fellows fist whippings, but that's all. I never used a pistol on them."

No Fear of Being Killed.

Shelton was asked if he and his brothers left Williamson County through fear of being killed.

"Not at all," he replied. "When our time comes, we've got to go, and that goes for everyone. Coming to East St. Louis to live will not give us more years. We decided to leave there long before Birger began frothing at the mouth, because we felt that the kluckers had been cleaned out and there was nothing left for us, especially when we were blamed for the acts of Birger and his kind.

"I hope this statement will show the people that we are not in Williamson County committing the crimes that Birger speaks of, and that they need not expect any trouble from us."

As to Gang Now Fighting Birger.

The reporter reminded Earl Shelton that two of Birger's men, Ward Jones and "High-Pockets" McQuay, were assassinated down there last Monday night, and that Birger had laid that to the Shelton gang and sworn vengeance against the Shelton brothers. This gang had its rendezvous in a roadhouse at West City, in Franklin County, until yesterday, when Sheriff Dorris and State's Attorney Martin went there and ordered a dozen armed men found there to leave the county immediately. The gunmen immediately drove in automobiles in the direction of Williamson County, which is just where Birger says he wants to meet them on the highways.

"We don't know who killed Jones and McQuade," said Shelton. "As I have told you, we have been here in East St. Louis for a month. We have friends in Williamson County, commonly called our gang, but we do not know if they had any connection with these killings. Our so-called gang consisted of friends, all natives of Williamson County, who took common cause with us in our fight against the Ku Klux Klan. We were not robbers nor gunmen, but we never ran away from trouble. We do not know whether any of our friends are in the fight against Birger, but if they are they will take care of themselves. We are out of it."

INFORMER AGAINST MEMPHIS BOOTLEGGERS FOUND SLAIN

Information of Former Still Tender Led to Several Raids by Dry Agents.

By the Associated Press.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 29.—Police and Federal authorities continued to search today for a clew to the identity of the slayer of Joe Hays, 30 years old, whose body was found yesterday on a sandbar near an island in the Mississippi River, his head battered and his chest pierced by a bullet. "Bootleggers murdered him and threw his body in the river," Jack Davis, prohibition agent declared. "Joe had lots of enemies."

Hays once worked for a bootlegger, tending a still. Several months ago, he appeared at the offices of the Federal Prohibition Bureau here and announced he would give information against bootleggers. His information resulted in a number of raids. The informer's limbs were wrapped in barbed wire when his body was found and officials believed his slayers had attached weights to his body and had thrown it into the river after killing him. Ten men, including several bootleggers, have been questioned, but no definite clews were obtained.

ORMISTON'S TRUNK REPORTED HELD IN M'PHERSON CASE

Seized in New York—Los Angeles Prosecutor Says It Contains Documentary Evidence.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—Although the hearing of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, Evangelist of Angelus Temple, on a charge of criminal conspiracy, ended yesterday, interest in the case continues, centering on a trunk, said to be the property of Kenneth G. Ormiston, the fugitive co-defendant who formerly was radio operator at the Evangelist's temple.

The trunk, seized recently in New York by agents of the District Attorney, is said to contain articles of women's wearing apparel bearing labels indicating they had been purchased in Los Angeles. It was found at a New York hotel after having been traced across the continent at the instance of District Attorney Keyes, who says it contains "important documentary evidence" tending to bear out his charge that Mrs. McPherson spent 10 days living with Ormiston in a cottage at Carmel, Cal., instead of being the captive of kidnapers in the Mexican desert, as she alleges.

The taking of evidence having ended yesterday, the Evangelist now awaits the decision of Municipal Judge Samuel Blake, who will announce next week whether she must stand a trial for bringing her kidnaping story, alleged to be false, before a grand jury.

The preliminary hearing closed yesterday, after 31 days, when the defense completed its case. Judge Blake announced he would give a decision next Wednesday.

Mrs. McPherson today denied that any gowns and woman's wearing apparel found in the trunk in New York belonged to her. She characterized as "ridiculous" any intimations that the apparel was hers. Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, her mother, seconded Mrs. McPherson's denial.

JURY ACQUITS NEGRO ACCUSED OF STABBING CITY DETECTIVE

Colored Man's Version of Affray Accepted Against Testimony of Several State's Witnesses.

A jury accepted the testimony of Eugene Madison, 21, a Negro, against the testimony of several State's witnesses in Circuit Judge Ossing's court yesterday, and, after three hours' deliberation, acquitted him of assault with intent to kill in the stabbing of City Detective Lee Farrow, June 7 last.

Madison said that Farrow stopped him on the Free Bridge and, after knocking him down, fired three shots at him. Madison said he then was obliged to draw a knife and protect himself.

Farrow and other witnesses testified, however, that when he stopped Madison for questioning, the Negro knocked him down. Madison then drew a knife, according to State's testimony, and stabbed Farrow, whereupon Farrow drew his revolver and shot the Negro.

NO TONGUE FOUND WHEN MRS. MILLS' BODY IS DUG UP

May Have Been Cut Out or Disintegrated Since the Murder of Woman and the Rev. Dr. Hall.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The body of Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, remarkably well preserved after four years, was taken from its coffin yesterday afternoon and a second official autopsy was made by Dr. Otto H. Schultze of New York, medical expert retained for that purpose by State Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor in the Hall-Mills case. Dr. Schultze will make his official report to Simpson.

Dr. Schultze said Mrs. Mills' tongue was missing.

"The tongue may have been cut out," he said, "but I will have to make an analysis before I can say just what happened. If the tongue was cut it was done separately and independently of the cutting of the throat. Of course, the tongue may have disintegrated."

Simpson said a report from a Jersey City lawyer who was attorney for a relative of Felix di Martini, that Mrs. Mills' tongue had been cut out was one of his chief reasons he gave for ordering the autopsy. Di Martini is a private detective who was employed by counsel for Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall four years ago, when her husband, the Rev. Edward W. Hall, and Mrs. Mills were found murdered.

Autopsy Reports Differ.

Before the autopsy James Mills, husband of the murdered woman, was required as a legal formality to identify his wife's body.

The report of the first autopsy told of a wound in Mrs. Mills' upper lip and inferred it had been caused by a fourth bullet. Dr. E. I. Cronk, who was present at the autopsy and took notes, advanced the theory that the wound had been caused by the bullet which went through Dr. Hall's head.

Dr. Schultze said the wound was a puncture, not by a bullet, but "by some instrument—what kind it is hard to say."

He said the head had been severed except for one ligament in the back. The report that her throat had been cut, which persisted in spite of the failure of any of the officials who made the first hasty examinations to make any mention of it, led to the first exhumation and autopsy four years ago.

Mrs. Mills' body was reburied this morning.

Steps to re-exhume Hall's body in Brooklyn are being taken in co-operation with the office of District Attorney Banton, Manhattan.

Simpson announced he had ordered subpenas for every member of the choir of Dr. Hall's church at the time Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were alive to appear at the trial.

Simpson explained his visit to Philadelphia yesterday. He said that early in the present investigation he had received an anonymous letter from a man who not only described in detail everything that Mrs. Jane Gibson, the "pig woman" said she had seen on the night of the murder, but gave many additional details of the murder scene, including a description of how Mrs. Mills' throat had been cut, and the bodies were laid out.

The Philadelphia police told him they had found a man who knew the writer of the letter, and it was in hope of seeing this man that Simpson went to Philadelphia.

There was also a report last night which purported to come from the State's investigators that a witness had been found upon whom Ralph V. M. Gorsline, vestryman of Dr. Hall's church, had turned his automobile headlights the night of the murder when Gorsline and Miss Catherine Rastall were in De Russy's Lane.

MAYOR CALLED ON SHELTONS TO SAVE HIM FROM BIRGER

Joe Adams of West City, Ill., Says He Enlisted Aid of One Gang When Threatened by the Other.

SHERIFF ORDERS GUNMEN TO LEAVE

Franklin County Clear and Night Passes Uneventfully on Battlefront in Williamson.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

MARION, Ill., Oct. 29.—A new name, that of Mayor Joe Adams of West City, in Franklin County, today entered the gang war which until then had been confined to Williamson County, except for one divertissement, a Monday night murder of Saline County, just east of here.

Mayor Adams, it developed, had appealed to the Shelton Brothers, heads, or former heads, of one of the contending factions, for protection from Charles Birger, leader of the other gang, who, Adams declared, had theratened to kill him. The Shelton gang, glad, perhaps, to get a new seat in the theater of war, had answered Adams' request for protection by detailing an armed guard of eight or 10 men to his home.

Town Strategically Situated.

West City is a town of 553 inhabitants on the edge of Benton, the county-seat of Franklin County. It is 20 miles north of Marion and about the same distance northeast of Herrin.

Almost at the junction of highways which lead west to Duquoin and St. Louis and south to the Williamson County war zone, it is an ideal place for a permanent base of gang operations. But if the Shelton crowd expected to utilize it as such, their plans were spoiled yesterday afternoon when Sheriff Henry Dorris and State's Attorney Roy C. Martin went to Adams and told him he had better send his bodyguard away.

Adams agreed on condition that the county afford him some other protection against possible attack by the Birger faction, and Dorris promised to assign two deputies to guard his house. The gangsters left Adams' home at once and at nightfall two of Dorris' deputies, armed with automatics and elephant guns—.401 caliber express rifles—mounted guard.

Meantime Adams had related to the correspondent the story of his dispute with Birger.

Adams Discusses Situation.

Adams discussed the situation calmly enough in the front yard of his neat little home on the highway through West City. It is a rambling brown bungalow set in a wide lawn bordered by scrlet sage flowers, as peaceful a place, outwardly, as might be found in any small town, but one from which armed men have peered through darkened windows for many nights past.

The Mayor himself is a huge man above medium height. With a massive frame heavily covered with flesh and muscle, he weighs 00 pounds, but he moves as easily and quickly as a much lighter man. He is about 40 years old.

"I don't know just why Charley Birger dislikes me," he began. "I have never been a gunman here or in Williamson County. The Shelton boys, it is true, are my friends, but that is no reason why Birger should declare war on me.

"But he did all the same. It was just a week ago last Monday, while I was standing at the front gate of my brother Gus' yard next door, that Birger drove up to the curb in an automobile. There were other men with him and more in a car which followed.

Didn't Dare Swap Shots.

"I had my pistol in my belt, for I had heard already that he was after me, but I wouldn't have had a chance against that crowd. My e was in my car around on the side of the house and I did not dare to swap shots with them.

"Birger had a Thompson submachine gun in his hands as he talked to me. 'Adams,' he said, sing me, 'we are going to kill you,' and he began to talk about a lot of things I had done to make him mad. I didn't say much; just looked at him. I would have liked to go into the house but I didn't dare to turn my back. After a while he shut up and they all drove away."

Adams declared that that episode convinced him his life was in danger. He immediately got in touch with the authorities of his county, he said, and when they failed to promise him protection, he appealed to the Shelton crowd.

"I know as well as anybody," Adams continued, "that no good can come from mob rule. The law should be enforced by the regularly elected officials, out when they fail what is a citizen to do? the Sheltons were able to ed me from sure death and I d on them.

"I figured that this was my . I've always lived here. I'm starting as an automobile dealer and I didn't intend to leave. My home is modern and comfortable and I decided that I might be carried out of it, but I wouldn't walk out."

So it was that gunmen, night after night, guarded the Adams home. His wife and two children, a girl of 13 and a boy of 11, were sent away to a relative, and the neatly kept home became the camp of an armed guard.

Gunmen in Brother's Home.

Some of them, too, were quartered in the home of Adams' brother. Even yesterday, when the correspondent visited the latter house, a man with an automatic came to the door, and several others came out into the yard from time to time.

But last night the armed men had gone and West City and the adjoining city of Benton breathed more easily.

During yesterday afternoon Sheriff Dorris and State's Attorney Martin visited Herrin and there told the story of the gunmen's departure to the four National Guard officers detailed here, Lieutenant-Colonel Robert W. Davis, Maj. M. J. McKackin, Maj. Kenneth Buchanan and Capt. Robert L. Shontz.

Col. Davis explained to them that the militia officers were detailed here by the Adjutant-General only as observers and could take no definite action against the gunmen, even if they had come down to Williamson County, as the two Franklin County officers believed they had.

Birger Remains at Shady Rest.

Birger remained last night at his roadhouse, "Shady Rest," 10 miles east of Marion. Even the burning of the four buildings in one of his roadhouses south of West Frankfort yesterday morning and the machine-gunning of the outbuildings there failed to shake him into action.

That shooting has been attributed to the Shelton gangsters as the only ones who would have sufficient motive.

Franklin County deputies declared, however, that if it was the work of Shelton men, it was done by a contingent entirely separate from the one on guard at the Adams home. The men there were watched by deputies during the night and early morning and they remained during that time within the Adams house.

Birger remains defiant, reiterating that his men are out to "get" the Sheltonites.

Both factions continue to reassure the residents here that they are in no danger.

"The public," said Birger, "need not be afraid of anyone being injured passing my place of business on the State highway, or of being fired on on the road by any of my men. We know exactly whom we are after, and no one else will be bothered."

TELLS OF FIVE WOMEN AT HOME OF DOCTOR

Housekeeper's Deposition Taken in Mrs. Maude Whitley's Suit for Divorce.

A deposition was taken today in the suit for divorce filed last month by Mrs. Maude Hattie Whitley against Dr. James Cooper Whitley, a physician, of 2600 Gurney Court. Gilbert L. Whitley, former Central High School football star, appeared as associate counsel for his mother.

Mrs. Alice Musconi, 48 years old, housekeeper for Dr. Whitley for the last 10 months, was asked by the plaintiff's chief counsel, former Supreme Judge Charles G. Revelle, how many women had stayed overnight at the Gurney Court house in that period. She named five, and explained all were out-of-town patients, in moderate circumstances, who came to St. Louis for extended medical treatment by Dr. Whitley and were permitted by him to occupy a spare room in the house to save hotel expenses.

Asked how she knew they were patients, the witness said she had seen them taking medicine. The patients were described as "Mildred ——," "two ladies from Texas," "little Mrs. ——," and "Miss ——."

Saw Them Take Medicine.

Describing a scene one night when Mrs. Whitley and her son, Gilbert, paid an unannounced visit to the house and found Dr. Whitley and a young woman patient in his room, the witness said Dr. Whitley had discovered his hunting rifle was missing and, suspecting a burglar was in the house, had aroused his housekeeper and his patient, who were in other rooms. He and his patient were exploring the house together, the witness said, when his wife and son paid their unexpected visit.

"Did you ever see anything unconventional or improper in the house?" asked Thomas L. Anderson, attorney for Dr. Whitley.

"Never," the witness replied.

Small Ranchers to Discuss Problems With Rumanian Ruler as She Crosses North Dakota.

By the Associated Press.

ON BOARD QUEEN MARIE'S SPECIAL TRAIN, ON THE WAY TO WINNIPEG, Oct. 29.—Queen Marie of Rumania celebrated her fifty-first birthday today on her special train, bound from Ottawa to Winnipeg, in restful association with her children, Princess Ileana and Prince Nicholas. The train is due in Winnipeg tomorrow night.

The Queen says she expects to help the farmers of her country by transmitting to them information which she will glean next week in informal chats with the ranchers of North Dakota. She also expects personally to participate in a real American rodeo.

For short periods, beginning next Monday, she will have as guests on board her train farmers of North Dakota and their wives.

Farmers to Be Her Guests.

The visits will begin at Fargo, N. D., Monday. Two farmer couples will be the Queen's guests until the next stop, Valley City. There they will get off and return to their homes and two other couples will take their places. The change of guests will occur at almost hourly intervals until the train arrives at Medora.

There the train wil lstop for one hour and 40 minutes while the Queen and her children on horseback join personally in a round-up. The Queen desires every cattle rancher within 100 miles of Medora to attend the rodeo and tell her what can be done for Rumania's cattle industry. The Queen's farmer guests are to be selected from among those who cultivate not more than 160 acres. The Queen will seek information also concerning co-operative marketing associations.

The next day at Helena and Missoula, Mont., cattlemen will be the Queen's guests.

Princess to Play Tennis.

When the rtain reaches Minneapolis Sunday Prince Nicholas and Princess Ileana will depart from the formal program and have a little fun of their own. The Prince will make a study of the city's flour mills and Ilena will play tennis on a public playground.

The royal party had a busy day in Ottawa from 11 o'clock in the morning until midnight.

The Queen visited the Halls of Parliament. There the Queen was seated on a throne, though she had whispered to Mrs. H. S. Thorbun, president of the Ottawa Women's Canadian Club, "Don't treat me as a Queen—just as a woman; for I want to be a woman among the women of Canada."

After a dinner at Government House, the Governor-General escorted Marie to the station.

Queen Marie today received the following birthday message from King Ferdinand:

"Send you loving birthday wishes and greetings from Sinai (Royal Palace), which is white with snow. Have had some days of real perfect rest. Feeling so well that I am going downtown on Sunday. We are all extremely interested in the news from your journey and I am utterly pleased at your success. I hope your cold has gone. Don't overtire yourself. Fondest love from all."

At Capreol, 200 school children were greeted by the Queen from the rear platform.

VIENNA, Oct. 29.—The Rumanian press is furious because of the alleged efforts of the Russian soviets through their news agency to ruin Queen Marie's American trip by printing scandalous accounts of the doings of the Bucharest court and circulating reports that King Ferdinand is recalling the Queen because of displeasure over American and European press sentiment, or because of his health.

EARTHQUAKE SHAKES MANILA

By the Associated Press.

MANILA, Oct. 29.—The earthquake which shook Manila early today apparently covered a wide area in the Philippines, being felt over practically the entire island of Luzon. The temblor centered about 200 miles north of here.

Many persons in the city were frightened by the heavy shock, scores leaving buildings. One member of the Municipal Council jumped out of a window in the city hall. No damage has been reported.

TWO EX-EMPLOYES SHORT $2000 AT SUNSET HILL CLUB

Officer Says Indication Is That Men Lost the Money on the Horse Races at Fairmount.

A shortage of more than $2000 in the accounts of two male employes of the Sunset Hill Country Club has been disclosed by an audit. The men have not been at the club for several months. Both were bonded, so the club will lose nothing.

Suspicion first was created when members began to receive notices that they were delinquent in payment of debts to the club. Many of them indignantly replied that they were not delinquent and produced canceled checks which they had sent in payment of the bills for which they were being posted.

Thereupon, club officers brought in an auditor who painstakingly traced every bill appearing on the books as unpaid. The audit, although not completed, has established the discrepancies.

It is understood that one of the employes has begun to make restitution to the bonding company.

An officer of the club said today that there was indication that the employes had lost the money they took from the club on the horse races at Fairmount track.

PUBLISHER BREWSTER GETS MEXICAN DIVORCE AND WEDS

Marries Movie Protege from Whom Wife Was Awarded Alienation Damages.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29. — Eugene V. Brewster, millionaire publisher of motion picture magazines, married Corliss Palmer, his movie protege, in Ensenada, Mexico, last Wednesday afternoon, according to reports here today following Brewster's return to the film colony. The publisher several weeks ago sought a divorce in Mexico, as his wife is said to have blocked his efforts to obtain a decree in the United States.

As soon as Brewster learned Tuesday afternoon that he had been granted the Mexican divorce, he was said to have left Hollywood with Miss Palmer. Arriving in Ensenada, Brewster persuaded the Mayor to overlook a clause requiring a 14-day interval between the granting of a divorce and a subsequent marriage.

There was some speculation here today as to final disposition of the $200,000 alienation of affections judgment against Miss Palmer, which Mrs. Brewster won in New York. The publisher's wife sometime ago brought a suit in local courts in an effort to collect this judgment.

Found Dead in Vacant Lot in Chicago.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Apparently strangled to death by robbers, the body of a well-dressed man about 50 years old was found in a vacant lot today. The pockets of the clothing had been turned inside out and there were no marks of identification. The only indication of violence were the discoloration of the throat and a gash across the left eye.

PROF. W. J. HUSSEY, NOTED ASTRONOMER, DIES IN LONDON

Director of Michigan U. Observatory Expires at Dinner at Home of Friend.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 9.2—Prof. William J. Hussey, noted astronomer and director of the observatory at the University of Michigan, died suddenly at dinner last night.

Prof. Hussey addressed the Astronomy Club yesterday afternoon. Upon returning to his room he was taken ill but decided to keep a dinner engagement with friends notwithstanding. During the meal he suddenly fell from his chair and died before a doctor could arrive.

Prof. Hussey, who was en route to Bloemfontein, South Africa to establish a university observatory station there, arrived in England with his wife on Oct. 23.

At the inquest today, Mrs. Hussey told the Coroner that her husband had had an attack of pleurisy before leaving the United States. The examining physicians testified that death was due to a hemorrhage through the rupture of an aneurism of the left ventricle of the heart. The Coroner returned a verdict stating that death was due to natural causes.

Prof. Hussey's death occurred at the Kensington home of Deane Prescott Mitchell, one of his former pupils. Dinner had just begun and Prof. Hussey was speaking when he suddenly collapsed.

PASSENGER STEAMER AGROUND

Stuck at Port Eads, La., but Appears in No Danger.

By the Associated Press.

PORT EADS, La., Oct. 29.—The passenger liner Creole went aground on West Jetty at South Pass today. Pilots said that the ship and passengers appeared to be in no danger, although the vessel seemed to be stuck so fast as to require tugs being sent to pull her off.

The Creole carries a crew of 140 men and is 407 feet in length with a gross tonnage of 6362 tons and was built at Quincy, Mass., in 1907. The liner is operated between New York and New Orleans.

Rogers Finds Stills on His Ranch.

By the Associated Press.

COFFEYVILLE, Kan., Oct. 29.—Will Rogers, cowboy comedian, declared today that someone had been "fudging" on him when he found two moonshine stills on his ranch near Oolagah, Ok., when on an inspection tour. The stills were destroyed. "I'll summon the investigating committee," the cowboy said. "This is one department of the business that has not produced any revenue." The Rogers ranch contains 1000 acres and is the old homestead of the comedian's father, the late Clem Rogers, after whom Rogers County, Ok., was named.

Fewer Auto Deaths in Missouri.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 29.—There were 56 deaths in automobile accidents in Missouri in September, a decrease of 22 compared with 78 in August, the monthly report compiled by the State Highway Department shows. There were 561 persons injured in September and 737 in August.

ASSAILANT BEATEN BY GIRL'S MOTHER

Peter Chiodini, 18, Captured After Attempting to Drag Student Into Alley.

As Miss Geraldine Pearson, 17 years old, of 3125 Maury avenue, a Roosevelt High School pupil, walked south from Arsenal street toward her home at 9 o'clock last night, she was grabbed by a youth who got out of a parked automobile. She screamed as he tried to drag her into an alley. He knocked off her hat and ran east in the alley.

Mrs. Mattie Pearson, mother of the girl, came from her home and waited at the car. As the youth came out of the alley to it, she pummeled him severely. He ran once more into the alley. Mrs. Pearson and a neighbor, Lorenz Roeder, waited and as the youth again approached his car, they caught him and held him until police arrived.

The prisoner said he was Peter Chiodini, 18, of 5420 Columbia avenue. He was identified by Miss Pearson as her assailant, and a warrant will be sought.

"I didn't hurt her," was his only statement.

MUNITIONS DEPOT IN NEVADA

Reservation of 100,000 Acres Announced by Interior Department.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Reservation of 100,000 acres in Mineral County, Nev., for a naval ammunition depot was announced today at the Interior Department.

President Coolidge has issued an executive order withholding the land from settlement.

The depot site is south of Walker Lake, near Hawthorne. It was chosen after an inspection by navy engineers, who took into account its isolation from any thickly settled community which might suffer from such an explosion as that which wrecked the army's Lake Denmark reservation in New Jersey last summer. There is no town within 10 miles. Another factor in the selection was the remoteness of the tract from danger of attack in wartime. Navy plans for developing the reservation are not yet complete, and it was indicated today that the President's action did not contemplate immediate construction of a depot.

Chinese Bandits Release Bishop.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—A Reuter's dispatch from Pekin says that it was reported there today that Bishop T. A. Scott of the Church of England Mission, who was captured by bandits yesterday in Shantung, has been released. Bishop Scott, who was appointed to the diocese of Shantung as Bishop in 1921, was proceeding from his headquarters for a survey of the diocese when he was set upon by outlaws near Wulaihsien and carried off.

Her Skull Is Fractured by Auto — Driver of Car Is Arrested.

David Morris, 13 years old, of 5749 Elward avenue, made an unsuccessful attempt to drag his playmate, Genevieve Hennessey, 8 years old, of 5748 Elward avenue, from the path of an automobile at 7 p. m. yesterday and was slightly injured himself. The girl's skull was fractured and she was cut and bruised.

The two children were playing at Natural Bridge and Darby avenues when David saw an automobile bearing down on Genevieve. He ran into the street in an effort to drag her to safety. However, the automobile struck her and sideswiped David. The driver, Albert Brown, a Negro, of Kinloch Park, St. Louis County, was arrested.

John Wuest, 31, of 5905 Leona avenue, suffered a fracture of the left leg and several fractured ribs, at 11:10 p. m., when struck by an automobile as he was crossing Bates street at Maze court. The driver of the machine, a Chevrolet roadster, did not stop.

Miss Lena Bauer, 30 years old, of 744 Walton avenue, suffered fracture of the skull and possibly a fracture of the spine when she was struck by an automobile as she was crossing Locust street, east of Broadway, at 6:30 p. m. An automobile driven by Wilburn Schulse, 17, of 6252 Gravois avenue, struck Clarence Laswell, 69, of 2102 Lafayette avenue, as he was crossing Lafayette at Missouri avenue, at 7:45 p. m. Laswell suffered internal injuries and a possible fracture of the spine. Schulze was arrested.

Three other persons suffered fractured skulls when struck by automobiles last night.

Faulty steering apparatus caused an automobile to crash into a Grand boulevard street car in front of 3108 North Grand, at 12:10 a. m. today. Leonard Hogan, 18 years old, of 1802 North Leffingwell avenue, and Vonnie Kasher, 20 years old, of 2403 Elliott avenue, who were in the automobile, suffered fractured skulls.

World Trade Club Hears Dr. Dye.

Dr. Alexander V. Dye, until recently an attache of the United States Department of Commerce in Mexico, speaking yesterday at a luncheon meeting of the World Trade Club at the Chamber of Commerce, attributed the economic depression in Mexico to the boycott on goods by Mexican Catholics, to the warfare between Federal troops and rebellious Yaqui Indians, to floods which have ruined crops and impeded railroad traffic, to a drop in the market price of silver and to a decrease in petroleum production.

NURSES' CONVENTION SPEAKER DESCRIBES GROWTH OF BABY

What a mother can expect in the way of performance from a growing baby was outlined briefly by Dr. Hugh McCulloch, assistant dean of the Washington University School of Medicine, before the Missouri State nurses' convention at Hotel Chase yesterday.

"At three months the baby should be able to hold up his own head," he said. "At six months he is usually able to turn over by himself, and at nine months he should sit up. At the end of a year the child should stand up and move about in its crib; at 15 months it should walk without assistant; and at 18 it should be able to run and toddle without assistance."

Two important things to watch, he said, are the increase in height and the chest circumference.

Mrs. Henry Alter, mother of the girl, was asked if there was any objection to the wedding on the part of her family.

"Well, why should there be?" she replied. "Dr. Corwith is a very well-to-do man and we aren't in the best of circumstances."

Asked about the annonucement that Viola is 18 years old, after she had a sixteenth birthday party less than a month ago, she replied cryptically: "Oh, you know how girls are."

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—The steam schooner, Everett, which caught fire early yesterday off Punta Gorda, 180 miles north of San Francisco, was abandoned last night as a total loss, just outside Eureka harbor.

REED FASHIONS NEW PHRASES TO DESCRIBE HYDE

Senator Refers to Former Governor as Blatherskite and Steam Whistle of Fertilizer Factory.

ADDRESSES TWO WARD MEETINGS

Williams Assailed as "Coward in Office, the Most Contemptible Thing in Public Life."

Senator James A. Reed last night spoke to the men and women who, he said, elected him to the Senate in 1922. He found them in two packed Turner halls, at Thirteenth and Arsenal and at Twentieth and Salisbury streets.

He gave them all he had. Now rasping, now hissing, now affecting solemnity, he excoriated Arthur M. Hyde and voiced his contempt for Senator Williams. And the audiences, particularly the South Side one, which got the first and longer speech, were delighted. They responded with enthusiasm to Reed's request that they do him one more favor—by electing Harry B. Hawes to the Senate and the Democratic nominees to the House. He promised that they would help to change the "drastic and brutal features" of the Volstead law, without violating the Constitution, Senator Williams' opinion to the contrary notwithstanding.

"You may not get all you want," he said, "but you can wipe out those parts of the law. George Williams knows it, and Harry Hawes is going to help do it." Reed added, on his own account, and not as committing the others, that he wanted the Eighteenth Amendment wiped out, a sentiment which was loudly cheered.

New Terms for Hyde.

"What kind of a campaign is this, anyway?" Reed asked in both his speeches. To keep it from being a dull one, he bestowed some new terms of opprobrium upon former Gov. Hyde, who, in a speech the night before, had portrayed Reed as "a hell-raiser" and an inciter of disobedience to law.

"This in-fin-ite blatherskite!" Reed drawled in one of his allusions to Hyde. "An intellectual and moral white swelling" he termed the former Governor a few minutes later. "The steam whistle of a fertilizer factory" was another attempt to express his view of Hyde.

For Williams there were less intense but more frequent utterances of scorn. Describing various sorts of torture and outrage, Reed repeatedly said, "And George would take a referendum to find out what he thought about that." "A coward in office, the most contemptible thing in public life," was his introduction to a discussion of Williams' position.

Accompanied by Busches.

Concordia Turner Hall, on Arsenal street, where Reed spoke first, is in the heart of the South Side brewery district. August A. Busch, head of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., with his two sons, Adolphus III and August Jr.; Eberhard and Fred Anheuser and other officials of the Busch organization sat on the platform, and several of them accompanied Reed later to his north side meeting.

In more detail than in his previous speeches, Reed attacked Hyde for having mentioned, in the keynote speech at the Republican State convention at Jefferson City, the fact that Hawes escorted Mrs. Adolphus Busch, widow of the founder of the Busch corporation, home from Europe during the war. Hyde's utterance was a question whether the Democratic nominee "received a $100,000 fee for bringing an estimable lady home from Germany." Hawes brought Mrs. Busch here from Switzerland, through France and spain, after others had assisted her in leaving Germany.

"The Republican convention," Reed said, "picked its biggest man to make that keynote speech—to sound the bugle that was to call them to arms, to point to the star by which they were to steer. That man was Arthur Hyde. And he proceeded, not amid the hisses of the convention, but amid its thunderous applause, to make an utterance which to this day they have not repudiated. Williams says he was joking, but he has been repeating the joke all over the State.

"I know why that utterance was made. I'm going to talk about it without gloves." And Reed, who had already removed his coat and vest, talked about the many racial stocks which made up this country and which fought its battles, including the Germans.

"When the war came in which Germany was on one side, and most of the rest of the world was on the other side," Reed said, "there were many people of German birth or extraction living in this city and State. A storm of passion was sweeping through the land. But when the men were called to the colors, they all came.' Yet for a number of months there was a great deal of prejudice. Then the war ended, and people began to say

'That wasn't fair, that wasn't right.' Neighbors began to be neighbors again, and the old feelings were forgotten. Eight years went by.

"And after all that time, in a Republican state convention, the man picked to sound the battle cry raised the ugly standard of hatred for Germans.

"There is no use trying to deny that, unless you assume that Hyde was an absolute idiot; and in that case, those who applauded him were no less idiots.

Play on Prejudice Charged.

"It is the business of keynote speakers to find the weak spot in the enemy's armor and to drive the lance through. So he charged, against Harry Hawes, that he went to Europe and brought back Mrs. Adolphus Busch to this country.

"What's the joke, if it is a joke? Mr. Williams says it was a joke. What was funny about taking a grandmother, now 84 years old, sick and in danger, and helping her get back to the country where she had 52 living descendants?

"It wasn't intended as a joke. It was intended to play on old prejudices. They were trying to say that Harry Hawes was too intimate with the Busch family. And Hyde says he wasn't talking about this good, sweet, noble woman, but about the large fee. I can understand that. If Hyde had to pay any kind of a fee, it would wring his soul. Well, I haven't heard Gussie Busch, or Mrs. Busch, or any of the family, say that Harry Hawes took a cent, and if he did, they gave it willingly.

"Hiss of Serpent of Hate."

"That statement of Hyde's was the hiss of the serpent of hate. He herds with the drys, and you know there are some people so dry that their souls have dried up, and the blood in their veins has turned to poison.

"What was the crime about helping Mrs. Busch? If it had been somebody besides a woman who had married a German, would he even have mentioned the act of helping to get her out of a war-infested country? What is the degree and measure of his hate and malice? In what scales can we weigh such a soul as his? Her crime was, that as a girl, she gave her heart and hand to Adolphus Busch, who was guilty of the villainy of being born in Germany.

"Down through the years they went, and 13 children came to them. Her honored husband died, and later the war came. August—Gussie—and the family bought $3,500,000 worth of Liberty Bonds. But—the father and grandfather were born in Germany."

Tribute to Busch Family.

Senator Reed then described the Busch home in Southern California, and told how, since the war, it has been turned over to an American Legion post, for the benefit of disabled service men. He told of a visit to the place, and described a garden nook where Mrs. Busch had been accustomed to sit, near a marble bust of her husband.

"And now, when the snows of 84 winters are on her brow, and her eyes are looking into the not too distant shadow land, this wretch hisses in this noble woman's ear, as a rattlesnake might hiss, 'Your husband was born in Germany!'"

"What a good thing that the world is not full of such people as Arthur Hyde! Why did God make Hyde? Answer that, and I'll tell you why God made the Devil.

Criticism of Williams.

"And why does a man running for United States Senator put forth a creature like that, ot go up and down this State, still trying to appeal to hatred, to fan smoldering embers of ill will? If I were running for office, and a fellow introduced my campaign in that manner, I'd take him out behind the barn, with no witnesses but the sentinel stars, and we would have settled that question. I wouldn't go around saying that he was joking."

This part of the Concordia Hall speech came after a discourse on prohibition, to which Reed led up, as in his recent Hotel Chase speech, by passages about tyranny, proscription and intolerance, and by comparisons of the prohibition law with suppositious laws against coffee, tobacco, corsets and high-heeled shoes.

It is not impossible, Reed declared, that regulation of habits might extend to the point of forbidding the eating of meat. "Nobody knows," he said, "but Wayne B. Wheeler may get indigestion any day, and if his stomach should get out of order, your freedom to eat what you wish would be in danger. And George Williams wouldn't know what he thought about it until he could take a referendum."

Antisaloon League Denounced.

"We've had a lot of people passing our laws who haven't any more sense than Arthur Hyde," was one of his explanations of prohibition. He told also of the use of propaganda upon Congressmen, and denounced the Antisaloon League.

"It is strange," Reed commented, "that the races which have conquered the Arctic, which have swept under the burning Southern sun, which have gazed into the unknown and won the triumphs of science, which have been the best defenders of their homes upon the battle line, which have covered the earth with temples, cathedrals and schools, have been made up of fellows who accasionally take a glass of beer or some schnapps." There followed the inevitable Lincoln-Grant anecdote, telling of the war President's desire to get some of Grant's brand of whisky to send to all his Generals.

There followed the suggestion that mental and spiritual compulsion might be employed upon people, as well as regulations affecting physical habits. The thumbscrew, rack, gibbet, stake and scaffold, familiar to hearers of Reed's speeches, came into the picture, and the "serpent of persecution" was shown thrusting his forked tongue into human faces.

Referendum Proposal Ridiculed.

"And when that time comes," Reed said, "George will want a referendum. We might trust our Government if it was wisely administered," Reed continued,

REED FASHIONS NEW PHRASES TO DESCRIBE HYDE

"but, my God, we've had Hyde in this State, and we've got Baker now."

After a recital of the testimony of Gen. Andrews as to the great number of stills in the United States, and a discussion of the evil effects of home-brewing upon the minds of children, Reed reverted to Williams and his referendum proposal.

What Senator Williams said, in his KSD radio speech Monday night, was that he desired a referendum to show how Missouri stood on the eighteenth amendment. He added that there was no reasonable prospect of any modification of the Volstead act, and that the question on which he sought a referendum was the amendment, and not the enforcing law. Reed's version of this was:

"George says he doesn't know how he's going to vote until he has a referendum in Missouri. Then he tells you that you can't change the laws anyhow. What is a referendum about, then? What's the use?

Can Amend Dry Law, He Says.

"But you can do it, under the Constitution. You may not get all you want, but you can change the drastic and brutal features of this law. You can wipe them out. George Williams knows it, and Harry Hawes is going to help do it.

"I'm not going to help violate the Constitution. I did what I could to keep the eighteenth amendment from going into the Constitution, and I do not bind Mr. Hawes or anybody but myself when I say that I want to see the eighteenth amendment wiped out of the Constitution.

"Some of you are Republicans. What are you going to do when your party is led by men who have no courage, but say, 'Have a referendum'?

"This part of St. Louis (the South Side) reversed all its previous findings and stood by me by an enormous majority. People have said I was elected by South St. Louis. I am proud of it. I've never had the chance to thank you before, and I'm doing it now, when I'm not running for any office and don't want any."

"Reed for President" Cries.

"Reed for President," several persons cried. "I'm not even thinking about that," the speaker replied. "We are!" came the voices.

The South Side speech, to an audience of nearly 1000, ended shortly before 10 o'clock, and it was 10:25 when Reed reached North St. Louis Turner Hall, on Salisbury street. There a hall of about the same size was filled, and Candidate Hawes and local candidates had all the time they wanted before the Senator's arrival.

In a 45-minute speech, Reed covered in outline much of the ground of his earlier talk, and added further expressions regarding Hyde. He took up the charge that Williams, as a member of the State Constitutional Convention, advocated a constitutioanl provision which would have subjected women to military draft.

Another Thrust at Williams.

This theme was developed in the Reed style, with a statement as to Williams' explanation of the matter, satirically but put and scornfuly dismissed. "Even savages would not put women in the battle line," he declared. "Even animals fight, the male to protect the female. But George says he didn't mean to make them fight, only to make them do nursing and such work. Where does he get that stuff?

"When was it necessary to pass

SCOUTS' EXHIBITS SHOW PROFICIENCY IN USEFUL CRAFTS

Display at Coliseum Includes Bricklaying, Shoemaking and Numerous Other Occupations.

BOYS MAKE FIRES BY RUBBING STICKS

Exposition, Which Will Last Three Days, Attracts 2000 Persons at First Night's Performance.

The second annual merit badge exhibit by the St. Louis Council of the Boy Scouts of America, designed to display the skill and technical knowledge required of Scouts to whom merit badges are awarded, opened last night at the Coliseum to continue for three days. Fifty-four exhibits, each conducted by an individual troop, reveal skill of the boys in various activities from brick-laying and cement work to taxidermy and fine wood carving.

Parents of the Scouts, who comprised most of the attendance of about 2000 at the opening last night, must have been astounded at the number of things that their progeny could do and it would not be surprising to see a marked increase in the Saturday morning and after school activities of the Scouts around their home.

Is the family "flivverss" acting anaemic?

Have little Willie get in touch with Troop 64 of the North Presbyterian Church. Last night they were busy engaged in dismantling an automobile and assembling it after making all needed repairs and adjustments. Or perhaps the kitchen sink is in need of repair. Troop 98 of St. Roch's Parochial School can take care of it easily. Last night they assembled one complete, down to the last pipe and washer.

Pottery and Leather Exhibits.

Another booth which drew a large crowd throughout the evening was the pottery exhibit conducted by Troop 52, where the nimble fingers of the Scouts, aided by a rapidly revolving turn-table, molded lumps of clay into various shaped vessels. Also exhimited were some which had been glazed and colored.

The leather working exhibit contained not only finely designed and executed articles of tooled leather, but later in the evening some members of Troops 65 of Mount Auburn M. E. Church, were seen engaged in the more prosaic and practical art of repairing old shoes.

The reptile exhibit conducted by Troop 103 attracted no little attention with its 65 live specimens, the more innocent of which the willing scouts would pass out for closer examination to any who had the temerity to hande them.

A number of events in a specially constructed arena at the southern end of the building helped entertain those who wished to retire for a time from the press around the booths.

Make Rope of Neckerchiefs.

The scout drum and bugle corps and a hired band furnished music through out the evening. There was also a demonstration of the practical uses of the scout neckerchief, which included its use as a tourniquet, and an apron while on "K. P." duty. A number were tied together to form a rope along which a lithe youth slid from the balcony, which represented a flaming roof, to the arena below.

A rope spinning exhibit participated in by four of five scouts also entertained the assembly. A demonstration of primitive methods of making fires proved of unusual interest.

Clarence H. Howard, president of the St. Louis Council of the Boy Scouts, spoke on the relation of the scouts to the Rotary Club, but few could hear him because of the din arising from the crowds around the booths. The exhibit this year is sponsored by the Rotary Club and a member of the club is assigned to each booth to act as patron.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 29.—Resisting a robber in a roadhouse near Milwaukee, William Strausser, 57 years old, was shot and killed early today. A New Service at Garland's Offers Months in which to Pay

IN response to the demand from many, who found that neither the charge account nor the immediate outlay of cash suited their requirements, we inaugurated this ideal system of deferred paying. The enormous assortments of high quality apparel in this institution, priced on a cash basis, are now available for selection and may be purchased on an "IBP" account.

How Our Industrial Budget Plan Operates

Any purchase, one article or several, will be placed on an "IBP" account. Upon payment of one tenth of the total cash purchase price, together with a small service charge, the merchandise is delivered. Then small payments over a period of months take care of the balance. The service charge is completely dwarfed by the advantage of making selections from the larger assortments here, at the low price level which prevails.

This simple, dignified plan applies, of course, to Fur or Cloth Coats, Dresses and all merchandise we sell . . . and is also effective during special events when irresistible values are offered.

ASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—A de- of 4 per cent in the general of farm prices is reported by Department of Agriculture for month ending Oct. 15. Prices to 130 per cent of the pre- level, from 134 per cent Sept. from 143 a year ago. The index was only 10 points the 1921 level.

which with cottonseed, dropped from 134 to 94 per cent of the pre-war level, now is in about the same relative position of corn, oats and barley during the last year, and apples this fall.

Oats and barley prices advanced in the face of a decline in corn prices. Losses of hogs due to the cholera epidemic were held to be responsible to a large extent for a sharp rise in market prices, but this advance was not accompanied by a similar gain in the farm price as is usually the case. Butter prices advanced slightly but remained lower than a year ago.

The department index of purchasing power of farm products for September was placed at 83 as compared with 88 one year ago, with 100 representing the five-year period, 1909-14.

AMBERT-GRAVES HALLOWE'EN WEEK USED CAR SALE

These Used Car Prices May Startle Some People

"Used Car" is too broad a term. A car that has been driven a day is a "used car." But so is the one ready for the junk pile. Reasoning minds do not let a mere term like "used car" influence their sense of value.

The used cars offered in our Hallowe'en week Used Car Sale are a special lot. We have brought them back to original factory condition. From every practical standpoint, they've been made new—in appearance, in performance, in the life before them. The only important difference is the price.

You'll find some of these cars in our new-car show room. Make a careful examination. Compare them with the spick and span newborns. Drive the one you like. You'll get a new slant on our used car values.

Those who buy these cars will get everything—from every practical point of view—that they could get in a new car. And they'll save from $500 to $2700.

Liberal out-of-income terms.

ADMITS OIL PATENTS POOLING TO AVOID FIGHT IN COURTS

Texas Co. Head Testifies His Firm and Standard Agreed in Infringement Cases.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Ralgh C. Holmes, president of the Texas Co., testifying today in the Government's hearing of its case against 46 oil companies charged with pooling gasoline cracking process patents, said his company and the Standard Oil Co., of Indiana, pooled their patent processes to avoid litigation.

After the Texas Co. found that it had infringed upon patent rights of the Indiana Co., and vice versa, he said, the two concerns mutually agreed to pool their patents so that each company could license the other's patents and share royalties from them. When similar infringement was found to exist between these two companies and the Standard Oil Co., of New Jersey, and the Gasoline Products Co., the agreement was extended to include these companies, Holmes said.

The Government contends that the pooling of the patents was in violation of the anti-trust laws.

MISSOURI NOMINEE DIES, TAKES POISON BY MISTAKE

J. H. Covert of Houston, Mo., on Republican Ticket for Congress, Succumbs on Eve of Election.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HOUSTON, Mo., Oct. 29.—James H. Covert, Republican candidate for Congress in the Sixteenth district, died at his home Wednesday night after taking a dose of carbolic acid, mistaking it for cod liver oil he intended to take from the office of his brother, Dr. W. A. Covert. He picked up the wrong bottle at the physician's office.

Covert is survived by his widow and one son, Maurice Covert. The son is Republican candidate for Prosecuting Attorney of Texas County.

Mr. Covert had been a well known lawyer of South Missouri for the last 35 years. In 1924 he was presidential elector from the Sixteenth district. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church and of the Masonic, Odd Fellows and Knights of Pythias orders. He donated to Texas County its home for the county poor as a memerial to a son who was accidentally killed several years ago. He also endowed funds for an annual meal to be given to the graduates of Houston High School who were most worthy in morals, courtesy and general deportment. A man will be nominated by the Congressional Committee to be placed on the ballot by stickers in Mr. Covert's place. The district long has been Democratic.

COUNT SALM WINS DELAY

Must Appear in New York Nov. 12, However, or Lose Suit.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Count Ludwig Salm von Hoogstraten was today given 12 days in which to appear in the separation suit he brought against his wife, the former Millicent Rogers, asking for the custody of their child, Peter. When the case was called counsel for the Countess made a motion for dismissal on the ground that the Count was still in Austria. The motion was denied. Counsel for the Count said his client had applied for permission to enter the country as an immigrant and had to wait for a place in the quota.

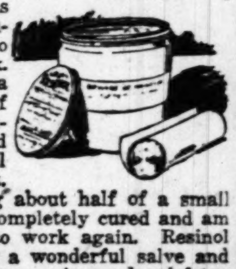
Asserting that the defendant showed a tendency "not to be as considerate as she might," Justice Levy then set the case down for Nov. 12. He first, however, rebuked's Salm's lawyer for his repeated references in argument to "the Count." "A Count has no more standing in the courts here than any citizen," he said. "In fact, I think the citizen has the better standing."

KANSA SCIT YVOTE INQUIRY

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 29.—An investigation into the alleged disfranchisement of a number of voters by the Democratic organization here was begun today when the United States District Attorney subpenaed four persons to appear before the Federal grand jury which convenes next Wednesday.

The subpenas were issued after complaints that a number of qualified Negro voters had been removed illegally from the registration lists. Thomas O. Lee, a Negro, one of those subpenaed, was charged with the County Prosecutor with making false affidavits in connection with challenges made to voters.



Man's condition serious

Forced to give up work when infection spreads

Read how he healed the trouble

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 20.:—"I had a very bad cut under my eye and also a dog-bite on my hand, both of which became infected. Although I did everything for these infections, nothing helped. They seemed to grow worse instead of better and were pronounced chronic. When my hand got very bad and when the infection caused by the cut under my eye spread, I began to give up all hope, as I was unable to do any work. Then a friend of mine recommended Resinol Ointment. After using about half of a small jar I was completely cured and am now back to work again. Resinol is certainly a wonderful salve and I mean to have a jar on hand from now on." (Signed) Edward Smith, 1016 Dolman St.

ST. LOUIS GANGSTERS PLEAD GUILTY OF HOLDUP IN MEMPHIS

Leo Tighe, Frank Lamkie and Ben F. Smith Given Sentences Ranging From Three to 10 Years.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 29.—Three St. Louis gangsters and a Memphis associate pleaded guilty in Circuit Court here yesterday of participating in the $4500 payroll robbery here June 26 last, of the Cole Manufacturing Co., and were given prison sentences ranging from three to 10 years.

Those pleading guilty were: Leo Tighe and Frank Lamkie, five to 10 years; Ben F. Smith, three to five years, and Jack E. Shipp of Memphis, three years. They were arrested a few days after the robbery in Cape Girardeau by St. Louis detectives who were there investigating an automobile theft ring.

A fifth member of the gang, Pat Scanlon of St. Louis, was arrested near Jefferson City recently, and, rather than return here to face the robbery charges, withdrew his appeal from a five-year sentence for participating in the Mound City Trust Co. robbery in St. Louis and started serving his sentence in the Missouri penitentiary at Jefferson City.

MINISTER, 102, STILL PERFORMING WEDDINGS

Many of Those at Whose Weddings He Officiates Visit Him With Children.

By the Associated Press.

MALDEN, Mass., Oct. 29.—The dean of Methodist ministers is still performing marriage ceremonies at the age of 102.

Whenever a young couple comes to the home here of the Rev. Edward Stuart Best for marriage, the elderly pastor readily consents. In fact, it is today one of his chief joys.

The Rev. Mr. Best receives visits from couples, many grown old, whom he married in their youths. He has been a preacher in the New England conference for half a century.

"They bring their children and sometimes their grandchildren with them," he said, "and their coming delights my heart."

His garden has been a favorite occupation of late, but the minister also enjoys reading and writing verse. Radio is a source of speculative religious interest.

"The radio is a wonderful thing," he said, "and as a means of entertainment, I can appreciate how it delights thousands. I do not think, however, that radio sermons can be as effective as if the listeners were in a church. God never intended that a machine should transmit His message to His children. The personality of the speaker and the inspiration of his presence in the pulpit are lost to a radio listener. When a minister is delivering a sermon Christ is with him. It is Christ's message he brings to his congregation. I do not think that this spirit can be transmitted over the radio."

The clergyman thinks that women will eventually organize their forces and drive tobacco from the nation.

Commercial ambitions, he said, keep young men from the ministry today, and there is not enough aggressive religious work done to offset the tendency toward material things.

"I hope the time will never come," he declared, "when ministers are paid large salaries. A minister should receive enough to live comfortably and that's all."

Best was born in Newry, Ireland, Sept. 3, 1824. He had served 21 churches in the conference when he retired from active ministery in 1901.

NEGRO WHO ATTACKED WOMEN IN ILLINOIS GIVEN LIFE TERM

Andrew Bemley, Traced by Persimmons on Shoes, Pleads Guilty of 11 Charges.

By the Associated Press.

LEWISTOWN, Ill., Oct. 28.—Two persimmons on the heel of a Negro's shoe have sent him through the gates of Joliet penitentiary for the remainder of his natural life.

Andrew Bemley, Canton (Ill.) Negro, in Circuit Court here, entered pleas of guilty to 11 indictments charging criminal assault and burglary.

The Negro was arrested at Canton two weeks ago, following an attack upon a physician's wife. When questioned Bemley denied the accusation, but investigation of his shoes disclosed two persimmons sticking to his heels. A persimmon tree stands in the back yard at the doctor's residence. Confronted with this evidence, Bemley confessed to the crime that night and to eight other attacks.

The indictments were returned yesterday morning and at noon he entered pleas of guilty.

INTRUDE RINJURED WHEN HE SLEEPS ON BATHROOM FLOOR

Dr. Heber De Pew and Mrs. De Pew returned to their home, 1446 South Grand boulevard, last midnight and called police when they saw a light burning in the house. Police found a man's shoes, socks, coat and hat scattered about the house and discovered the bathroom door was locked from the inside.

Forcing the door open, they came upon a partly clothed man lying on the bathroom floor, somewhat groggy from a scalp laceration, suffered when the door was pushed in against his head. He said he was Patrick Copperstone, 31 years old, of 3202 Seventh boulevard.

"I don't know how I got here," he said. "I had four teeth pulled this afternoon and took a couple drinks of whisky to kill the pain."

CAMPAIGN FUND CHARGES BY BOTH SIDES IN ARIZONA

Senator Cameron Says Copper Interests Sent $100,000 Into State to Beat Him.

By the Associated Press.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 29.—Senator William H. King (Dem.) of Utah will leave here today for Phoenix, Ariz., to investigate charges of excessive senatorial campaign expenditures in Arizona.

The best train connections which Senator King can make will get him into Phoenix before 10 o'clock Saturday night. The Senator has telegraphed to Senator Ralph Cameron (Rep.) at Phoenix to assemble the witnesses and be ready to proceed with the investigation immediately upon King's arrival there.

"I plan to proceed with the hearing immediately upon arriving in Phoenix," Senator King said, "and will proceed throughout Saturday night and all day Sunday if necessary to clean the matter up."

Cameron Says He Can Prove Charges.

By the Associated Press.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 29.—When apprised of the action of Senator Reed of Missouri in ordering an investigation of senatorial campaign expenditures in Arizona, Senator Cameron declared in a statement issued through his headquarters here that he could prove his charges that large sums of money were being sent into Arizona to defeat him for re-election.

"We will have no difficulty in making good our assertions," the statement said. "The investigation is needed now; not after election.

"The attempt to resurrect the 1920 campaign election expenditures and the political effort to deprive me of my seat in the Senate, which resulted in an acquittal after a trial in the Federal Court will not confuse the public."

Senator Harry F. Ashurst (Dem.) and Louis B. Whitney, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, have telegraphed Chairman Reed welcoming an investigation of the expenditures in behalf of Congressman Charles Hayden (Dem.), who is opposing Senator Cameron for re-election.

Calls Charges "Fabrication."

Charges by Senator Cameron that "$100,000 slush fund" had been sent into the State by the Eastern copper interests to aid Hayden, were characterized as "pure fabrication" by Whitney.

Senator Ashurst, in addition to denying the Cameron charges, asserted that "all outward evidence would indicate that large sums of money have been and are being expended in behalf of Senator Cameron."

An investigation of expenditures in the 1920 campaign when Cameron was elected was requested by Ashurst.

Senator Cameron has telegraphed to Reed that he would suggest subpenaing Harry Chandler of the Los Angeles Times; Will Irwin, novelist, and Stephen T. Mather of the National Park service, to appear at the hearing Saturday night.

Others whom the Arizona Senator suggested should be subpenaed are S. C. Evans of Riverside, Cal., president of the Boulder Canyon Dam Association; R. H. Ballard, vice president and general manager of the Southern California Edison Electric Co.; J. S. Douglas, Arizona capitalist, and his son, Lewis, candidate for the National House of Representatives, and E. E. Ellinwood, banker, defeated in the primary last month for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Wants Books Produced.

Cameron, who is standing for re-election on a platform which includes a tariff on copper and opposition to the Boulder Canyon Dam bill, has charged that money for the support of his opponent, Representative Hayden, came from Eastern copper interests and from California interests supporting the Swing-Johnson dam bill.

The Arizona Senator suggested to Reed that Evans be asked to produce his books showing expenditures in 1924 and 1926. He said the Arizonans subpenaed, should be made to bring to the hearing their statements of expenditures during the primary campaign. He asked that a list of the stock owners with stock books of the Diamond Creek Irrigation project, promoted by a Delaware corporation, be subpenaed and the books be offered in evidence and that, among others, W. B. Mathews, attorney for the Los Angeles water Department, and President Kelley of the Anaconda Copper Co., be subpenaed.

"Believe proof can be submitted showing expenditure of $100,000 for Lewis Douglas in the campaign in addition to $300,000 for Ellinwood by the same interests," the telegram said, "and that neither of these campaign committees submitted to state authorities, as provided by law lists of contributors and expenditures."

Irwin, the writer, is presumed to be wanted in connection with a series of articles which he wrote and syndicated under the title, "Cameron and the Colorado." The articles criticized the Arizona Senator on the ground that he allegedly tried to control development of the river through the acquisition of power sites and was financed in his activities, among others, by the Stetsons of Philadelphia.

COUNTY CITIZENS BEGIN FIGHT ON THE ESSEN SLATE

Bipartisan Ticket of Six Democrats and Eight Republicans Recommended for Chief Offices.

VOTERS ASKED TO DISREGARD PARTY

Taxpayer's League Bases Plea on Ridding the County of Gambling and Other Crimes.

Pamphlets recommending election next Tuesday of six Democrats and eight Republicans for the more important St. Louis County offices have been mailed to 40,000 of the 50,000 county voters by the County Taypayers' League.

The particular object of the league is to defeat candidates backed by Fred Essen, Republican boss of the county for more than a quarter of a century, and to elect men who have promised to put the notorious gambling establishment of Tony Foley, ex-convict, in Wellston, out of business.

The pamphlet gives a last-minute spurt to county political affairs, which were sidetracked, unless the machine has been working quietly, during the intense campaign for and against the city-county merger proposal, which was defeated by county voters last Tuesday.

The taxpayers' league is an organization of several hundred citizens, many of whom were active in the 1922 cleanup campaign following the wholesale corruption of the primary. Lee A. Hall of Webster Groves, an attorney, is president of the league.

Substance of the Appeal.

Although the county usually has a heavy Republican majority, aroused public opinion in 1922 put several Democrats in office, and the league is asking voters to disregard party lines once more, so far as local offices are concerned, and choose the men it regards as best. It is suggesting that women telephone their friends and neighbors to work for its candidates, so that "the lights will go out in Tony Foley's den."

"It's the taxpayers against the politicians and gamblers," says the pamphlet. "If you want to rid the county of crime and violence, keep the telephone busy asking your friends to vote. It is regrettable that the powerful organization of the Republican party has nominated candidates for some of the most important offices who, in our opinion, do not measure up to the high standard of their Democratic opponents. It's the history of 1922 repeated; the bosses and Tony Foley against the people. Unless enough good citizens accept their challenge by ignoring party lines they will win and the boss and Foley will continue to transact business at the old stands. That element is thoroughly organized and well supplied with money, and usually can be relied upon to come to the rescue of the organization."

The Candidates Indorsed.

Democratic candidates indorsed by the league are: Ralph Nolen for Prosecuting Attorney, Richard S. Smiley (incumbent), "the one-man opposition," for Presiding Judge of the County Court, or administrative body; George H. Skillman for Constable of Central Township, Edwin Tiffin (incumbent) for County Clerk, J. Fent Rudder (incumbent) for Collector, and Jesse Venarde for AssociateJudge (Second District) of the County Court.

Republican candidates indorsed by the league are: James S. Gardner for Associate Judge (First District) of the County Court, George P. Rott for Associate Judge (Second District) of the County Court, Samuel D. Hodgdon (incumbent) for Probate Judge, Arthur W. Schmid (incumbent) for Recorder, Oscar Jacobsmeyer for Cicuit Clerk, William W. Bamber and Alfred C. Wilson (incumbents) and George F. Heege for State Representatives.

Specific opposition to the following Republican candidates is voiced by the league: Fred Mueller (incumbent) for Prosecuting Attorney, George Roth (incumbent) for

Constable of Central Township, Al- Wehmeyer for presiding Judge of the County Court, Willis Benson for Collector and Walter E. Miller for County Clerk.

Objections to Mueller.

"We do not believe Prosecuting Attorney Mueller has been as aggressive as he might have been in suppressing gambling and other violations of law," says the league pamphlet. "In a newspaper interview he admitted he knew Tony Foley was running wide open, but wanted someone to tell him so in an affidavit. We believe it is within his power to close the place and have the Sheriff destroy the expensive paraphernalia, as the law provides, even if he cannot secure convictions. A Deputy Sheriff is stationed almost at the very door of Foley's gambling den. Nolen served as Sheriff of Monroe County and enforced the law in a fearless manner. We have his pledge that as prosecutor he will have gambling dens raided and paraphernalia destroyed."

The office of Central Township Constable has been called the most lucrative one in the county, says the pamphlet, adding, "It is known that Foley usually takes active interest therein about election time." Constable Roth has been active in making traffic arrests and was charged with giving the "third degree" to a prisoner accused of murder but subsequently freed, the pamphlet relates, but, it declares, "if he has ever raided a gambling den or been active in suppressing bootlegging, history does not give him much credit for it." Foley's place is in Central Township. Stillman, who is Assistant Chief of Police of Richmond Heights, has promised the league that as Constable he would suppress gambling.

Smiley's Record Commended.

The league declares that Wehmeyer's chief qualification for Presiding Judge is knowledge of road building gained "at the pie counter as an employe of the Highway Department," but "he is silent as to his business qualifications, so essential in the control of millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money." He was chairman of the Republican County Committee at the time of the 1922 primary, the pamphlet recalls. In contrast, the league praises the record of Judge Smiley in safeguarding public interests and saving public money.

Records in office of County Clerk iffin and Collector Rudder are praised by the league, from the viewpoint of efficiency and economy, but the league recalls that Benson was a member of the Republican County Committee in 1922 and that Miller was chief deputy under Clerk William Seibel and was "the nominee of the Essen machine for the office in 1922."

Likewise, records in office of Probate Judge Hodgdon, Recorder chmid and Representatives Bamer, Wilson and Heege, and the reputations of Jacobsmeyer, Rott, enarde and Gardner are approved by the league.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

BRENNAN DENIES HE RECEIVED INSULL GIFT

Says Contribution to County Committee Merely Was Made Through Him.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29. — A denial that he had received any contribution to his campaign from Samuel Insull was made Wednesday night by George E. Brennan, Democratic candidate for United States Senator from Illinois, who delivered a political speech over radio station WGN. Brennan, who has been confined because of an injury to his knee in the early days of the campaign, has been obliged to address his followers over the radio and through published statements.

"There is a mistaken impression that I received a contribution to my campaign fund from Samuel Insull," Brennan said. "This is not correct. Mr. Insull has contributed $15,000 to the campaign funds of the Democratic County Central Committee and he made the contribution through me, as my written report shows.

"He did not, either before the primary or afterwards, contribute to my personal campaign fund. His contribution to the county campaign fund was made through me because I am the titular head of the Democratic organization in Illinois."

Brennan also reiterated his stand for modification of the Volstead Act and for farm relief.

Would Rival Mary Pickford.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—Eileen Aldon, the 17-year-old cinema recruit, who was selected from 5000 applicants by a British producing firm, is in real life Miss Alyne Pacaud daughter of Lucien Pacaud, Assistant High Commissioner for Canada in London. Miss Aldon is undergoing a tryout to discover whether she is the long-hoped-for genius whom British producers desire to make into a younger Mary Pickford.

Osborne Will Aids Boys.

By the Associated Press.

AUBURN, N. Y., Oct. 29.—The will of Thomas Mott Osborne, noted prison reform pioneer, provides for the establishment of a school for boys here. Most of his property was left in trust for his eight grandchildren. The estate is estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.

COOLIDGES VISIT HISTORIC MUNROE ESTATE IN VIRGINIA

View Also President Madison's Refuge When British Captured Washington in 1814.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. — The home of James Monroe, fifth President of the United States, and other points of historic interest in Virginia were visited by President and Mrs. Coolidge yesterday under the guidance of two Democratic Congressmen, Moore of Virginia and Briggs of Texas. The 3000-acre estate, now owned by F. C. Littleton, is situated 40 miles from Washington.

The trip took Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge through Fairfax Courthouse, where they stopped to inspect the wills of George and Martha Washington, and the marker in the courthouse grounds commemorating the first fight of the Civil War, when Capt. John G. Marr of the Confederate Warrenton Rifles fell June 1, 1861, the first man to give his life in that war.

The automobiles were stopped at Langley Hill for a few minutes' inspection of the house in which President Madison took refuge when the British occupied Washington in 1814.

BUYS OIL AND GAS RIGHT

By the Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 29.—The Louisville Courier-Journal, in a copyrighted story today, said that purchase of upward of 1,000,000 acres of oil and gas rights in a dozen or more Eastern Kentucky counties has been made by the Louisville Gas and Electric Co. The Byllesby Finance and Engineering Corporation is the parent company of the Louisville Gas and Electric Co. It owns also the Philadelphia Co., which owns large holdings in West Virginia, as well as a number of lesser companies.

The price of the various leases obtained by the Louisville Gas and Electric Co., the Courier-Journal said, has been variously estimated from $2,500,000 to $6,000,000. Negotiations are said to be pending for purchase of oil and gas rights in Southeastern Kentucky also.

If You Need a Tonic, Get the Best

Mrs. Gertrude Wilcox

"I am glad to recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as a regular tonic to build up the entire system. At one time, especially, when I was very weak and run-down after a spell of the "flu," it was really astonishing how quickly the 'Golden Medical Discovery' restored my normal strength and improved the condition of my blood." Mrs. Gertrude Wilcox, 332 Marquette St., Davenport, Iowa.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a well-known tonic and builder that can be procured in tablets or liquid from your neighborhood druggist. Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial package of the tablets and write for free advice.

LIQUOR QUESTION IS DOMINANT IN ILLINOIS ELECTION

Three-Cornered Contest for Senate Seat Uppermost as Interest in St. Clair County Race Is Forgotten.

WETS AND DRYS CLAIMING VICTORY

Anti-Saloon League Mentions Only 4 Candidates in Addition to Frank L. Smith in Official Organ.

With the wet and dry question a dominant issue centered around the senatorial race, voters in Illinois will decide in the State and county election Tuesday whether or not Illinois will become one of the block of states being claimed by wet leaders where the same issue is uppermost, if not so clearly defined as in Illinois. Polls will be open from 6 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Interest in the county candidates has been overshadowed by the active three-cornered campaign between George E. Brennan (Dem.), favoring repeal or modification of the Volstead act, Frank L. Smith (Rep.), an avowed dry, who has the indorsement of the Anti-Saloon League, and Hugh S. Magill, Independent Republican, also an avowed dry, but who was spurned by the league. In addition to John H. Whitlock of Chicago, the Socialist candidate for Senator, are eight others on various tickets.

Besides Smith, the candidates whose names appear on the St. Clair County ballot and are indorsed in the official publication of the Anti-Saloon League, are: Thomas L. Fekete Jr. of East St. Louis for State Representative of the Forty-ninth District; E. J. Abt of East St. Louis for State Senator of the same district, and Henry P. Rathbone and Richard Yates for Congressman at Large. All are Republicans.

Ignores Other Candidates.

Fekete is opposed by William A. Murphy (Dem.) of East St. Louis, Abt by Ernest R. McHale (Dem.) of East St. Louis, and Rathbone and Yates by Frank J. Wise (Dem.) of Joliet and Charles A. Karch (Dem.) of East St. Louis.

The remainder of the Republican county and district candidates, most of whom make their homes in Belleville, the Republican stronghold of St. Clair County, are ignored by the Antisaloon League together with the entire Brennan ticket.

Interest in St. Clair County is centered about the race for Congressman, in which Dr. Ed M. Irwin (Rep.) of Belleville, incumbent, is opposed by William N. Baltz (Dem.) of Millstadt, successful candidate for the office in 1912, and in the race for office of Sheriff in which Charles Ahrens (Rep.) of O'Fallon, present deputy and candidate of Sheriff Schnipper, is opposed by Patrick W. Sullivan (Dem.) of East St. Louis, an ice and coal dealer.

Republican leaders forecast a victory in the county, which is ordinarily Republican. Democratic leaders are also optimistic, pointing to Belleville and East St. Louis, wet cities, where they expect party affiliations to be waived and Smith scratched in favor of Brennan, with a chance to carry the ticket with him.

List of Candidates.

The other candidates for office are: State Treasurer, Garrett D. Kinney (Rep.), Samuel L. Nelson (Dem.); Superintendent of Public Instruction, Francis G. Blair (Rep.), Alexander W. Jamieson (Dem.); Clerk of the Supreme Court, Charles W. Vail (Rep.), John A. Logan Sr. (Dem.); Trustees of the University of Illinois, Laura B. Evans, Helen Mathews Grigsby and William L. Noble, Republicans, and Beulah Wilson Campbell, Frank T. O'Hair and William Tracy Alden, Democrats.

For clerk of the Appellate Court are: Robert B. Roe (Rep.), Waller Buckham (Dem.), and for State Representatives from the Forty-ninth District are Ed. P. Petri and Thomas L. Fekete Jr., Republicans, and Frank Holten, incumbent, and William A. Murphy, Democrats.

Candidates for county offices in addition to Sheriff are: For office of County Judge, Waldemar R. Weber (Rep.) of Belleville, incumbent, and A. A. Hunt (Dem.) of East St. Louis. County clerk, Ross C. Adams (Rep.) of Belleville, present County Treasurer, and Ed. Joseph (Dem.) of New Athens. Probate Judge, C. E. Chamberlin (Rep.) of Lebanon, incumbent, and George F. Wombacher (Dem.) of Mascoutah. Probate Clerk, Alonzo A. Miller (Rep.) of Belleville and William Frech (Dem.) of Lenzburg. County Treasurer, Martin Schnipper (Rep.) of Belleville, present Sheriff, and Andrew Zittle (Dem.) of East St. Louis.

Method of Voting.

For Superintendent of County Schools, John E. Miller (Rep.) of East St. Louis, incumbent, and J. J. McGlynn (Dem.) of East St. Louis. Member Board of Assessors, Adam Weilmuenster (Rep.) of East St. Louis and Hugh Bevirt (Dem.) of Caseyville Township. Member Board of Review, Arthur P. O'Leary (Rep.) East St. Louis, and John G. Metzler (Dem.) of Belleville. County Surveyor, unexpired term, John Edwin Weinel (Rep.) of East St. Louis and Wayne McCabe (Dem.) of East St. Louis.

To vote a straight ticket it is only necessary to mark a cross in the circle at the top of the chosen ticket or to mark a cross in the square before each candidate's name. To cast a split or scratched ballot, voters will mark a cross in the circle at the top of the chosen ticket and a cross in the square before the name of a candidate on any other ticket for whom it is desired to vote. It is not necessary to mark out or erase the name of any candidate.

Price Concession on Dresses.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 29.—Special prices will be made for French women who cannot compete with their American rivals at the dressmakers. Several manufacturers of fabrics have offered to put a special tag on their goods for French buyers. One great dressmaking house has announced that special models will be created for home consumption at a price less than that paid by Americans and other foreign buyers. Another dressmaker created a collection of 50 models to "suit the French purse."

HAWES RIDICULES WILLIAMS' DODGE ON DRY QUESTION

Attacks Senator's Proposal to Wait for State Referendum Before Deciding Where He Stands.

EAST DOMINATES COOLIDGE REGIME

Mississippi Valley Ignored, Democratic Nominee Says in Speech by Radio at Station K S D.

Harry B. Hawes, Democratic nominee for the United States Senate, speaking yesterday afternoon by radio from the Post-Dispatch station, KSD, discussed the suggestion of a Missouri referendum on the Eighteenth Amendment, made by his Republican opponent, Senator Williams, in his KSD radio talk Monday night. He spoke particularly to women.

"At the eleventh hour," Hawes said, "my opponent has taken refuge behind the suggestion of a referendum to instruct him. He knows as well as you and I know, that a referendum or an instruction from the people of this State on important political matters is an utter impossibility. There will be no referendum on the great issues of the day. I would consider myself unworthy of your support had I not told you during this campaign exactly where I stand.

Record as Law Maker.

"I think by this time you understand that during my term in the Missouri Legislature I voted for the most comprehensive system of child welfare legislation ever put upon our statute books; that in the Congress of the United States I spoke for the farmers and appealed to the House for some practical relief for their distress. As a member of the House I have kept constantly in mind, not only the soldiers and the wounded and the helpless, but my thought has been f those at home who have lost is service or who must now bear me of the burdens of and responsibility for his disability.

"I have voted to put the dependents and the soldiers of all wars n an exact equality, and have demanded for them humane treatment.

"My constant thought has been get back quickly to the ways of ce, to wipe out the last vestige war, including the taxes left over m the war.

aking Dollar Worth 100 Cents.

"We must restore the old purchasing power of our dollar. We ust endeavor to make it buy as uch as it did before the war, and e of the ways to do this is to ing down the cost of the necessaries of life. If we can put 35 nts back into the purchasing wer of each dollar you have to end, it will increase the income st that amount.

"The great tax burdens of the r cost of Government have not en eliminated, even after eight ars. There has been no reduction in the great army of civil servemployes in the nation. There been no reduction in the num- of Federal bureaus, agencies commissions, nor has there en any curtailment among those pointed by the Governor of this te.

"The burden of the tariff tax all pay directly and which ounts to $4,000,000,000 a year uld now be reduced. We cant put back the purchasing power the dollar without reducing both cost of government and the tax the necessaries of life.

Hawes spoke of what he terms England domination, saying:

Sectional Politics.

"This great section of the nation been ignored by the party now power, because New England ates the policy of the administion. When we try to deepen Mississippi and Missouri rivers, to hold back the flood waters devastate our farm lands as flow to the sea, the party in er always refuses our appeal help. It is the same in the tter of roads and investments in onal highways. The administn at Washington is not in pathy with the needs of our e or our section of the nation. They will pour with an almost igal fervor the resources of the onal treasury into the seaports the East and into the harbors the Lakes, and even into Ha-, the Philippines and Alaska, they permit Missouri and the y states to stand, hat in hand, suppliants at the door asking alms. And yet our taxes go the same treasury as do the of the East.

issouri must send to Washn men who will not be domid by the selfish interests of the . We must send men who t be controlled, and who will a sentiment that comes from art to build up the great cenalley states and place them footing of equality with the rest of the states of the Union, in the matter of national treatment."

Military Service for Women.

Hawes dismissed Senator Williams' proposal, in the constitutional convention, for a constitutional change "which would permit the pressure of law to be placed upon women in time of war." He spoke of this as an amusing, yet an outrageous proposal, without justification in the history of this or any other country.

"To me," he said, "compulsory military service with respect to women is an abhorrent thought, the very conception of which is a lasting slur upon the magnificent and heroic efforts of womanhood throughout the ages, and particularly the valiant services of Missouri women in our last great conflict. They have always done their bit; their courage has been an incentive to their husbands and to their sons.

"The thought of home and the courage in the home have been the best help to our fighting men throughout all our history, and why my opponent should try to change the old established order of things is to me a mystery."

Mrs. Henry N. Ess of Kansas City, former president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, made an introductory radio talk, praising Hawes' record in public life, as a St. Louis police administrator, a State legislator and a member of Congress. Mrs. Hawes and one of her daughters, Miss Eppes Hawes, were in the KSD studio during the speech, as was Mrs. Kate S. Morrow, head of the women's section of the Democratic State organization. Telephone calls of congratulation, on the address, came from several women before the party left the studio.

WILLIAMS CITES REED'S INACTIVITY ON VOLSTEAD ACT

Senator Says Votes Are Being Sought for Hawes on Same Unfulfilled Promise of 1922.

SINCERITY OF THE PLEA QUESTIONED

Asserts Any Amendment of Law Keeping Within Eighteenth Amendment Would Be Unsatisfactory

Senator Williams in speeches to St. Louis audiences last night devoted considerable time to a discussion of the wet and dry question. Those of his "wet" supporters who hoped he would become "dripping wet" in St. Louis, did not receive great encouragement, the Senator using the same arguments he had in the dry sections of the State. He reiterated his stand that prohibition is not a political question, and that it has no place in a political campaign.

"The wet and dry question is to many people a religious issue, to many a moral issue, and to all the people a social issue," he said, "it was never a political question as such and can never be made a political question."

Then he read excerpts from the opening speech of his primary campaign, at California, Mo., June 26, in which he declared that prohibition was on trial and that the people would decide at the proper time whether it had succeeded or failed. His jposition has not changed since then, he said.

Reed's Wet Campaign Cited.

Williams called attention to the fact that Senator Reed sought Republican votes in 1922 on the ground hat he would oppose prohibition. "Yet no one has ever heard of Senator Reed introducing any measure for the repeal of the Volstead act or for any change in the eighteenth amendment," he said.

"Mr. Hawes in seeking the same vote says he is in favor of an amendment of the Volstead act," Williams went on. "He knows that any change in the Volstead act which keeps within the eighteenth amendment will be unsatisfactory, and he knows that any change in the Volstead act which would be satisfactory would be unconstitutional."

Williams spoke first at a Thirteenth Ward meeting in a garage at 3142 Morganford road, and then repeated his talk at a meeting of the St. Louis County Republican organization at Olive Street and North and South roads.

Criticises Opposing Speakers.

He began by criticizing opposing speakers who describe him as "Gov. Baker's Senator." "It is true that I was appointed by Gov. Baker," he said, "but that doesn't make me any the less the legal and constituted Senator to represent you in the United States Senate. Moreover, the Republican voters chose me in the primary."

Senator Reed he described as "an erstwhile race horse who ties himself to some broken down mules to help them pull a garbage wagon."

"In 1922, when Reed wanted Republican votes he encouraged us to support him as a man who takes a position on the League of Nations and the World Court," Williams said. "Now he comes back as a ward politician. You who encouraged him in 1922 are grieved to find that he has abandoned the principles on which he got himself elected.

"Mr. Hawes takes no position on the League or World Court. In 1925 he voted for the World Court, in the spring of 1926 he declared himself for the World Court, and now in the fall of 1926, we find he has flopped on that question and takes no position of any kind whatsoever. He says he is not in favor of the present entry in the World Court under the Coolidge resolutions, and he is one of the men who voted for the Coolidge resolutions."

Advocates Protective Tariff.

Turning from personalities, Williams advocated protective tariff. The tariff, he said, puts the farmer on the same basis as other industrial workers, and keeps up the wage scale. "The only hope for the American farmer," he declared, "is in the great Republican policy of protection; it is the only hope for any of us if we want to maintain our standard of living." He declared that free trade would result in lower prices but at the same time would reduce wage scales beyond the proportion of price reductions.

While discussing the farmer, Williams turned again to Hawes. "In 1924 when Hawes wanted city support he voted against the McNary-Haugen farm bill," he said. "In 1926 when he wanted country support, he voted for it. His only interest was a vote-seeker."

Senator Williams, in a half-hour

EVANGELIST SAYS WATSON REVIVED INDIANA KLAN, WHICH 'WAS ON LAST LEGS', FOR HIS POLITICAL PURPOSES

Preacher Tells Reed That Watson Said "Man Who Bucks Klan in Indiana Is Foolish."

EX-KLEAGLE TELLS OF SENATOR'S KLAN CARD

Former "Knighthawk" Declares Robinson Spoke at Closed Meeting of Hooded Order.

K. K. K. Witnesses in Indiana Inquiry

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

FOUR members, past or present, of the Ku Klux Klan, who told Senator Reed yesterday how the organization schemed to control Indiana politics. Left to right, Walter Bossert, ex-"grand dragon;" Rev. Harry P. Renn, organizer; George W. Meyers, ex-"grand knighthawk;" James Bolen, former secretary to Bossert.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON.

Senator James A. Reed's single-handed investigation of political corruption in Indiana came to a temporary close late yesterday afternoon. Then the Senator stepped back and grimly surveyed the results. Peeping over his shoulder was a crew of onetime "kleagles," "cyclopses," "knighthawks" and "dragons," who had performed with varying degrees of willingness their several parts in the unsavory business.

Firing throughout the day had been of unprecedented volume, and the carnage was considerable. Where once the Republican party and the Ku Klux Klan had capered happily, hand in hand, now was devastation and ruin, over which the dying rays of the fiery cross flickered feebly.

Testimony of the Day.

In this ghostly light were outlined the following ominous facts:

Witnesses had testified that they understood both Republican Senators James E. Watson and Arthur R. Robinson, were or had been members of the klan, and one had ascribed to Watson, possession of a card signifying membership in the inner circle of klandom.

There had bn testimony that when the klan was in a dying condition, Watson took hold, revived it and revamped it in a personal political machine.

It had been testified that William F. Zumbrunn, general counsel and political strategist of the klan, had used the klan machinery to drum up contests over seats in the United States Senate in which he would be retained as counsel for one of the contestants.

The Republican Mayors of Indianapolis and Evansville had been revealed in the humiliating act of making a pilgrimage to the shrine of "Imperial Wizard" Hiram F. Evans, at Washington to get their orders, and of accepting their expense money from the klan treasury.

Additional evidence had been given of the determination of Evans and Zumbrunn that the klan membership in Indiana must "deliver" for Watson in his race for renomination this year, and nad summarily ikcked out klan officers who refused to obey those orders.

Watson had been portrayed in an attitude of close and friendly co-operation with the notorious D. C. Stephenson, "grand dragon," who afterward was convicted and sentenced for murdering a girl.

Mrs. Vivian Tracy Wheatcraft, admitted organizer of "poison squads" of "whispering women," who peddled gossip in Watson's behalf and later came to Missouri to work for Senator Williams, had been identified by a witness as Watson's chief liaison officer with local klan leaders.

There were other casualties, too, but they were minor affairs in contrast with the great events of a day which produced a greater volume and a wider range of evidence explained the strange marriage of the Republican party to the klan than any preceding day of the entire inquiry.

Denials by Senators.

Late last night Senators Watson and Robinson issued denials of the statements that they were members of the klan, and would take advantage of Senator Reed's offer to permit them to file affidavits with his committee in defense of themselves.

William M. Rogers, a cheerful little Ford automobile salesman who once rejoiced in the title of "kleagle," and solicited memberships in the klan on a commission basis, was the witness who said Senator Watson had exhibited the card of a member of the "Imperial Klan," the select group which has its home base in Atlanta, Ga.

"I had been doing some organization work in Wilmington, Del., late in 1924," he testified, "when I foresaw that my career was coming to an end. I had been working under D. C. Stephenson, so I wrote asking him to get me a job in the Government secret service. He instructed me to see Senator Watson about it. I went down to Washington, and met Senator Watson in the reception chamber just outside the Senate chamber, in the Capitol."

From the description he appeared to be describing the President's room, just outside the Senate chamber, where Presidents of the United States go to await their inauguration ceremonies.

Interview With Watson.

"I presented Steve's letter,' he went on, "and explained to Senator Watson what I had been doing in Delaware. He asked to see my klan card, and I showed him my card in the imperial klan. He said:

"'I have one like that,' and took it out of his pocketbook. It was a card in the imperial klan, all right, and was made out in his name for the years 1924 and 1925.

"I told him what I wanted, and he immediately called up Mr. Hoover, who is chief of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation of the Department of Justice, and made an appointment. Then he called a taxi, and sent me down to the Department of Justice.

"Hoover said that on Watson's recommendation I probably would fill the bill, and gave me an application blank to fill out. I went back to see Senator Watson. He told me the blank must be indorsed with the name of influential men and by all means to have Stephenson sign it, as Steve was the political boss of Indiana. But I know that Steve had been succeeded by Walter Bosert as the 'grand dragon' of Indiana, and I asked the Senator if it wouldn't be a good idea to have Bossert sign it, too.

"The Senator said: 'Oh, hell, no. He's a dead one. Bossert won't play ball with me, and he is to be removed. The arrangements are being perfected now. It will be a good thing for the klan, for with Bossert out of the way, we will be able to reconcile the Bossert and Stephenson factions.'

"As soon as I got back to Indianapolis Steve indorsed my application blank and told me to take it to Bert Thurman, the Collector of Internal Revenue (a Watson appointee), who was handling Watson's political matters in Indiana.

Stephenson Phoned Watson.

"When two or three weeks went by without any action, I went to see Steve, and told him to stir Watson up. He called Watson on long distance right away, and told him that my appointment must go over at once. He said Watson owed him that much. When he finished talking he said the Senator had promised to look after it.

"Two or three days later Steve got into his trouble. Thurman told me I had better fill out another application, as it would embarrass the Senator to have Steve's indorsement on an application that he was backing, now that Steve was in disgrace."

"When you say Stephenson got into his trouble," said Reed, "you mean that he was indicted for the murder for which he was afterward convicted?" "That's right," the witness affirmed. "And that was the end of it. I never got the job."

He took from his billfold two cards, one signifying ordinary membership of the klan, and the other being an "imperial passport," signed by "His Lordship, Hiram W. Evans, Imperial Wizard," which showed that he belonged to the "Imperial Klan," of Atlanta. Handing Reed the latter, he said: "It was a card like this that Senator Watson showed me."

"Are you absolutely sure?" asked Reed. "Yes," the witness replied.

"You couldn't be mistaken about this card photographed." "Sure, Senator. I took it in my hand and looked at it."

"Very well, I should like to have it?" "I don't see how I could, Senator, but don't forget to send it back. I want it for a souvenir, and I don't think I'd ever get another one after my testimony here today."

Evangelist a Paid Lecturer.

The jolly little ex-"kleagle" had been preceded on the witness stand by a former co-worker for the glory of klandom—the Rev. Aric P. Renn, a Baptist evangelist, who testified that between holding revival meetings in Indiana he had worked as a paid lecturer for the klan. The Rev. Mr. Rann is a sturdy, serious, red-necked man of dapper appearance, whose dress and speech suggested a go-getting drummer rather than a minister of the gospel.

He testified that he had been a member both of the Indianapolis klan and the "Imperial Klan," and that he still is a klansman. Examining him from a memorandum prepared in advance, Reed asked:

"Did you ever have an interview with Senator Watson, arranged for you by Charles McNay, "grand titan" of Indiana?" "I did. It was at the Severin Hotel, in Indianapolis, some time in the latter part of last year. McNay presented me to Senator Watson and told him I was the logical candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress from the Fourth District. The Senator asked me if I was familiar with klan activities in that district, and I told him I was, and analyzed its strength there."

"Did you reach any agreement with him?" "I did. He agreed to throw the strength of his organization to me for the nomination, if I would line up the klan for him in the Fourth District. I told him he had certain men in Bartholomew and Jennings Counties whose support I wanted, and he promised to see them for me.

"A little later I became convinced that Watson was double-crossing me. I told Bert Thurman that Watson's men were not delivering for me in my district. He said they were."

"Was Thurman, the Collector of Internal Revenue, a klansman?" "Well, he was as active in klan politics as anybody in Indianapolis."

"What did you do next?" "I saw Mrs. Vivian Tracy Wheatcraft and Mrs. Laura Foote. They were in charge of organizing the women for Watson. Mrs. Wheatcraft said she had been informed that Watson was for me, and she gave me a list of the Watson leaders in my district, and told me to see them. She assured me that she knew the klan situation there, and that both factions were united for me. All I needed, she said, was Watson's organization, and as she would attend to that, it wouldn't even be necessary for me to make any speeches.

"Watson double-crossed me in the end. I think his organization was for me at first, but it got off of me. Even then, I carried six of the 11 counties and was beaten by a close margin.

"After the primary election, Lee Smith, the 'grand dragon,' came to me and said Senator Watson wanted to see me. He understood I was sore about what had happened, and wanted to square it. I called on Watson at the Severin. He told me he wanted my support in the campaign. I said I had needed his support in the primary, too, but I hadn't got it.

"He asked me to cite him an instance where I had been double-crossed. I showed him that in the county where Mrs. Wheatcraft had her greatest influence I had been credited with only 188 votes, when I actually got 588. Watson said he couldn't understand it. He told me I had lost because I failed to answer the Antisaloon League's questionnaire.

"'Did you answer it?' I asked him. 'No. I never even saw it; what was it like?' he said. I told him and he said he wouldn't have answered it either."

"Aren't you in favor of prohibition?" inquired Reed. "Yes, but I'm not in favor of the tactics of the Antisaloon League."

"So Watson wanted you to forgive and forget, and go out and make speeches for him?" "That's what he said."

"Did he offer to pay you?" "He didn't mention a price, but I expected to be paid."

"Have you made many political speeches for pay?" "Yes, plenty of them."

Expected to Be Paid.

"Is it a custom in Indiana to take pay for going out and telling the people how to vote?" sarcastically asked Reed. "I don't know about other people, but I always expect to get mine," replied the Rev. Mr. Renn."

"Then it pays to be a Republican in Indiana, doesn't it?" "It has in the past, but I'm not sure about after today," was the rueful rejoinder.

The Rev. Renn said that Watson called in his manager and instructed him to put the evangelist on the payroll as a lecturer, but the manager had no funds, and the plan fell through.

"Did you ever soo Doc Evans mixing in politics in Indiana?" Reed went on. "Yes. I saw him in a conference with a number of men at the Lincoln Hotel in Indianapolis during the primary campaign. It was right after Bossert had been unseated for refusing to support Watson. I complained to Dr. Evans that Watson's organization wasn't supporting me. He told me to have the new 'grand dragon,' Lee Smith, notify Zumbrunn about it, and Zumbrunn would see that Watson kept his word to me."

The Rev. Renn said he had another conversation with Watson, in which he explained to the Senator that Democratic leaders in various counties could be lined up for Watson through the klan. In some counties the leaders of the klan were Democrats, but if ordered by the klan to support the Republican candidate, Watson, they would obey.

"Is it true that men would put their klan allegiance ahead of their party allegiance?" asked Reed. "Oh, yes."

"What else did Watson say?" "He told me that when he was managing Albert J. Beveridge's campaign for Senator in 1923 Beveridge told him he intended to deliver an anti-klan speech. Watson warned him not to, and finally Berevidge gave in. Beveridge was beaten by about 25,000 and said afterward that it was because he hadn't made that speech. Watson said to me: 'The damned fool doesn't realize that if he had made that speech he would have been beaten by 90,000 instead of 25,000.

"'A man who bucks the klan in this State is foolish,' Watson said. 'The Catholic vote in the Republican party isn't big enough to be worth while.'"

Watson "Wielded Power in Klan."

"Do you know whether Senator Watson is a klansman" "I don't know, but I know he has wielded more power in the klan than any other man in Indiana. The klan was on its last legs there when he go hold of it, and revived it so he could use it for his own political purposes.

"Do you know why Evans and Zumbrunn were so anxious to deliver for Watson?" "I heard Dr. Evans say in the Lincoln Hotel that Senator Mayfield (of Texas) was a good klansman, and that if it hadn't been for Watson he never would have been seated."

"What is your occupation now, Mr. Renn?" "I am still in evangelistic work. I just closed a revival in Indianapolis, and will open another one next week."

"Do you find that more remunerative than lecturing for the klan?" Reed asked solicitously. "It war remunerative until I got mixed up with the klan."

MUSSOLINI SAYS TASK OF FASCISM IS MORAL REFORM

Tells Black Shirts They Must Rid Themselves of Selfishness, Opportunism and Profiteering.

DENIES FASCISM IS ENEMY OF WORKER

Only in Last Four Years, He Declares, Has There Been Popular Rule in Italy.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Oct. 29. — Fascism's strength, youthful vigor and determination, were emphasized anew in a message which Premier Mussolini delivered before a vast throng of Black Shirts in the Colosseum yesterday. It was the celebration of the fourth anniversary of the Fascist march on Rome.

The message was read at various meetings throughout the country by members of the Government and high Fascist authorities.

It reviewed the work of the Fascist Government, the reforms that had been carried out and the progress made by the nation.

"It is idiotic to decry the regime of Fascism as having produced an oligarchy with a cruel and mysterious tyrant at its head," said Mussolini.

Pays Tribute to People.

"It is equally absurd to accuse Fascism of being an unpopular regime and an enemy of the working classes. The truth is that in Italy only since 1922 has anyone been able to speak of 'the regime of the people.'"

He paid tribute to "the people," laying stress on the point that they accepted the discipline imposed by Fascism, because they understood that this discipline was not the result of individual caprice, but of profound necessity.

"On the occasion of the anniversary of the Fascist revolution led by members of the Government and by the authorities," said Mussolini, "the fourth celebration of the march of Rome finds the Fascist Government in a formidable position of power in the interior and of prestige throughout the entire world.

"The Fascist regime has established itself during the past year as an impregnable structure."

Foreign Relations.

Respecting Italy's relations with other nations the Premier said:

"The Fascist Government, after having settled the debts with the United States and Great Britain, concluded a treaty of commerce, amity and navigation with Jugo-Slavia anda pact with Great Britain concerning common interests in Abyssinia. A treaty of commerce with Siam; an arbitration pact with Spain and one with Rumania, a treaty of commerce with Guatemala; a treaty of friendship with the Yemen (Arabia.)

"Black shirts, the work accomplished in four years is truly great but that is not enough. We have only started and much remains to be done. All this requires more time, more efforts, more sacrifices to change in its entirety the physical and moral aspects of our country. The slogan must always be 'discipline, concord, political moral intransigeance.'

Must Reform Morals.

"Having changed the laws we must reform our morals—those which remain from the old and petty democratic liberal Italy. These must be eliminated without compassion from our minds and destroyed forever. They manifest themselves yet under the guise of selfishness, profiteering, opportunism and other useless things.

"Fascists on the other hand must be the sanctuary of loyalty, disinteredness, probity, courage and tenacity.

"All those affected by this old malady must be banished from our army; they must be weeded out before the grain is harvested. They must perish so that our new aristocracy may live for the greater task of the morrow.

"Black Shirts! These tasks will find you ready. Today you are in arms in hundreds of thousands. Your bayonets not only represent the Government but the whole Italian people.

"We announce to the world this truth; the Fascist revolution comes from the moral patrimony of the Italian people and will maye Italy great."

An Uncompromising Banner Bearer.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE issue that determines my vote at the coming senatorial election is the prohibition issue.

I seldom take stimulants in any form, and to be entirely denied the right to use alcoholic beverages works no hardships on me. But I am now and have always been, and will continue to be bitterly opposed to prohibition. It is immoral in principle, is evil in practice and is a highly unwarranted interference by the State with the freedom of the citizen. As far as the majority of the inhabitants of this State are concerned, the eighteenth amendment was fastened upon them in direct opposition to their legally expressed will at the polls and in contravention of the then and now constitutional provision of the State of Missouri, Section 3, Article 2, which provides:

> "The Legislature is not authorized to adopt, nor will the people of this State ever assent to any amendment or change of the Constitution of the United States which may in any wise impair the right of local self-government belonging to the people of the State."

The ballot is the only peaceable weapon available to a citizen who desires to secure a repeal of an unjust law. Any question that the voter is called upon to determine by his ballot is a political question. To deny this, or to seek to differentiate the prohibition question from other political questions is plain political claptrap.

Before the campaign began I believed that Senator Williams would take a determined stand against prohibition, and on the assumption that he would, wrote to him in the spring of this year that I would be glad to do what I could to insure his election. But as the campaign progressed and I saw him more and more surrender what I believed to be his convictions on the liquor question to what he considered the expediencies of the campaign, I determined to vote for Mr. Hawes at the coming senatorial election and shall do so, and I urge all those of my fellow citizens who are opposed to prohibition to do likewise.

If Senator Williams believes that there is a legal obstacle to entire repeal of the Volstead law—which there is not—why does he not state what such obstacle is. There is no legal obstacle to a repeal of the Volstead law, and the legal effect of such repeal would be the practical abolition of national prohibition, and there is no legal or moral reason why a Senator of the United States should not vote for the absolute repeal of the Volstead act.

If Senator Williams believes, as his speeches indicate he believes, that the ends desired by those opposed to prohibition cannot be gained by legislation, then, in my opinion, he is not a proper person to represent that element in the Senate of the United States. If he is of opinion that there is no legal obstacle to a repeal or modification of the Volstead act, but that it is improper for a Senator of the United States to vote for its repeal or modification as long as the eighteenth amendment remains on the statute books, then, in my opinion, he is an improper person to represent the anti-prohibition element in the Senate of the United States. If he is of opinion that there is no legal obstacle to a repeal or modification of the Volstead act, but that it is useless to endeavor to elect Senators who are opposed to the Volstead act, because in any event there will remain a sufficient number of dry Senators who will outvote the wet Senators, then he is not a proper person to represent the wets in the Senate of the United States.

I grant you that Mr. Hawes does not go as far as I should like to see him go in the direction in which I am going, but at least he is going in my direction and is not afraid to say that that is the direction in which he is going. He agrees with me that something can and should be done to modify the Volstead act, while the position of Senator Williams seems to be, as near as his position can be ascertained from various statements he has made of it, that the entire question is not one for him to decide, because it is not a political question; that even if it were a political question and he had to decide it, he would not do so, because it is such a plain question that his constituents can decide it for themselves without any advice from him, and that when they have decided it and advised him of the decision reached, he will carry out such decision, but for fear that some method might be found by which the decision of the people might be made clear to him during the campaign, his latest utterances on the subject prefer the request that the people do not make the decision now, but that the same be postponed until two years from now, when he is not a candidate for office, and when the next presidential election will have been a thing of the past.

That is not the sort of a Senator that militant anti-prohibitionists, such as I am, desire to have represent them in the Senate of the United States. Respectfully yours, EDGAR R. ROMBAUER.

THE KLAN IN POLITICS.

The investigation by Senator Reed into the political activities of the Ku Klux Klan in Indiana was brought to a climax by evidence that Senator Watson is a member of the klan and carried in his pocket a passport from Imperial Wizard Evans entitling him to all the rights and privileges of citizenship in the Invisible Empire.

Former klansmen testified that Senator Watson was the life of the klan. He, it was said, revived it after the Stephenson debacle, and the klan devoted its energies to his re-election. The prime duty of Indiana klansmen was to support Senator Watson.

It was brought out that the klan was actively engaged through General Counsel Zumbrunn and others in trying to influence the Senate, and particularly to obtain the election and seating of candidates favorable to klan purposes. The klan picked candidates wherever they thought there was a choice between them.

The important point in these revelations was not the testimony that Senator Watson worked with the klan and the klan worked with him. His relations with the klan affected merely the political fortunes of one man. The significant thing was the klan's object and purpose through the election and seating of Watson and others to obtain control of the Senate. It is a fair presumption, although nothing has been done along this general line, that the activities of the klan were directed to the control of the entire Congress and other departments of government. The country had an exhibition of its power and purpose to control the Democratic nomination for President.

The revelations in Indiana give new and intensified significance to the political activities of the klan in other states where its leaders select candidates and urge klansmen to support them.

In Missouri the klan has revived its activities for the purpose of controlling the election of a United States Senator in this State. Through Grand Dragon Campbell the klan has openly avowed its preference for Senator Williams over his Democratic opponent Harry B. Hawes, who denounced and has persistently fought it as a menace to American institutions from its beginning. The klan hopes by its control of the balance of power through the votes of its members to elect the candidate it has indorsed.

Senator Williams has denied any connection or sympathy with the klan. Nevertheless, its indorsement stands. His election would be hailed as a victory for the klan and would tend to strengthen its power and influence in the State.

What klan power means in municipal, state or Federal government has been demonstrated. It means the setting up of secret, invisible government, in which the rights, liberties and welfare of all the people are sacrificed to the interests of the klan. It means the proscription of citizens on account of race, religion or color. It means lawlessness and corruption, violence and crime.

The Ku Klux Klan has been scotched but not killed. It is a menace to American free government, a menace to every citizen whose rights and liberties its places in jeopardy. Every time it shows its head it should be struck down. If it is not crushed, constitutional government will perish.

INSTANCE NO. 437,642A.

Anna Komarmicka has had the misfortune to fall afoul of our immigration authorities, and faces deportation. Unlike Countess Cathcart, whom they barred because of moral turpitude, and Countess Karolyi, who was kept out because of her alleged dangerous opinions, at the special instance of the State Department, Miss Komarmicka must go because she was robbed of her pocketbook in Paris. It contained her re-entry papers.

It matters not that she has lived in this country since 1914 and only left it this spring to visit her sick father in Poland; that she has taken out her first citizenship papers and that second papers are pending; that she was assured by the U. S. consulate in Paris she would have no trouble in re-entering the country; and, finally, that she proved to the satisfaction of a board of special inquiry that re-entry papers had been issued to her. Miss Komarmicka must go.

On Nov. 4 she sails for Europe to vindicate the rules and regulations as interpreted by the heavy-witted bureaucrats. Official stupidity in the Komarmicka case reaches great heights; but there have been worse cases. Families have been disunited, women torn from their husbands, children from their mothers. At Ellis Island, the banner of red tape is supreme. It takes precedence over justice, sense, courtesy and decency.

No exclusive club is as childish and picayunish over admittance to its membership as the great Government of the United States is over who shall enter this country when one jot or tittle of the official mummery has not been complied with.

ALEXANDER AT HOME.

In the time of the original Alexander it was customary for the victor to have a triumph at homecoming. Upon these occasions, with all Macedonia looking on, the pibroch booming and cheering that rocked the very mountains of Greece, the matchless youth who conquered the world headed the pageant of homecoming with the various Eastern potentates he had taken lugubriously tied to the tail of his chariot.

Not so, but albeit none the less gloriously, another Alexander went home to his triumph this week at St. Paul, Neb. He drove no chariot. No conquered Kings were dragged through the streets to suffer the taunts of the crowd. St. Paul had a barbecue. It killed the fatted calf. Thousands of home people and folk from the country about crowded in to slap the conqueror of the Yankees upon the back. Just as Macedonia remembered another Alexander when he was riding a wooden Bucephalus, so Nebraska remembered when this Alexander was a telephone lineman.

So, after all, a matter of more than 2000 years doesn't make much difference to a homecoming Alexander. He is that kind of a man.

BANK FAILURES IN MISSOURI.

Some of the reasons that Missouri has had 182 bank failures since 1923 were given by C. E. French, former Finance Commissioner, in a speech before the Missouri Bankers' Association.

It is too easy to organize a bank in Missouri. Mr. French thinks the Finance Commissioner should be given greater discretionary powers in granting charters. He should be permitted to refuse charters to banks not needed, which are to be manned by irresponsible persons or are to be used as convenient borrowing places for enterprises in which bank officials are interested.

The minimum capital of banks should be raised from $10,000 to $25,000. Nearly half the bank failures since 1895 have been of banks capitalized for $10,000 or less. So small a capital constitutes inadequate protection for depositors and creditors. Such banks cannot afford to employ capable officers, their average salary being $50 per month. The loss of one large loan might prove disastrous. Stockholders and directors have too slight an investment to be vitally interested in the bank's business.

The banks of Missouri are not subject to adequate supervision. There are 1356 banks and trust companies to be examined, and only 22 State examiners to go around. It is a physical impossibility for such a small force to cover the ground.

Many bank failures have been caused by injudicious loans on real estate. Loans on real estate should be secured by a first lien thereon, and the law should be changed accordingly. There should also be a provision limiting real estate loans.

Some of these ideas and others have been embodied in a plan for the reconstruction of the Missouri banking code, drafted by a subcommittee headed by B. T. Hurwitz, former blue-sky commissioner, and designed for submission to the Legislature.

We do not know whether the French-Hurwitz program would end the shocking condition of banking in Missouri, but we are sure it will improve it considerably. Even if most Missouri bank failures are "honest" ones, the great volume of them constitutes a scandal and a disgrace.

HAVE POETS LOST PRESTIGE?

When Alexander destroyed the city of Thebes he left one house standing. It was the home of Pindar the poet. Alexander, a pupil of Aristotle, loved the odes of Pindar.

Have poets lost prestige in the world since then? Not everywhere. Proof of that has just come from Mexico in a story of the counter revolution against Obregon. In a skirmish between Obregonistas and revolutionaries the former drew about a tree from which shots had been fired. There was an enemy up there, and the soldiers maneuvered about like squirrel hunters trying to spy him. Suddenly a head was thrust through the leaves.

"Don't shoot! I am a poet!" cried the sharpshooter.

The soldiers instantly grounded their arms, got the fellow down, hailed him in the name of Mexican letters, and took him off with them to eat and drink.

From which we make out that almost 2500 years have not very much damaged the prestige of poets.

CHECKED PRICE-FIXING MONOPOLY.

It took less than a year for the American rubber consumers to break the back of the British Government rubber price-fixing monopoly. The British Government refused to modify its export control of rubber and release raw rubber in quantities sufficient to bring down the excessively high price.

The American consumers' and our Government's protests on this subject went unheeded so with the price of rubber soaring to $1.21 per pound in 1925—the grower produces it for 15 to 18 cents per pound—the American buyers and manufacturers got together and pledged themselves to reduce their purchases of crude rubber to a minimum; to use more reclaimed rubber and to improve the wearing quality of their products.

This intensive co-operative drive against unfair prices has met with success. Though we have manufactured 2,500,000 more automobiles this year, the raw rubber purchases have shrunk 120,000,000 pounds. The life of tires has been subtantially increased, and the rubber goods repair business has been increased 37 per cent. The price of raw rubber is now 40 cents per pound. The experts estimate that this price is still costing us $240,000,000 a year more than we should pay on a fair basis.

Why not apply this economic thumbscrew, which has proven itself fairly successful in the case of rubber, to others of the eight remaining essential commodities which we are forced to import, and which are now controlled by foreign Government price-fixing monopolies? By this process it is evident we have some hope of causing foreign price-fixers to see the error of their ways.

THE ARTISTIC WAY TO THE BALLOT BOX.

I love to go to symphonies; to music I incline;
An Irish curse on politics—to blight a love of mine;
I sit and listen by the hour to music that is good,
I'll stay at home and play the sax if I'm misunderstood;
By voting in a certain way, I'm sure to see the show,
But my whole evening would be spoiled if I should dare to go;
If I should vote to see the show, some enemy might say:
"And did you vote for Chouteau, friend, or did you pay your way?"

With amateur theatricals I'm more or less obsessed,
They're always certain of a hug to my artistic breast;
But why must politics come in to cause a deadly row
Between me and this love of mine which speaks a lofty brow?
But why must politics intrude to steal my love from me
By telling me just how to vote to see a good show free?
This chance remark, if heard by me, would spoil an Ibsen play:
"And did you vote for Chouteau, friend, or did you pay your way?"

A lecture—any subject—I am certain to attend,
The hours I spend at lectures are the happiest I spend;
No labored theme deters me, for a lecture's my delight,
No theme of talk's beneath my ken, and none too recondite;
But when I go to lectures, on the theme alone I dote,
I would not care to listen just because I chanced to vote;
No lecture causes wrinkles, but this speech would turn me gray:
"And did you vote for Chouteau, friend, or did you pay your way?"

Queen Marie, it is said, is an author. We doubt it; in fact, we'll be quite frank and say we do not believe it. On seeing Niagara Falls, she said, "Wonderful, wonderful, wonderful!" Just like that! The same word repeated three times. We have heard more than that said of vanishing cream. We have become more enraptured than that over products of the culinary art. "Wonderful, wonderful, wonderful." Bah! Two bahs! Three bahs! What about Niagara Falls is wonderful? Nothing! Positively nothing! Absolutely nothing! Niagara Falls, but what is there to stop Niagara from falling? If Niagara did not fall, there would be cause for wonder. Wonderful! No longer need we wonder that California is not to be visited. Imagine the feeling of a native son in the presence of one who could only think to say "Wonderful!"

The MIRROR o PUBLIC OPINION

NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENTS.

FREDERICK PALMER in Scribner's Magazine for November.

IT HAPPENED that I was with him (Richard Harding Davis) and Medill McCormick when, in the course of the American occupation of Vera Cruz, we were arrested at the frontier railroad station on our way to Mexico City, where Huerta still ruled. As we were marched away to the Quartel under the escort of a squad of grubby, undersized little soldiers in blue jeans, Davis was in front, I was next and McCormick brought up the rear. If Davis had to endure this humiliation, he would have preferred well uniformed, smart-looking, life-sized fighting men for guards. "Isn't it about time that we did something" he called back over his shoulder. He was itching for us to join in a rush to overpower the escort. "We don't want to be drawn into this soldier-of-fortune stuff, Dick," McCormick warned him. At the Quartel, as Davis looked around at the white walls of the compound his quizzical fancy expressed its curiosity as to which one we should be lined up against for the execution according to precedent. "You're smallest, Medill," he told the future Senator and irreconcilable. "They will take you first, then if they give Palmer and me time to write the story, all will not be lost."

AUTOMOBILES AND PROSPERITY.

From the New York Commercial.

AS AGAINST the suggestion on the part of a good many who claim to be sound economists that we, as a nation, are moving too rapidly, that the people are buying too many automobiles, radios, homes, and enjoying too many luxuries, a firm of Nashville bankers takes quite the contrary view. Its position is that we need more automobiles, radios, homes, etc. In a current bulletin it says: "It has recently been estimated that the present annual cost of automobiles and the allied industries—oil, garages, road building, etc.—is about $15,000,000,000 that is a stupendous sum. It alarms the timid. But it simply represents so much labor. If this labor were not employed in building automobiles, producing oil, building roads, etc., it simply would not be employed at all, so we should have to face $15,000,000,000 of idle labor. Just because automobile production is absorbing surplus labor on a scale never before known, we have had the longest period of sustained prosperity in the history of the country. * * * There is nothing alarming about the automobile situation, and it will not be if we have double the present number of machines."

CENTENNIAL OF THE ERIE CANAL.

From the Washington Post.

ONE hundred years ago this month the waters of the Great Lakes were joined to the Atlantic Ocean through the completion of the Erie Canal. * * * The celebration of 1926 is a very tame affair compared with the original ceremony. The formal opening of the great "State ditch" marked an epoch. It brought the products of the grain fields and the mines of the Northwest to the seaboard, and was the corner stone, so to speak, of the empire which has since been built up between the lakes and the seaboard. The men and women of today can have no conception of what the canal meant to the pioneers of 100 years ago.

apolis Mayor a Klansman.

r. Reed's examination of John G. Duvall of Indianap- nished some amusement. Mayor submissively ad- that he was a member of the klan, and that when, following his election, he received a summons from Evans to appear at Washington, he obeyed it without even knowing the purpose. It developed that Evans wanted to instruct him to appoint former Judge Charles Orbison as corporation counselor of the city. Duvall said he didn't appoint Orbison, because he was a Democrat, but understood he was "taken care of" by the klan in another way.

Mayor Herbert Males of Evansville was another pilgrim who made the same trip. Both Mayors admitted that they were reimbursed out of the klan treasury for their expenses on this journey. James Bolen, former "grand kligraph," had previously told of paying out $400 for the expenses of the Mayors and several others.

The final puncture was administered to the fanastic story related last week by Republican Chairman Clyde Walb, who charged that $8,000,000 had been subscribed at a meeting of millionaire pacifists in New York City, for the purpose of defeating Senators Robinson and Watson because they had voted against the World Court. Walb gave Mark Winings of Elwood, Ind., as his authority. Winings testified yesterday.

He said he never made the statement, and that the only information he had on the subject was a letter from Prof. Irving J. Fisher of Yale University, stating that a meeting of the League of Nations Nonpartisan Association had been held at the Belmont Hotel, and that several contributions of $10,000 each" had been made. This, however, was to meet the league's expenses throughout the country.

Testimony as to Robinson.

The testimony which linked Senator Robinson with the klan was given by George W. Meyers, former "grand knighthawk" of the klan, who said Senator Robinson had addressed a closed meeting of the klan, and added, in reply to a question, that only klansmen could enter a closed meeting.

At the close of the session Senator Reed announced that no further hearings would be held until after the election, next Tuesday, and that if Senators Watson or Robinson desired any further opportunity of presenting rebuttal he would accept affidavits from them.

He indicated that he might make another effort after the election to examine Mrs. Vivian Tracy Wheatcraft on her activity in behalf of Senator Williams in Missouri, as well as on that for Senator Watson of Indiana. After being excused from testifying on the ground that to leave her bed in the hospital here would endanger her life, she departed for Indianapolis without notifying Senator Reed and is in a hospital there.

Denial by Robinson.

An affidavit from Senator Robinson of Indiana denying that he is now or ever was a member of the klan was received by Senator Reed last night and it will be made a part of the committee's record. Testimony that it was "generally understood" that Robinson had been a klansman was given to the committee at Kansas City last Monday by R. B. Bradford.

"I am not a member of the klan nor was I ever at any time a member of that organization," Robinson's affidavit said. "I am not acquainted with Mr. Bradford, but I am informed that he was opposed bitterly to my candidacy in the primary and that he supported Mr. Graham, one of my opponents.

"His statement is absolutely false and is evidently maliciously made, to injure me in this campaign. I was in Gary last Saturday and there learned that he had been making threats against me.

"The fact that I have never been identified with the klan is well and generally known to everybody."

"Fabrications of Office-Seeker," Says Watson.

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 29.—A statement by William M. Rogers, Indianapolis klansman, that Senator Watson of Indiana carried a Ku Klux Klan membership card in 1924, was branded as an "infamous lie" by Watson yesterday.

Watson characterized Rogers' assertions as "fabrications of a disappointed office seeker."

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

THE lovely stately home of Mrs. Samuel M. Kennard at 4 Portland place will be thrown open for two hours this afternoon for a reception at which society will meet her attractive Titian-haired granddaughter, Miss Anne Kennard Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brookings Wallace of Pershing avenue. The occasion will be her second appearance as a popular debutante, for she was chosen a special maid of honor to the Veiled Prophet Queen, and she will make her formal bow at a formal dinner dance to be given by her parents at the St. Louis Country Club Dec. 17.

Quantities of pink roses have been combined with palms and ferns to decorate the house and form a background for the receiving party, and roses and delphinium will adorn the tea table.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 29.—Efforts are being made today to find relatives of Mrs. Fanny Gage, 72 years old, once a well-known opera singer in Seattle, Wash., who died in obscurity here. WILLIAMS CITES REED'S INACTIVITY ON VOLSTEAD ACT luncheon talk at the City Club yesterday, discussed national economy, the tariff, agricultural and waterways. In telling of his work in the Senate, he called attention to the fact that he is the only member of the Senate Committee on Commerce who is from the Mississippi Valley. The others are from the Atlantic or the Pacific coast, except that one is from the Lake Erie section of Ohio. He spoke of the measure, which he has been supporting actively, for a 6-foot channel in the Missouri River from Kansas City to Sioux City, Ia. Such a channel, he said, would have an important influence on transportation rates, even if it were not actually used.

GOVERNOR OF GUAM WINS SUIT

Court Directs Verdict in $50,000 Action for Barring Agitator.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—A Federal Court jury has found for Capt. Waldo Evans, U. S. N., in the $50,000 damage suit brought against the naval officer by Samuel S. Ripley of Richmond, Cal., on the ground that Evans, as Governor of American Samoa, refused to permit him to land there. Lieut. W. A. MacDonald, U. S. N., retired, was named in the suit with Evans, but was not made a defendant.

Evans was sent to Samoa after his predecessor, Gov. Terhune, had committed suicide. He held that Ripley was an agitator and, therefore, was not wanted in the island, to which Capt. Evans was trying to restore stability after a period of unrest. The verdict was returned upon instruction of Judge Cliffe, who presided during the week of the trial.

College credit will be allowed for both courses.

Anecdotes That Held Crowd In Hall for 34 Minutes Until Senator Reed Came Democratic City Committee Uses "Larry" McDaniel In Manner Like That of the "Supper Turn" in a Vaudeville Show.

LAWRENCE McDANIEL, former Circuit Attorney, and a Democratic candidate for Circuit Judge, has been employed by the Democratic City Committee, in the campaign just closing, as prefatory speaker, to keep crowds good-natured until the principal speakers arrive. His function is like that of the "supper turn" in a vaudeville show.

At a hall on Chouteau avenue the other night, "Larry" had to entertain a river-ward assemblage for 35 minutes, while Senator Reed was on his way to the building.

"What'll I talk about?" he said, just before the meeting. "I'm not going to get up and abuse the Republicans. I need a lot of them to vote for me."

"Tell them some stories, Larry," said former Internal Revenue Collector George H. Moore, the chairman, and he introduced McDaniel to the crowd with a highly praiseful talk.

"Hennessy and Dolan."

"That introduction," McDaniel began, "is like the talk that the Irishman made to the Mayor of Chicago. When Carter Harrison was Mayor up there, he had a telephone call from a ward politician. 'This is Hennessy,' the man said. 'I'm sending my friend Dolan up to see ye. I want ye to give him a good job. Dolan's a power in this ward, and a fine gintleman.' The Mayor said he would see what he could do for Dolan. Soon afterward he had another telephone call.

"'This is Hennessy again,' was the message. 'Whin Dolan comes up to see ye, have the porter throw him out. He's a big bum.'

"'But you said just now he was a fine gentleman.'

"'Sure I did, but that was when he was sittin' here listenin' to me.'"

This went well, and "Larry" was encouraged to tell one on Moore, who is of large girth.

"George and I were out in the country last summer," he related, "and he wenated to take a short cut across a field. He saw the farmer coming, and thought he better ask permission. 'Can I go through this gate?' George asked the farmer.

"'Well,' said the farmer, 'I should think you might. A load of hay just went through.'"

One on Mestres.

By this time Joseph Mestres, Democratic city chairman, had taken a seat on the platform, and "Larry" turned the next tale upon him.

"Joe and I were out in Colorado," he said, "and we hired a guide to take us up one of the highest mountains. We climbed for hours and finally we stood on the summit, puffing and panting. Just then the guide exclaimed, 'Oh, I forgot to bring the glasses!' 'Never mind,' said Joe. 'We'll just drink out of the bottle.'"

"There's Sergt. Pete McGauley," said McDaniel, spying a police figure in the back of the hall. "Pete and I were out in Franklin County for a trial, and on Sunday morning we went to church. After awhile the collection box came around and Pete, true to his training, just turned back his coat and showed them his shield."

The cue for the next flight of fancy was taken from posters, hanging about the hall, announcing the candidacy of Justice Edward Rice, one of the very few Democratic officeholders in St. Louis for re-election.

Parliamentary Justice.

"There was a suit in Ed Rice's court," McDaniel romanced, "and the defendant had a lawyer, while the plaintiff didn't. The lawyer got up and said, 'Your honor, I move this suit be dismissed.' Ed thinking of the ward club meetings where he used to preside, said, 'It has been moved that the case be dismissed. Do I hear a second?' The lawyer nudged his client, and the man said, 'I second the motion.' 'Moved and seconded that the case be dismissed. All in favor say aye.' The lawyer and his client said aye, and when Ed called for the noes, there was only one no, from the plaintiff. 'The ayes have it,' said Ed. 'Case dismissed.'"

At this point "Larry" digressed to say a little about his own candidacy. "I admit I would make a fine judge," he said. "I can't say that I am making a great sacrifice in running for this office, and I can't say either that there was a loud public call for me to be a candidate. In fact, I listened for a call, but couldn't hear anything. And if I'm not elected, the world will go on moving, and perhaps life will be pust as happy for everyone, with the possible exception of myself."

The connection of the next story was not very clear, except that the scene was before a judge.

"'What brought you here?' said a judge to a prisoner.

"'Two policemen, your honer,' said the man.

"'Drunk again?'

"'Yes, both of them.'"

Only a Few Left.

By this time "Larry's" stock of anecdotes was running low, but he managed to remember one about two traveling men, and another about the man who called at a pet-animal shop and asked for 30,000 cockroaches. The clerk said they didn't keep cockroaches in stock, but had powder to kill them. He asked the man what he wanted the roaches for.

"'Because we're moving out of our flat,' said the man, 'and the lease says we must leave the place just as it was when we moved in.'

"That also reminds me"——

But at that moment Senator Reed appeared in the back of the hall. "Come down to the Courthouse after the first of next January, and I'll tell you the rest of it," was "Larry's" farewell.

$354,200 PROFIT ON POTATO CROP OF MAINE FARMER

154,000 Barrels From 1100 Acres Sold at $4 Per Barrel; Production Cost $261,800.

By the Associated Press.

PRESQUE ISLE, Me., Oct. 29.—A deal in potatoes involving a profit of $354,200 is announced here. Walter R. Christie, known as one of the "potato kings" of Aroostock County, sold the crop from his 1100 acres and said the profit was approximately $2.30 a barrel. The yield was virtually the same as last season.

At an average yield of 140 barrels to the acre, Christie harvested 154,000 barrels, which sold at $4 a barrel, or $616,000. He estimates the cost of producing the crop at $1.70 per barrel, or $261,800.

In spite of the good prices for potatoes this season, many farmers of the district declare they are not yet "on velvet," taking into consideration three years of low prices prior to 1925. The high prices of last year, they said, enabled the farmers to pay off old mortgages.

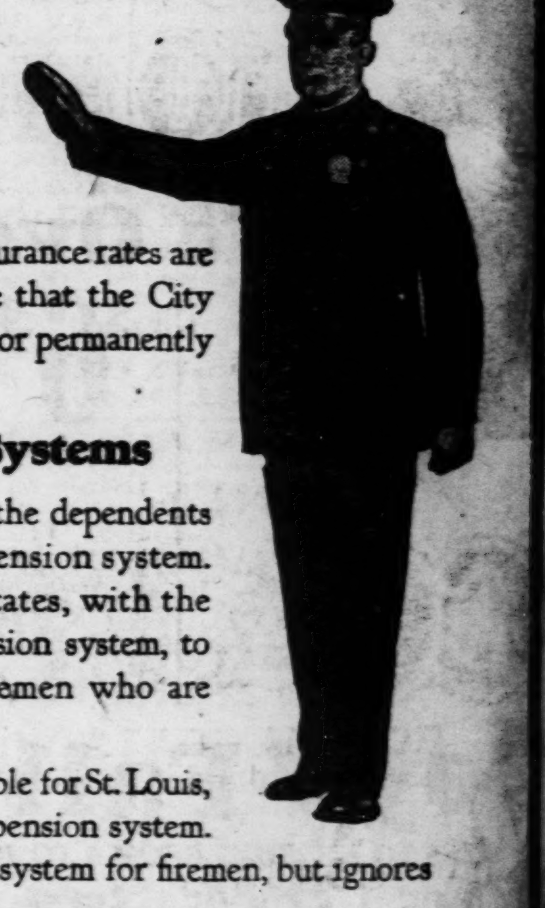
What of His Family?



Day after day the policeman risks his life in the protection of life and property. He may be the mark for a bandit's bullet at any time. He may be killed or permanently disabled.

But what of the wife and kiddies dependent upon him? His salary is comparatively low. His work is extra-hazardous—so much so that insurance rates are practically prohibitive. Is it not simple justice that the City provide for his dependents, in case he is killed or permanently disabled?

Other Cities Have Pension Systems

The United States Government provides for the dependents of its soldiers killed in service, through a pension system. Practically every large city in the United States, with the exception of Missouri cities, has a police pension system, to provide for the wives and children of policemen who are killed or permanently disabled.

But Constitutional restrictions make it impossible for St. Louis, or other Missouri cities, to establish a police pension system. The Missouri Constitution permits a pension system for firemen, but ignores the police.

57,939 Missouri Voters

Signed initiative petitions to place Proposition No. 2 on the November 2nd ballot, to remove these Constitutional restrictions. Proposition No. 2 will permit the establishment of a reasonable police pension system. It will enable St. Louis to provide for its policemen who are permanently disabled in the performance of duty, and to provide for the widows and minor children of police officers killed in the performance of duty.

WOMEN APPLAUD PRISONER ON TRIAL FOR MAIL FRAUD

Accuse Federal Attorney of Trying to "Railroad" Man in Florida Deal to Prison.

When Arthur J. Thorpe of Chicago went on trial in Federal Court yesterday on a charge of using the mails to defraud in seeking partners for a Florida home-building enterprise, two women sat with his lawyer, Verne R. C. Lacy, to assist in the defense.

The women, who said they were members of a society for criminal justice, but declined to reveal their names, said they became interested in Thorpe when they visited the city jail, where he has been held in default of bond since last February.

The principal aid lent Lacy by the women was applause, by hand clapping, of every question by Lacy which they thought scored in favor of Thorpe. At the close of the day's session they made a concerted verbal attack on Assistant District Attorney Stattler and Postoffice Inspector Noah, declaring Thorpe had not been allowed sufficient time to summon witnesses in his behalf from Chicago and Florida, and was being "railroaded" to prison.

The complaining witness in the case is William W. Worley, a drug clerk, who testified that he gave Thorpe a certified check for $400 after Thorpe had shown him a check for $800, drawn on the Mercantile Trust Co., and had assured him he would mail both checks to the Texas Lumber and Supply Co. in payment of $1200 worth of building materials for Florida bungalows. Officials of the bank testified Thorpe had no account there, and officials of the lumber company testified he had not ordered building materials.

PRESIDENT OF POLICE BOARD SPEAKS FOR PENSION PLAN

Tells Optimists Club City Would Benefit by Replacing Older Men With Young.

Speaking in support of Proposition No. 2, an enabling act which would clear the way for legislative action on police pensions, Col. Allen C. Orrick, president of the Board of Police Comissioners, reminded the Optimists Club today that 60 out of 68 cities of more than 100,000 population in the United States pension their disabled police or families of slain policemen.

He pointed out that a police pension system in St. Louis would result in greater efficiency of the police force, as many old or disabled officers are kept on the payroll for humanitarian reasons. Under a pension system, these officers would be retired and their places filded with younger men.

If the proposition carries, it will serve to nullify the provision in th State Constitution forbidding pensions, in so far as that provision applies to the pensioning of police. All cities of Missouri would be affected.

The Building Trades Council of St. Louis, at a recent meeting, unanimously indorsed the police pension enabling act.

COURT ANNULS MARRIAGE BECAUSE OF OTHER HUSBAND

Ferdinand Koenig, 20, Offers Evidence to Show Wife Was Not Divorced.

The marriage of Ferdinand Koenig, 5103 Delmar boulevard, to Mrs. Forrest Dawson-Harris-Bollinger, 20 years old, was annulled yesterday by Circuit Judge Pearcy after Koenig had presented evidence to show that his thrice-wedded bride already had one legal husband when he became No. 3.

Elmer E. Bollinger, 5181 Delmar boulevard, testified he was married to Mrs. Forrest Dawson-Harris, Jan. 24, 1925, in Clayton, and that he obtained an uncontested divorce three weeks after she had become Mrs. Koenig, which was Oct. 17, 1925.

Husband No. 1, Carl Harris, a drugfist, was divorced by the defendant in yesterday's suit less than two months after their marriage on New Year's day, 1923. Harris was not a witness yesterday.

Koenig told Judge Pearcy that until recently he believed himself to be his wife's only husband. His suit was not contested.

ALBINO ROBIN HAS RETURNED

An Albino robin has been sighted at Shaw's Garden this fall—lone survivor, apparently, of a brood o' three partial albinos which haunted the walks there a few years ago.

This one was seen in late September last year, again last spring, and has been hopping among the rare plants once more in the last few weeks. "He is very heavily marked with white over the head and shoulders," records the October bulletin of the garden, "a bright, startling white, which gives him the appearance of having stuck his head in the flour barrel."

MOTHER AND SON USED IT WITH WONDERFUL RESULTS

Father-in-law's Advice to Use Nature's Herb Laxative Known As Herb Juice Proved to Be the Turning Point to Better Health—Now they Are Healthy, Happy and Feeling Fine.

"Everyone had to learn, but my teaching was an exceptional one, not only in money but in time, as I wasted a lot of both trying first one thing then another in the hope of getting something that would restore my health. After all, it was good fortune to find just what I needed in Herb Juice," said Mrs R. L. Sander, 3944 Botanical avenue, St. Louis, Mo., in a recent interview with the special representative of nature's famous Herb Laxative known as Herb Juice.

MRS. R. L. SANDER AND SON

"I began using your medicine after being urged to do so by my father-in-law who had used it with such exceptional results that he said he was sure it would help me." And in telling of the great benefits obtained from this medicine, Mrs. Sander further stated: "It certainly was a lucky day for us, myself, husband and little boy who have been wonderfully blessed in health as result of taking the herb remedy. Constipation, liver and stomach disorders, also impure blood and all the ills and symptoms that accompany these ailments, this is what we had to contend with and to endure, and to find a suitable medicine, in fact, the only one to relieve these ailments and restore us to good health is something to be thankful for indeed. As a laxative, regulator and body builder, I believe Herb Juice is superior to anything sold today and I have no hesitancy in telling about what it has done for me and mine. I can look back now and see that I wasted a lot of time and money experimenting with other remedies, and what they failed to do in years, Herb Juice has done in a surprisingly short time. Due to the natural and very effective action of this medicine I have been relieved of my ailments, so has my husband and little boy, and now I do not believe anyone could possibly take more pleasure in recommending it than I do. I have already recommended it to many of my friends and neighbors and they tell me that they are having the same good results with it, and I am quite sure that any sufferer of constipation, impoverished and rundown system will find in Herb Juice the best means of regaining their health. At least I think it was my good fortune to learn of this medicine when I did, for it has saved much expense and unnecessary suffering. I am sure, I have found it to be just recommended and am very thankful for being advised to take it."

Don't fail to see the Herb Juice man direct from the Herb Juice laboratories, who has established headquarters at Walgreen's Drug Store, 514 Washington avenue, and learn more of this great medicine that has relieved thousands of people right here in St. Louis. This great Herbal Extract remedy called Herb Juice now selling at the rate of a million bottles yearly.

TELL THRILLING STORIES OF RESCUE OF 28 FROM SHIP

Crew and Passengers, Awakened by Crash Impact, Dazed by Acid Fumes in Flight.

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 29.—Stories of the thrilling rescue of the 25 members of the crew and three passengers of the steamer Louisiana, sulphuric acid laden freighter, which was sunk after being rammed amidships at the mouth of the Mississippi River, were related here last night by officers and members of the crew.

The Madison, sister ship of the Louisana, whose bow crashed into the other, arrived with the crew of the Louisiana. The members of the Louisiana crew, many of whom were asleep, awakened by the force of the impact and suffocated by acid fumes, had difficulty in making their way to the pilot boat, Underwriter, which sped to the scene of the accident.

Compass Inspector F. O. Smith of the Louisiana said he was awakened by the shock.

"Rushing on deck," he said, "I found the crew stunned by the impact of the Madison which had driven a great hole in the port side 20 feet from the prow. The ship was sinking fast. A steel girder broke loose and skidded across the deck, striking First Mate Adams. It broke his leg.

"It looked as if everyone was going down with the ship. Luckily, the pilot boat ran alongside at that moment, and lines were lowered from the perilously sloping side of the Louisiana, from which the 25 members of the crew and three passengers were lowered.

"Before all the members of the crew had gone down to the tug, flames were leaping 50 feet in the air. The sulphuric acid had taken fire and there was a series of explosions which shook the ship from stem to stern."

One man, believed to be Charles Cooten of New Orleans, who dived into the water, is missing.

FIANCEE OF M'CLINTOCK TO CONTEST VALIDITY OF WILL

Attorneys for Isabelle Pope Announce Decision After Probate Is Ordered by Illinois Court.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 29.—William Darling Shepherd's long fight for the $1,000,000 estate of his 21-year-old ward, Wiliam Nelson McClintock, entered a new phase when the Illinois Supreme Court handed down a decision yesterday ordering that the will be admitted to probate.

Attorneys for Miss Isabelle Pope, the fiancee of young McClintock, announced that a Chancery Court suit to break the will would be filed as a result of the decision.

Shepherd, who was tried and acquitted of a charge of murder in connection with McClintock's death, was the principal beneficiary, under the will, which also directed that he pass to Miss Pope an annuity of $8000.

During Shepherd's long trial Miss Pope testified that she had agreed with several McClintock cousins not mentioned in the will upon an attempt to break it. She would share "50-50" with them, she said.

McClintock died of typhoid fever and the State contended on the murder trial that Shepherd had administered typhoid germs soon after McClintock had signed the will, and shortly before the youth had announced his engagement to marry Miss Pope.

The Court's decision did not deal with the validity of the will, but held merely that it should be admitted to probate.

"Undue influence is not within the realm of the inquiry," read the decision.

Mrs. Shepherd was named a coguardian of young McClintock and the Shepherds went to live with him when he was a child, a relationship maintained for 15 years.

The will was signed by two domestics as witnesses in the McClintock-Shehperd home.

NEW PROCESS IS DISCOVERED FOR MANUFACTURE OF RUBBER

Electrolytic Principle Employed Is Said to Preserve Resiliency of Raw Material.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—A new process, promising a complete change in methods of compounding, milling and vulcanizing rubber, has been developed and will be applied commercially by a newly formed corporation, it is announced. American Anode, Inc., which made the announcement was organized and is controlled by the B. F. Goodrich Co., the Eastman Kodak Co., and the Anode Rubber Co. of Great Britain.

The principle of the patented process is the electrolytic deposit of rubber on an anode, which serves as a mold or form. Since it is claimed the method will retain to a greater degree the original resiliency of raw rubber, it is believed it can be applied to the manufacture of automobile tires.

The process is the discovery of Dr. Paul Klein of Budapest, and Drs. S. E. Shepherd and L. V. Eberlin of the Eastman Laboratory.

Negro University Students Ousted.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 29.—Approximately 750 students at Johnston C. Smith University, an institution for negro men here, today were preparing to depart for their homes as a result of a dispute with the faculty. The trouble is said to have grown out of expulsion of six freshmen and a demand by the students that they be reinstated. Announcement was made by John Williams of New York, spokesman for the sophomore class, that the freshmen, sophomores and juniors had ignored a demand by H. L. McCrory, president of the institution, that they return to class by 9 o'clock this morning or stand automatically expelled.

WOULD REMARRY FIRST WIFE

Chicago Man, 63, to Seek Divorce From Second Wife.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—That he may be reunited in marriage with his first wife, with whom he lived happily for 35 years, Jacob M. Morin, 63 years old, will seek a divorce from his second wife, who is 40 years old and from whom he is already separated.

The second Mrs. Morin took her husband into the Court of Domestic Relations, declaring she was willing to let him go back to his first wife if some financial adjustment could be arranged for her benefit. The former Mrs. Morin also was there. She indicated that, although she, too, was married the second time, only by divorcing and remarrying her first mate could she regain happiness.

CYRUS THOMPSON, 81, RETURNS FROM HUNT

Belleville Man Got Only Deer on Eighteenth Expedition Into Canada.

Cyrus Thompson, mighty hunter of Belleville at 81, is inclined to philosophize. He and his son, William A. Thompson, 51, returned yesterday from their fifteenth season in New Brunswick, after bagging two deer each, the legal limit a bobcat and an assortment of small game, but no moose.

It is no good to suggest to the white-haired nimrod that even one moose is enough thrill and conversational matter to last many men a lifetime. Thompson has only to point to a record of 18 hunting ventures in the wilds of Canada in which, as he put it, he "was never skunked yet."

"Many of our friends have said they would like to go with us," Thompson remarked, glancing around at trophies and photographs in his office in the Harrison Machine Works, of which he is president and his son vice president. "I'm mighty glad they weren't this year, for most men would have been disgusted. They would have had a right to be disgusted.

"We were old hands, though, and we understood that unavoidable conditions made it so. We took it as part of the game. That's what moose hunting is. Sometimes conditions are favorable, but in most cases you have to work hard for your moose. I remember in our first moose hunt, in 1903, as I recall, we had just 14 days to spend in the wilds, and killed our moose on the last day."

Hampered by Bad Weather.

"There were not five good hunting days in the 23. The sun would rise clear and pretty as you please, and then, within two hours, it would cloud up. In another hour, maybe, it would be raining. We could protect ourselves from the rain as it fell, but coming back through the brush would get us as wet as though we had waded through the river.

"The boys would spend rainy days playing solitaire to find out what luck we would have the following day, while I would doze in front of the fire.

"When it's sunny and pleasant the moose will come down to the lakes and water-courses and barrens, but in nasty, chilly weather like that tehy hug the 'poor man's overcoat,' the dense woods. Twenty years ago we could have followed them into the deep woods over timber roads.

"Since they've quit cutting timber up there, however, the country actually has become wilder. Those roads now are a regular maze of fallen trees and undergrowth, and a man would make so much noise climbing over and between trees he'd scare all the game away.

Spotting a Moose.

"Two successive mornings I saw a fine young bull moose in a lake where I killed one last year. We watched him put his head under water for five, 10, maybe 20 seconds, nosing around and gathering roots. Once I counted 43 seconds he had his head clear under water. Then he would come up chewing, and look all around for danger. We could have edged up on him in those intervals until we were as near as to that shed"—he pointed to a building 40 yards distant—"but when we put the glasses on him we saw he had no antlers, but only spikes. He wasn't worth going after, and besides, it's against the law to kill a young moose.

"My son, Will, also saw a bull and two cows, but that was about all. Will also shot a 'bob-cat,' which is very destructive to deer. It weighed about 60 pounds, some 40 pounds more than a lynx we killed two years ago."

Killed First Bear Last Year.

Thompson, the elder, realized an ambition of a half century of big game hunting last year when he killed his first bear. This year, he said, one of the guides wounded a bear, but rain obliterated the trail so that they were unable to track it down.

"If we go next year I think we'll choose a place less remote from civilization," he said. "The place we went this year, and for 14 years before this, is 25 miles from the settlements, and, if 'Jordan is a hard road to travel,' it's nothing to this. I've seen both.

"Last year the road was blocked by a snowstorm. This year, on the second day of the trip from camp to the settlements, an axle broke. The guides, who are extraordinarily resourceful, cut a 'drag,' a stout sapling which they ran under the wagon from the front axle to rest on the ground a few feet in the rear, and took the wagon in on three wheels over 10 miles that literally was half under water."

100 ACRES FOR ROSE GARDEN

Two Chicago Florists Buy Tract for Greenhouses.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Plans for the world's largest rose garden were announced by two commercial florists with the purchase of a 100-acre tract near Chicago, on which greenhouses sheltering nearly 1,000,000 square feet of rose plants will be erected.

The two florists already have two 20-acre gardens growing premier roses, which they say have displaced the American Beauty in public favor. Millions of these blossoms are shipped from Chicago every year. The climate and soil here, florists say, is most favorable to roses, though all the commercial production is under glass.

Alaskan Women Adopt Opera.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—The score of "The Chilkoot Maiden," Eleanor Everest Frear's new Alaskan opera in English, has so taken the fancy of the women of Skagway that they hope to produce the opera each year there during the tourist season, letters to Mrs. Frear say. Mrs. Howard Ashley and other women of Skagway wrote that they hope to "make the opera as much of an institution of Alaska as other festivals."

MOROCCAN PRINCE MARRIED AMID ORIENTAL SPLENDOR

Mulai Idriss Is Attended by 1000 Horsemen on Ride to Palace Where Bride Awaited.

By the Associated Press.

MARRAKECH, Morocco, Oct. 29.—Oriental splendor surrounded the wedding ceremonies which united Mulai Idriss, son of the Sultan of Morocco, to the daughter of El Glaowi, pasha of Marrakech and the most powerful lord of the Atlas district.

The religious ceremony was held yesterday. The royal bridegroom, escorted by hundreds of magnificently caparisoned horsemen, rode into the palace, where his father, the sultan, and the bride awaited. He entered to the crash of thousands of rifles and the discord of mingled native and European bands.

As the party disappeared within the walls, the gates were barred, for the long and elaborate ceremonies must be held in strictest privacy. Outside, on the vast parade grounds, another scene was taking place.

The famous Black Guards kept back the immense and enthusiastic throngs, while wave after wave of horsemen executed intricate maneuvers. This continued until everything was obscured by the dust and the waning daylight.

It was the climax but not the end of the rejoicing which began last Sunday, for at night the fetes especially reserved by tradition to the women folk were inaugurated. About 10,000 women residents entered the palace walls, there to sojourn and feast for 10 days.

The bride and bridegroom are not participating in the festivities at the palace together, Moslem law requiring them to remain away from one another in the day-time for seven days.

By the Associated Press.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 29.—The various municipalities of Manitoba will share in the distribution of $1,315,185, representing the net profits of the Manitoba Liquor Commission for the year ending April 30 last, it was learned today. The provincial Government's share is about $700,000. The gross revenue of the commission was $3,745,377.

The "Damage Suit" Vulture

Using the misfortune of fellowmen as a means to fatten their own pockets, "ambulance chasing" damage suit lawyers, like vultures, swoop down on injured workmen. Greedy damage suit agents fill the ears of the injured workman (in many cases only minutes after the accident) with exaggerated tales of large sums to be secured as a result of his injury.

Only 6 States Tolerate the "Damage Suit" System

Missouri is one of 6 states (and the only industrial state) that continues to pay the excessive cost of this system.

It costs the consumer and taxpayer several million dollars each year by clogging the court dockets of this State with thousands of unnecessary suits, simply to enrich the damage suit ring which fosters this evil practice with highly paid runners, evidence getters, solicitors and ambulance chasers.

You—the taxpayer—you pay for it in increased taxation. Every year it takes its toll from you.

One hundred and ninety damage suit cases recently examined were not settled for an average of two and one-half years. Two and one-half years your courts were clogged with these and other similar cases.

Two and one-half years for an injured workman to wait for an award—and then he had to share it with a damage suit lawyer.

Two and one-half years to do what a Workmen's Compensation Law would do at once—without a law suit—and without a penny cost to the taxpayer.

The "Damage Suit" System Must Go

Support your Legislature November 2nd,—Vote "YES" on Proposition No. 1, the Workmen's Compensation Law passed by your elected representatives.

Proposition No. 1 will not cost the taxpayers a penny. The cost of operating and administering the law is collected from the insurance companies through a 2% charge against the employers' liability insurance premiums.

It does not apply to the farmer or small merchant as the law specifically exempts all non-hazardous occupations.

Proposition No. 1 is a law that requires employers in hazardous industry to immediately care for their employees hurt in factory accidents. It definitely sets the amount to be paid for each injury.

It assures the injured worker free hospital, surgical and medical aid.

Every employee is assured a living income as long as he is unable to work, without expense to him, without a lawsuit, without delay, without expense to the state.

Don't Be Tricked By Proposition No. 3

Special interests have seen to it that you have a chance to be confused and tricked out of a Workmen's Compensation Law.

You will find on your ballot Proposition No. 3, a counterfeit Workmen's Compensation Law. It was put there BY PETITION. Canvassers were paid from 10c to 25c for each name they got signed to this petition.

Proposition No. 3 WAS NEVER SUBMITTED TO OR CONSIDERED BY YOUR LEGISLATURE. It was FRAMED UP by special interests to confuse the voters and kill the act passed by your Legislature.

PROPOSITION NO. 3 PUTS THE STATE OF MISSOURI in the Insurance Business.

It takes $4,000,000 OF THE TAXPAYERS' MONEY from the State Treasury to start a STATE INSURANCE FUND, and it creates a new bureau of MANY HIGHLY PAID political appointees.

IT WILL INCREASE TAXATION AND DRIVE BUSINESS OUT OF MISSOURI.

E BORED AT FUNCTION LLS FOR COUPLE OF BEERS

Associated Press.

SSELS, Belgium, Oct. 29.— Charles, second son of King dislikes "functionary" as- The Prince was pressed service as "royal representa- at a soccer game during a of his brother Leopold to holm, where Leopold was courting his fiancee, Princess Charles rather disliked it. at the stadium gate by the master and escorted to the royal box, Prince Charles listened in a bored manner to the welcome and finally said somewhat testily:

"My brother Leopold is courting and, in order to go and see his girl, he turns over all these jobs to me."

It was a hot autumn day, but the Prince's words somewhat chilled the elderly Burgomaster, who said apologetically:

"Your Royal Highness, we appreciate your presence here very highly. It was very amiable of you to accept our invitation. Is there anything that we can do for you?"

Running a parched tongue over his lips, the Prince, catching sight of a waiter, replied:

"Yes, order us a couple of beers. I am about dying of thirst."

MISS MARTHA DYER, DAUGHTER OF CONGRESSMAN, IS MARRIED

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. — Miss Martha Dyer, daughter of Congressman and Mrs. L. C. Dyer of St. Louis, was married at the home of her parents here yesterday to Dr. Daniel J. Collins of Glenn Falls, N. Y. The ceremony was performed by Father John L. Gipprich of Georgetown University, from which the bridegroom was graduated this year with a degree in dentistry. Mrs. Collins is a 1924 graduate in medicine from the University of Michigan.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of lanvin blue crepe roma and velvet, and she carried a bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. H. C. Verwoort of Schenectady, N. Y. Robert O'Connor of Glenn Falls was best man.

The drawing room in which the marriage took place had an arrangement of white chrysanthemums and ferns, and butterfly roses were used in the dining room. After the ceremony there was a wedding breakfast and later Dr. and Mrs. Collins departed for Los Angeles. Later they will go to San Francisco and sail for Shanghai, China, Nov. 6, where Dr. Collins will practice dentistry.

Mrs. Collins traveled in a dark blue coat trimmed in gray fox, with a small hat to match. Mme. Sze, wife of the Chinese Minister, was among the guests. Those from out of town included the bridegroom's father and brothers, John J. Collins, Fred Collins and J. Burke Collins of Glenn Falls. Other guests were the secretary to the President, Everett Sanders; Judge and Mrs. Oscar Bland and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Anderson.

TRIAL OF SUIT INVOLVING $3,500,000 ESTATE ORDERED

The suit of Ehrhardt W. Franz of Baxter Springs, Kan., for an accounting of the $3,500,000 estate of his father, E. D. Franz, which grew from a $3100 "flyer" in Burroughs Adding Machine stock, will be tried again in Federal Court.

The suit was dismissed on a technicality in January, 1925, when Federal Judge Davis upheld a motion by the defendant, G. A. Buder, trustee of the estate, that all heirs of the elder Franz should have been made parties to the suit. The United States Court of Appeals sustained Judge Davis.

Then Ehrhardt Franz filed an amended petition to meet the objection. Yesterday the Court of Appeals directed Judge Davis to conduct a trial on the amended petition. The court also directed that Buder be enjoined from continuing with a suit in Circuit Court to settle conflicting claims of the heirs.

SUIT TO PADLOCK HOTEL WHERE MAN WAS KILLED

East St. Louis Federal Court Issues Temporary Injunction Under Dry Act.

Action to close the St. Clair Hotel, 225 Missouri avenue, East St. Louis, under the nuisance clause of the Volstead act, was started yesterday in Federal Court when a temporary injunction prohibiting the sale or possession of intoxicating liquor on the hotel premises was granted by Judge Lindley, on application of District Attorney Baker. The injunction writ is returnable within 20 days.

Baker's action follows the killing of George Canepa, 37 years old, of 3716A Connecticut street, during a party in the wine room of the hotel Oct. 20. Testimony at the inquest disclosed that liquor was served at the party.

The hotel has been raided frequently by police and was the scene of the fatal shooting Oct. 14, 1925, of a man and woman in a row.

"Eats" Play the Big Part At Halloween Parties

Goodies Like Apples, Nuts and Cider Make the Festival Such a Different Sort of an Occasion.

HALLOWE'EN, like all other festival days, brings certain good things to eat with it. Since the institution of the feast day nuts, apples and cider have played the most important part in celebrating Hallowe'en. Probably menus for this day will always feature these popular articles of food. Baskets of red ripe apples, bowls of rich-flavored nuts and jugs of delicious cider, nothing could after all, be more appealing for an afternoon gathering or an evening party.

Why not plan an old-fashioned Hallowe'en party? Make use of one or more of the following suggestions and provide enjoyment enough for all.

Of course, the Hallowe'en repast should be served in a proper setting. And here, again, we should do all we can to make use of what nature provides, autumn leaves and flowers, and pumpkin jack-o'-lanterns.

We can add to these natural decorations such fascinating black and yellow paper things as can be had in nearly any shop at this time of year. These will give the right color touch.

Refreshments may be either simple or elaborate. Take your choice of these menus which provide both types of refreshments. Observe apples, nuts and cider play important parts in all the menus.

As Hallowe'en brings with it spooks and ghosts and hobgoblins, games based on the future state, form a big part in a Hallowe'en celebration. So here are some suggestions for entertaining guests at an old-fashioned Hallowe'en party.

Fairy Boats.

In a tub of water launch little half walnut-shell boats, each one with the name of a boy or girl written on it. Stand in the center of each boat a tiny lighted candle. If two boats float together, those persons surely will marry. If the lights burn brightly their lives will be happy and unadventurous.

Your Fortune.

Apples are usually given preference when one wishes to determine his fate. Each guest is given an apple and requested to peel it without breaking the skin. Swing the paring above the head and let it fall to the ground. The letter formed predicts the initial of the future life partner's name. If the paring breaks, it means that the person will not wed.

Apple Ducking.

This is an old Hallowe'en sport. In a tub filled with water place the apples, to the stems of which are tied with blue or red ribbons cards bearing the names of the guests present. The girls' names are tied with the blue and the men's with red. The players try to extricate the apples with their teeth. The name on the slip is the name of the future husband or wife of the one securing the fruit.

Apple Game.

Suspend apples across the doorway by means of strings. The guests try to catch the apples between the teeth; the one successful is awarded the prize.

Another version of the game is to suspend a short stick from a string. On one end place an apple; on the other a little sack of flour. While the stick is revolving each one has a turn to try to bite the apple. The one who firsts succeeds in biting the apple is adjudged the prize winner. This game creates much laughter, as the guests receive daubs of flour in their faces while trying to reach the apples.

Accompanying Foods.

Broiled hamburger steak with onions, hashed browned potatoes, string beans, tomato salad with French dressing, and steamed blueberry pudding.

Deviled crabs, potato salad, corn on the cob, peach rolypoly, crackers and cheese.

Fricasee of calf's heart, stuffed potatoes, cauliflower, lettuce salad and plum Bavarian cream.

Broiled chops, baked potatoes, peas, stringbean salad and rice souffle with apples.

Mixtures cntaining a large amount of molasses or sugar burn very easily and should be baked in a moderate oven.

Sauce.

Mix one-half cup cream with three tablespoons fine bread crumbs. Add three tablespoons season to taste with a little salt and a little dry mustard. Heat over hot water. Just before serving add one tablespoon vinegar.

OLD-TIME CAKES ARE IN HIGH FAVOR

Grandmother's Family Cook Book Is Being Culled for Cake Recipes.

One of the surprising trends of modern cookery is the return of the old-fashioned rich home-made cake, rich in materials and delicious in taste and flavor. The following recipes are for cakes which were popular with cooks of two generations ago.

Delicious Orange Cake.

Rub thoroughly to a cream two cups of sugar and two-thirds of a cup of butter, adding three eggs beaten separately. Squeeze the juice of two large oranges into a cup, adding enough water to fill it. Stir this into the mixture, together with three and a half cups of flour, two even teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar, one of soda and a little of the orange rind, grated. Bake in layer tins. For the filling use one egg, yolk and white. Grate a little of the orange rind into this and the juice of half an orange, adding sugar enough to thicken.

Chocolate Marble Cake.

One heaping cup sugar, one-third cup butter, one egg, one small cup milk, two small cups flour, one and one-half teaspoons yeast powder. Take one-half of the mixture out into another dish and mix one cake of melted chocolate with it; flavor the light with vanilla; put one spoonful of the light, then one of the dark, into the pan until used up. Frosting—One cup powdered sugar, one and one-half tablespoons milk, one-half teaspoon strawberry flavoring.

Gold and Silver Cake.

Three cups of sugar; six cups of flour, two cups of butter, eight eggs, half a pound each of raisins, currants, citron and almonds, two light spoonfuls of baking powder. Mix as usual, and bake in a regularly heated moderate oven. It is a delicious cake.

PLANNING MENUS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Balanced Meals Result From a Knowledge of Food Values.

AS winter approaches, the meals for the week will necessarily take on certain changes. Breakfast fruits will be pretty much divided among baked apples and pears, stewed canned fruit and either grapefruit or orange juice. Although eggs are now expensive, they are used occasionally as, for example, Sunday breakfast. Note that the eggs served on Sunday are poached in tomato sauce. This adds materially to the food value, the rich vitamin content of the tomatoes added to the body-building material of the eggs makes a very well-rounded dish.

Note that the Sunday dinner begins with an appetizer rather than soup. It is a good thing to keep in mind the value of occasional variation of this first course by judicious use of these relishes. The canape is only one type of introductory appetizers. Other types are fruit cocktails and sea foods such as oysters and clams.

Usually, there is a special effort made in planning menus largely made of vegetables to keep the general food value high.

Speaking of corn soup, the corn pudding served at Thursday luncheon is another example of a nourishing dish made from this vegetable. In fact, corn pudding is typical of a group of hot vegetable dishes which may serve as the main dish of any luncheon or supper.

Raisin bread is featured at luncheon and it is well to keep in mind the value of dried fruits—raisins, dates and figs. The addition of any of these fruits will add materially to the nutritive value of a meal.

Raisins, for example may be served at breakfast, stewed in the form of a fruit course.

Again, keep an eye to the necessity of keeping up the body-building side of the diet when vegetable meals are served.

Notice that a vegetable salad appearing at Saturday luncheon is served with cheese puffs.

Roll Jelly Cake.

Four eggs, one cup of sugar, one cup of flour, one teaspoonful baking powder, a pinch of salt; mix all together and pour into a large tin. When baked spread jelly on and roll it.

Sardines Are Not a Luxury, But An Important Food

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.
United States Senator From New York,

ONE of the great questions confronting humanity is the ultimate source of the food supply. It has long been believed that the ocean would be depended upon in the future for a large portion of the protein food. Some recent discussions on this subject indicate that animal life in the ocean is rarely met far distant from the shores.

This means in all probability that the earth furnishes the material necessary for the feeding of the denizens of the ocean. The streams flowing into the ocean carry the organic material needed by the fish to make them thrive. On this account they linger near the shore or at the inlets of these streams.

The hazards of ocean life are such that only the fit survive. It may well be, then, that the ocean is not so capable of furnishing an unlimited supply of protein food as we once supposed it would.

I have long complained that fish have not been more commonly included in the American dietary. The flesh of the fish is the sweetest and in many respects the most valuable of protein foods. Some day fish markets will be open daily instead of once a week as is the case at present.

In recent years tinned fish have become very popular. Among the original articles of this sort are canned sardines.

In the beginning of the popularity of sardines, they came wholly from abroad particularly from France and Italy, a good many came also from Norway and Portugal.

The Mediterranean swarms with the particular form of fish known to us as the sardine.

In recent years the canning of sardines has become an American industry. Canneries are found on both coasts, although different varieties of fish are used. A small herring is found on the Atlantic Coast, while on the Pacific a fish similar to the Mediterranean fish is found.

The fisheries are very interesting. In netting these tiny fish it happens sometimes that as many as a hundred thousand will be taken in one haul.

The fish are very carefully dressed, placed in a strong brine, and then dried in the open air. After this they are immersed in boiling oil. Then they are canned, sealed, and finally immersed in boiling water for several hours. In this way the flesh is cooked and the bones are softened.

The oil used in the preparation of sardines may be olive oil, although in modern times peanut oil and cottonsed oil have been employed.

Sardines must not be considered as a luxury. They are an important protein food. In addition to this, since the bones are eaten, they furnish lime and phosphorus.

No one need be afraid to consume reasonable quantities of sardines. They are wholesome and nourishing.

(Copyright, 1926.)

Fried vegetables are delicious, raw tomatoes, eggplant, squash or cold boiled turnips may be simply rolled in flour and fried in butter.

Dried apricots are another wholesome and delicious fruit that is not used as much as it deserves to be. Apricots of the better grade are especially well-flavored. The secret in preparing them is to soak them for a long time in water before cooking so that they regain the necessary amount of moisture.

Stuffed Turnip

A new salad has for small, tender turnips, cooked green peas, nut meats, one-half cup ery, one head lettuce fourth cup French one cup mayonnaise.

Cook and season small scrape sides with fork fancy edge; scoop out with mixed peas, nuts and chopped and moistened French dressing; place on leaf and top with turnips and mayonnaise colored to match the scheme.

Beef cecils, Bechamel creamed potatoes, succotash, salad and peaches and cream.

Salisbury Steak.

one pound of beef through the meat grinder. Season with a teaspoon salt, a few grains pepper and two tablespoons onion juice. Shape in small rounds about one inch thick and broil in a fine wire broiler. When well browned place on a hot platter and keep warm while preparing the following sauce.

SWEET POTATOES SERVED MANY WAYS

This Vegetable Is Being Elevated in Cookery, to a Pinnacle.

The average housewife seldom stops to consider the possibilities of the sweet potato. There are numerous delightful ways of cooking and serving this vegetable yet the easiest way of cooking the vegetable, baked or boiled, is the way it is most frequently served.

The following recipes will indicate how versatile sweet potatoes really are if we but give time to trying out some new ways of preparing them.

Stuffed Sweet Potatoes.

Bake six even-sized sweet patatoes, cut in halves lengthwise and scoop out most of contents. Mash thoroughly, seasoning with two tablespoons butter, one teaspoon salt and juice of one orange. Beat in one-fourth cup chopped nuts and fill the potato shells. Put two marshmallows on top of each filled shell and brown under the broiler flame.

Sweet Potato Boats.

Bake sweet potatoes until done, cut in halves lengthwise, and remove the inner portion with a spoon. Mix with salt, pepper, butter, a little cream, and some finely minced cold meat. Refill shells, heap up a little, and bake in a moderate oven until browned, about 10 minutes.

Georgian Sweet Potatoes.

Season mashed boiled sweet potatoes with butter, salt, pepper, and a few drops of lemon-juice. Moisten with cream and beat five minutes. Put in a baking dish, leaving a rough surface. Pour over a syrup made by boiling two tablespoons molasses and one teaspoon butter five minutes. Bake in moderate oven, until delicately browned.

Candied Sweet Potatoes.

Peel and boil sweet potatoes in salt water, when done drain and put in baking dish and pour over then one-third cup butter and one-half cup syrup and two tablespoons water. Put in oven and bake one-half hour, basting often.

Sweet Potato Croquettes.

Mix mashed sweet potatoes with salt, pepper, sugar and one well-beaten egg. Beat the mixture well. If it seems too stiff add a little hot milk. Shape into croquettes and roll in bread crumbs, dip in beaten egg diluted with water and roll a second time in the bread crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat until a nice brown. Take out of fat and drain on unglazed paper.

Pumpkin Preserves.

Pumpkin chips are very nice. Select a nice pumpkin, pare it and slice it, taking out the seeds, cut it into slices like potato chips, as thin as possible, and as near one size as you can. Add to every pound of chips one pound of loaf sugar and a gill of lemon juice. Before you squeeze your lemon, cut off your yellow rind, grate and mix with your sugar. Lay the chips in a preserving kettle, porcelain lined, and sprinkle between each layer of chips the sugar and pour over it the lemon juice. Cover the kettle and let it stand until morning. Next day put it on a slow fire and let it simmer until the chips are tender and transparent; take them out of the kettle with a perforated skimmer and put on a large flat dish, and after they are cold put into jars and the syrup which you must leave to boil while the chips are cooling must be poured over them. Put them away as you do preserves, and when you try them you will pronounce pumpkin chips as good as potato chips and as nice as many kinds of preserved sweetmeats.

Sausage and Apple.

In the center of a roasting-pan place sausages. Let them cook for two or three minutes, then pierce each one with a silver fork. Core tart apples and surround the sausages with them. Return to the oven and allow to cook till the sausages and apples are well baked. Baste the apples and sausages frequently with the juice from the apples and with the grease from the sausages.

Tuna fish and pimientos may be combined in sandwiches, salads or hot dishes with very pleasing results both as to flavor and appearances.

A little cornstarch added to the salt in the salt cellar will prevent hardening. Proportions are half a teaspoon of cornstarch to two teaspoons of salt.

Instead of frying bacon, it may be baked in a shallow pan in a moderate oven. It will be more crisp. Freshen ham in milk instead of water and the milk may be used to make a very rich gravy.

Don't let everything depend upon your cooking method. The most ingenious cooking won't make inexpensive, wilted, old, or imperfect vegetables taste right.

The use of fruit in making bread, biscuit and muffins is increasingly popular and much to be recommended. Date and nut bars are especially good, and easily made.

Hot muffins and griddle cakes will be enjoyed by the men folks of the family.

Strained Cranberry Sauce

Cranberry Mold

4 full cups (1 quart) cranberries, 1 level cup boiling water, 2 level cups granulated sugar. (May be spiced with ¼ teaspoon powdered cinnamon or clove, or both mixed if liked.) Place berries in enamel saucepan with 1 cup boiling water and simmer gently for 15 to 20 minutes, stirring frequently to prevent sticking. When berries are reduced to a soft pulp, strain through as fine a sieve as possible. To this hot pulp add 2 cups sugar and return to saucepan. Stir, then boil rapidly for from 5 to 8 minutes—until a spoon of the mass "jells" as it drops away from the spoon. Turn at once into a wetted glass or crockery mold. Chill.

Eatmor Cranberries

Try Cranberry Mold for a change. A smooth, strained cranberry sauce that "sets" like jelly. Its bright, sparkling red dresses up the table. Fine for cutting into cubes for salads. Makes a delicious filling for pies, tarts, jelly rolls and shortcakes. Delicious with all meats, hot or cold. See recipe at left.

THE TONIC FRUIT. Cranberries are rich in elements that tone the system, balance diet, aid digestion.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

Palatable Dishes Which Will Be Enjoyed by the Family.

This is a very simple dish that will take the place of both salad and dessert. Slice the bananas and pour over them a mixture of lemon juice and powdered sugar. The sweetness of this dressing is to depend on the taste. Be sure that you do not slice the bananas very long before they are to be served.

Lamb Chops.

Use French chops about one-half inch in thickness. Trim the bone and set aside while you prepare the artichoke. Remove the choke and leaves using only the bottoms. Have ready the broiled chops and place them on the artichoke bottoms and serve with Bernaise sauce.

Egg Dressing.

Three egg yolks, one-half cup vinegar, three tablespoons sugar, one and one-quarter teaspoon mustard, one-half teaspoon butter, salt and pepper.

Beat the egg yolks and add the butter. Combine the other materials and add to the egg mixture. Cook in a double boiler until thick. Pour over the cabbage salad while the dressing is hot. Let cool and then chill on ice.

Ambrosia.

Three oranges, one-half cup grated cocoanut, one-quarter cup confectioners' sugar.

Peel and slice the oranges. Have ready a glass pudding dish and fill with alternate layers of orange and a mixture of cocoanut and sugar. Set aside until thoroughly chilled before serving.

Casserole Duck.

Three cups beefsteak, juice of one lemon, one teaspoon mace sauce, one-quarter teaspoon celery salt, one small bottle stuffed olives, one teaspoon kitchen bouquet, one-half cup brown sugar, one pound white onions.

Prepare the duck by splitting down the back. Place flat in the casserole. Make a mixture of beef broth, chopped olives, the juice of one lemon and seasoning. Pour this mixture into a saucepan, and simmer with the sliced onions and duck. Add the other ingredients and cool slowly until the duck is so tender that the meat will cook away from the bones.

Brioche.

One-half yeast cake, one-eighth cup sugar, four cups sifted flour, one-quarter cup butter, one-quarter cup warm water, one-quarter teaspoon salt, three eggs.

Dissolve the yeast cake in warm water and add sufficient flour to produce a soft dough. Drop this ball of dough into a pan of warm water and cover and set aside for an hour. Toss the rest of the flour on a board. Make a hole in the middle and in this place the sugar, salt, eggs and butter. The eggs are to be broken whole. Knead the mass with the hand until smooth, then work in the yeast. Beat until the dough is smooth and spongy. Place in the bread pan and let rise to double its bulk. Set on ice over night. In the morning shape, let rise again until double in size. Brush the top with egg and bake in a hot oven.

Spaghetti Chicken Livers.

Boil until tender, one package of spaghetti, then drain and finish with butter and grated Parnesan cheese. Peel and wash eight fresh mushrooms. Cut them in six pieces each. Heat two tablespoons of butter in a sauce pan, add finely chopped onion. Let brown slightly.

Then put in the mushrooms, stir unttil all moisture is evaporated and the butter turns clear. Then add one tablespoonful of flour. Stir [illegible] minute, then moisten with one-half pint of stock or gravy and two tablespoonsful of tomato sauce or two small ripe tomatoes, peeled and cut in small pieces.

Let the sauce cook for about fifteen minutes, then season to taste with salt, pepper or paprika. Have four chicken livers cut the size of the mushrooms. Heat a tablespoon of butter in a frying pan, season the livers with salt and pepper and fry them over a brisk fire from two to eight minutes. Then add them to the sauce, let it come to a boil and take the pan from the fire. Dish up the spaghetti on a platter and pour over it the sauce with the livers and mushrooms.

Open Sandwiches.

1. Put equal measures of raisins and nuts through the meat chopper moistened to a paste with cream. Spread on buttered bread that has been cut in strips or fancy shapes with small cutters. Decorate each with a nut hat or a bright cherry.

2. Put one-half pound of American cheese and one-half cup of stuffed olives through the meat chopper. Moisten with salad dressing, spread thickly on bread, cut in shapes and decorate with one-half stuffed olive.

3. Spread bread thickly with a mixture made of one pound grated cheese, seasoned with one-half teaspoon salt and paprika and mixed with one beaten egg. Add milk if necessary to make it spread easily. Put a slice of bacon on each sandwich and brown delicately under the gas flame. This should be served with coffee.

Persimmons are in market. While not ordinarily used in cooked dishes, you can make a delicious pudding out of persimmons. For the pudding, rub one pint of persimmons through a colander. Add one pint of sour cream, one-half cup of butter, two-thirds cup of sugar, two eggs, one teaspoon soda and one-half teaspoon each of cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg. Use flour sufficient to make a thin batter.

Mix ingredients thoroughly, bake in pudding pan in moderately hot oven. Serve with whipped cream or a hot custard sauce.

PORK BY-PRODUCTS ARE SAVORY FOOD

They Oftentimes Form the Basis for Appetizing Hurry-Up Meals.

There are a great many pork products which it would not be possible to enjoy today were it not for the science of meat packing. Among these are scrapple, head cheese, pork sausage and other like products.

In the bygone days these articles of food were made by the farm wives on the farm. If the supply made was more than sufficient for family use, then the over supply was privately distributed. consequently, the city housewives of those days gave little consideration to scrapple and head cheese and sausage other than link and bologna.

Since the supply of pork by-products has increased, modern cookery has introduced them into the family cookbook.

Several recipes follow for dishes which are built around pork by-products.

Head Cheese Batter.

Slice off medium thick pieces. Dip them in a thin batter, and fry. Serve with sauce made from butter, vinegar, and mustard.

Scrapple.

Slice the prepared scrapple in medium slices, fry in hot fat on both sides, until golden brown in color.

Pork Hearts.

Slice the hearts thin, across the grain of the meat, roll them in flour, fry with little chopped onion in hot bacon fat. Place in casserole with a cup of hot water or stock; a bay leaf, and a chopped pimento. Season. Cook, covered, about two hours in moderate oven When almost done, drop discuit dough over the meat and bake till brown and done through.

Pork Liver Sandwiches.

Fry two or three slices bacon, chop with fried pork liver. Mix with just enough cooked dressing or mayonnaise to moisten it, season, and spread on buttered bread. On the other slice place a lettuce leaf and a sliced tomato. Serve the open sandwich, with 2 strips of hot bacon over the top.

Toasted Frankfruters.

Frankfurters may be toasted a delicate brown on the electric toaster. Set a tray under the toaster to catch any grease that may drip from the sausage while cooking.

Pork and Liver.

Cut one-half pound liver with the same amount of salt pork in little squares. Nearly cover with water, add salt and pepper to taste and small piece of onion cut fine and a little lemon juice. Thicken the gravy with fine breadcrumbs and serve.

SCHOOL LUNCHEONS

Nourishing Food Should Fill the Lunch Box.

Mothers who have children at school are always interested in menus for the school child's lunch-box. The following schedules offer several combination menus for school children's luncheons.

Packed Luncheons.

I.

Peanut butter and apple sandwiches made with whole wheat bread.

Jelly sandwiches made from whole wheat bread.

Cookies or sweet crackers.

Glass of milk or cup of cocoa.

II.

Raisin paste sandwiches made with whole wheat bread.

Cream cheese and jelly sandwiches made with whole wheat bread.

Slice of sponge cake or a cookie.

Apple or fruit of choice.

III.

Minced hard cooked egg sandwich with whole wheat bread.

Jam sandwich with whole wheat bread.

Graham cracker with cocoa paste filling.

Apple or fruit of choice.

Glass of milk or cup of cocoa.

ALUMINUM KITCHEN WARE

Some Advantages Claimed for Aluminum Cooking Utensils.

Because they promote good health. Food cooked in them retains all the valuable mineral salts, the priceless vitamines and other elements, so essential to building strong bone and muscle tissue. Because in them the natural food flavors are accentuated and retained and become an effective aid to good digestion.

Because of their efficiency. Heat is distributed more evenly and retained twice as long as in iron. They are easily cleaned and meet every cooking need.

Because of their economy. You pay for them whether you use them or not. Note the lowering of your gas bill and the saving in food. These utensils are built to last a lifetime; are rivetless, seamless, free from rust and corrosion.

Because of their good looks. They give a distinctive tone to the kitchen and a new and delightful satisfaction to the housewife.

Tomato Griddle Cakes.

Beat four eggs, light. Add one quart of tomatoes and three tablespoons of melted butter, pepper and salt to taste. Stir in cracker crumbs to make a stiff batter, then drop from a spoon on a hot greased griddle. Brown on both sides and serve at once.

Broiled Bananas.

Cut bananas in halves, lengthwise and crosswise. Broil until thoroughly hot. Place one tablespoon of the sauce on each round of meat and over this place a piece of the broiled banana. Garnish with parsley or cress.

Slicing Flour.

Fill a medium size bowl with flour and press down compactly. Turn it out on a square bread board in the middle of the table. On the top of the mound place a ring, very lightly. The idea is to slice away the flour without disturbing the ring. Each one in turn takes the broad bladed knife and removes a thin slice of flour. The person unlucky enough to knock down the ring must extract it from the flour with his teeth.

HELP YOURSELF TO HEALTH

W. K. Kellogg

Worn and weary—but not from work

ONLY a few months ago he was feeling fine. A full desk meant nothing more than a full day—a challenge which he eagerly accepted. Life was worth living then. . . . But now . . . now he seemed eternally tired, lifeless, exhausted. His head was dull and achy. Work was a frightful bore. Life was barren of interest. Where would it all end? . . .

In the work-a-day world there are thousands of men and women who suffer from constipation. They try this and that, forever seeking relief and seldom finding it. Yet there is sure, permanent relief from this insidious disease—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a safe, natural way of relieving constipation. It will drive the sluggishness out of the system and restore that vivid vitality so necessary to perfect health. It will do these things because it is ALL BRAN and not part bran.

As Kellogg's ALL-BRAN journeys through the system its fiber remains unchanged. It remains a bulk food, as doctors call it. Because of its bulk it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It stimulates the flow of digestive juices. It absorbs and carries moisture into the intestine and prompts it to natural, healthy action. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN works as nature works. You never have to increase the amount eaten. How different from habit-forming pills and drugs.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring permanent relief, or your grocer will refund the purchase price. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Its delightful nutty flavor makes it good as a cereal. Serve with milk or cream alone or with fresh or preserved fruit; with other cereals; in soups, cook in hot cereals, or in the recipes given on every package.

Beware of a part-bran product

Only ALL-BRAN brings sure results. A product which is only part bran can bring, at best, only partial results. Often none at all. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the original ALL-BRAN—a 100% bran product. That is why doctors recommend it. Your grocer sells it. Get a package today. Also served in all hotels and restaurants.

KNOW THE TRUTH ABOUT BRAN

To be effective, bran fiber must go through the various digestive processes without submitting to any of them. It must pass through the entire alimentary tract without its form being changed.

What happens when a bran food is eaten?

After the saliva has acted upon it, it passes through the stomach and into the intestines, where every part which is not fiber is absorbed.

In ALL-BRAN the quantity of fiber is so great that it furnishes bulk enough to prevent and relieve constipation.

In a part-bran food, the quantity of fiber is so small that there is only a puny amount to do a herculean task.

ALL-BRAN brings sure results. Demand it.

DELICIOUS WAYS OF USING CHEESE

Dishes containing a fair amount of cheese may be said to be rich not only in protein and fat, but also in calcium and phosphorus, since these elements are contained in the milk, from which cheese is made. Like any other food, however, cheese should be eaten with intelligence and not to excess. With ordinary precautions, it may be used as any other staple food, either alone or as a part of a combination dish.

In this connection, the following dishes made with cheese should be of interest to the home manager.

Cheese Asparagus.

A novel asparagus dish from overseas is made by boiling a bunch of asparagus, and after draining lay in a long baking dish. Cover the tips with small pieces of butter, and cover them with a cup of grated cheese; season with salt and pepper, then cover the ends with a piece of white buttered paper and put in a hot oven to brown. Serve very hot.

Cheese Cole Slaw.

One pint shredded cabbage, four tablespoons grated cheese, teaspoon salt, teaspoon brown sugar, one-quarter teaspoon paprika, tablespoon vinegar, few grains cayenne pepper, teaspoon prepared mustard, one-half cup sour cream, green pepper or celery tips. Freshen the cabbage by letting it stand in cold water. Dry between towels, mix together the cabbage and cheese, place all ingredients except cream in a bowl, mix well, then add cream, pour over the cabbage and garnish with pepper rings or celery tips.

Macaroni and Cheese.

Boil three-quarters of a pound of macaroni cut in inch lengths. Make two cupfuls of white sauce, using one tablespoonful each of flour and butter to one cupful milk. To the sauce add one and one-half cupfuls American cheese, put through the food chopper. Cook until the cheese melts. Add the macaroni, reheat and serve.

Grape Pudding.

Nearly fill a shallow buttered pudding dish with alternate layers of ripe seeded grapes and sugar then pour over a batter made of two well beaten eggs, one cup of milk, one-half teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of baking powder, one tablespoon each of sugar and butter, and flour to make a thick batter. Bake until well done and serve with cream and sugar.

NICE BREAKFAST DISHES

Diversified Ways of Serving Breakfast Cereal.

Here are two recipes for the morning cereal which should interest the housewife who has children to cater to in the daily menus. One of her problems is to make the morning cereal attractive to the children and these two recipes will help her solve her problem.

Oatmeal and Raisins.

Put the oatmeal on with three cups of boiling water and add the salt. This should be started while getting the dinner in top of double boiler; boil one hour; leave it on the range overnight. In the morning bring it to a boil and add the raisins, which have been washed and dried. It is economy to use the raisins with the oatmeal, as it will take less sugar and save the stewed fruit for breakfast.

Mush and Raisins.

Put one quart of water on in top of double boiler; when boiling add one and a half cups of yellow cornmeal, stirring slowly until it thickens; add one teaspoon salt and cover; boil slowly for two hours; then add half cup of seeded raisins which have been washed. Serve with milk. The cornmeal can be put on the night before and left on the stove or can be prepared in a fireless cooker.

OYSTERS IN SEASON ARE HEALTHFUL

Directions for Cleaning, Cooking and Serving This Palatable Seafood.

When bought in shell oyster must be thoroughly cleaned before opening, a brush being best for this purpose. To open shells, put a thin flat knife under the back end of the right valve and push forward until it cuts the strong muscle which holds the shells together. As soon as this is done the right valve may be raised and separated from the left.

When buying oysters by the bulk they should be thoroughly washed and picked before using. To do this, put the oysters in a strainer placed over a bowl, pour cold water over them, allowing one-half cup of water to each quart of oysters. Carefully pick over oysters, taking one separately in the fingers to remove any particles of shell which may adhere to the tough muscles.

Oysters on Half Shell.

Open oysters as directed, serving them on the deep half. Allow six to each person and arrange on deep plates filled with crushed ice—serve sliced lemon, grated horseradish, catsup and tabasco sauce with them—remembering that the tabasco is very hot and one drop is all many people desire.

Raw oysters purchased in bulk may be served as above, having ice cut in pieces large enough to lay the oyster on and garnishing the platter with fresh, crisp parsley.

Roasted Oysters.

These should be bought in shell, wash thoroughly with brush, place in dripping pan and cook in hot oven until shells part; open, sprinkle with salt and pepper and serve in deep halves of the shells. This is a delightful dish and highly recommended.

Oyster Omelette.

Fold in oysters, cut in halves, to omelet mixture, or add oysters to cream sauce. Follow directions given in plain omelet recipe.

Fried Oysters.

Drain twenty-five oysters in colander, then dip in fine breadcrumbs, laying oysters separately so as not to be on one another after they have been dipped in breadcrumbs the first time. Beat two eggs with two tablespoons of cold milk and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Very carefully lift the oysters with a two-prong fork and put in the egg; remove from egg and dip in coarse fresh breadcrumbs. Fry in dep, hot fat or oil (smoking hot); drain on tissue toweling or blotting paper. When all are fried, sprinkle with salt.

FANCY DESSERTS SATISFY GUESTS

By the time the dessert course is reached guests become critical. Therefore, it behooves the clever hostess to prepare pleasing desserts. Here are recipes for a few simple, but attractive desserts.

Fruit Tapioca.

Soak one-half pound of pearl tapioca overnight in one and one-half cups of cold water. Cover with three cups of cold water and cook in a double boiler until transparent, add one-half cup of sugar, the juice and grated rind of a lemon, and turn into small moulds. Chill in a pan of cracked ice, and then turn on a glass dish garnished with apricots and whipped cream, sweetened and flavored with chopped walnuts and vanilla.

Almond Custard.

Make a boiled custard with one pint of milk, the yolks of four eggs, four tablespoonfuls of sugar, and one saltspoonful of salt; when cold add one-half cup of finely chopped almonds and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Serve in glasses with whipped cream sprinkled with finely shredded almonds. In making a boiled custard the yolks give a smoother consistency than the whites. Beat the yolks with a spoon until smooth. In custard making it is the rule to use a tablespoonful of sugar to each egg To blanch almonds, pour boiling water over them and let them stand 10 minutes, drain and cover with cold water, then remove the skins. To shred almonds cut them in line lengthwise strips with a sharp knife.

Honeycomb Pudding.

Beat together one-half cup of sugar and a cup each of molasses and flour. Heat one-half cup of milk and one-half cup of butter, add one teaspoonful of soda. Combine the mixtures and beat thoroughly. Add four well-beaten eggs and beat again. Pour into a buttered pudding mould, and steam three hours, or turn into a dish and bake one and one-half hours. Serve with creamy sauce. This pudding is more successfully steamed than baked, as it requires a very slow oven and careful watching.

Poached Eggs.

Have ready a frying pan two-thirds full of boiling salted water, allowing one-half tablespoon salt to one quart of water. Break each egg separately into a saucer and carefully slip into the water, which should be made to revolve rapidly by stirring with a tablespoon. When there is a film over the top and the white is firm, carefully remove to pieces of buttered toast and season with butter, salt and pepper.

All chocolate cakes should be baked in a moderate oven, in order to insure a uniform baking effect. Thus, burning on edges, top and bottom is avoided.

MAHAN, SENNE AND HAYS TO BE BACKFIELD

Sooners Due Here in Time for Workout at Washington University Field, This Afternoon.

Brown	C.	Muldrow
Kurz	R. G.	Cooke

Duncan	R. E.	Brown
Hayes	Q.	Arbuckle
Mahan (C.)	L. H.	Hoskins
Senne	R. H.	Potts
Whittler	F.	R. Le Crone

Officials—Referee, McDonald, Brown U. Umpire, Mills, Missouri. Hean linesman, Lampke, Northwestern. Field judge, Kline, Missouri.

The Washington U. and University of Oklahoma football teams will meet at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Francis Field in a Missouri Valley Conference engagement. The Oklahomans will work out here late this afternoon. Washington will be sent through a final limbering up also, all severe preparation having been completed.

The fine drizzle which began to fall yesterday afternoon as the Bears were sent through their final scrimmage session presaged an additional handicap for their meeting. As the drizzle turned to a steady rain pour, the hopes of the squad were dampened not a little. A dry field, on which the single predominant asset of the local offense, their speed, could show, would have greatly furthered their chances against the heavier Sooner eleven.

Most of Coach Higgins' regulars were returned to the lineup yesterday afternoon, in indication that the team will be at approximately its top strength of the season. McDonough, sophomore, backfield star, is still nursing an injured side, but Higgins has two letter men well competent to take care of both halfback assignments in Capt. Mahan and Senne.

Only Five Bears Are Veterans.

Against the Oklahoma veterans the Washington eleven will be able to show only three backfield men and two linesmen who constitute the total of the Bears' seasoned men. Mahan, Senne and Hayes in the backfield and McCarroll and Kaplan on the line are the Washington lettermen.

When the two elevens clash on Francis Field tomorrow the spectators will be treated to an interesting sidelight on the art of charging.

Most of the Midwestern grid teams employ a "heel and toe" charge, a posture which places one foot in advance of the other, in fashion somewhat similar to a sprinter's start. Both the Bears and the Sooners have adopted what is known as the "duckfoot" charge, in which the player places both feet wide and pulls his knees together so that the opposing linesman cannot upset him from either side.

Both lines charge low, and followers of Higgins' tactics are closely interested in the effectiveness which the lighter Bear line will show against the heavier Oklahoma forward wall. The weight advantage which the Sooners will have should stand them in good stead, unless the lighter Bears can beat them to the charge.

"Ponies" to Face Washington.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NORMAN, Ok., Oct. 29.—Battered and bruised after their licking at the hands of the Kansas Aggies, the Sooners entered this week's practice with barely half the first string in uniform. As the days passed, Sooner followers became convinced that the Washington tilt would be the first game of the season in which the work of the reserves would determine Oklahoma's showing.

All of the scrimmage with the exception of one short session during yesterday's workout, has seen the reserve eleven working both on the offensive and defensive, and the youngsters alone are skilled in the new bag of tricks which Coach Bennie Owen cooked up for the Bears.

While a wholesome respect for the speedy little Hayes and his teammates has been instilled in the Sooners, and they have worked against the freshmen using Washington plays, most of the week's work has been devoted to perfecting the attack. This attack, when handled by the reserves, will be centered around the little halfback Morrill Smith, who hasn't played in a conference game this season, but who has set the field afire with his work during this week.

In Haskins the Sooner fans believe Owen has almost a match for Hayes. Haskins is fairly fast, can pass and kick, and is hard to stop in the open field.

Forward Passing In Practice.

Signal drill for the first string has been devoted largely to perfecting the forward passing machine, with Potts and Haskins on the hurling end of most of the flips.

Roosevelt High Favored to Beat Central Eleven

Walker's Team, However, Has Thrown a Scare Into Its League Rivals.

Central and Roosevelt high school teams will meet in the first, and what promises to be the feature game of tomorrow's football double-header at 1:10 o'clock, on the Roosevelt gridiron. Beaumont opposes Soldan in the final, at 3 p. m.

Central threw a scare into the other league members last week by defeating Principia 6 to 0, after the Cadets had walloped Beaumont 29—0, disposed of Soldan 20—0 and tied the fast Roosevelt eleven. The showing of Coach Walker's team prior to Saturday's victory was anything but impressive, the Red and Black having lost to both Western Military Academy and Webster High in its other practice games.

Central has been fortunate in escaping from its pre-season battles without being weakened by injuries, and so will present its full strength in its league debut tomorrow. The line has claimed most of Walker's attention during the past week, as the Central coach was not quite satisfied with the first defense in the Principia game. Most of the weight is centered in Willits at center and Schmidt and Plaisted at the guards, and this trio will do heavy duty on the offense. Plaisted is likely to share some of the burden with Kostich, who has been doing good work in the scrimmages.

Roosevelt Is Favorite.

Roosevelt is again favored to nose out Central, after having escaped unscathed from its 26—0 defeat of Soldan last week. However, Coach Carlson is expecting a real fight from Walker's team and looks for no repetition of last Saturday's score. The Rough Riders' backfield is in top form and will be hard to stop.

"Red" Sauselle, quarterback, displayed some open-field running last week that brought the spectators to their feet on more than one occasion and his peculiar knack of wriggling out of what appears a certain tackle should put his team within striking distance of Central's goal. Bill Carroll at left half usually can be relied upon to advance the ball and is additionally valuable for his drop-kicking ability, which swelled the point total last week for Roosevelt.

Captain Jarrett will alternate with Savage at right half, and Bodge will start at full.

Beaumont Team Rebuilt.

Beaumont appears to have finally broken its string of bad luck, after injuries had forced Coach Lewis to revamp his entire eleven, so that the original lineup is likely to be ready for Soldan. Much depends on the return of Brodage who, at present, is rapidly recovering. Neil will then relinquish the fullback position to Schneider and return to his old job at left end.

Kuhlmann also leaves the backfield and will again hold down the right wing, Mueller filling in at left half. Korkorian, who has been doing backfield duty, will return to right tackle. Mulvihill, a last year's squad member, is likely to see action at quarterback, with Horr ready for replacement. Gump is out for another week at least, after having been injured in the Cleveland game. Gump scored Beaumont's only touchdown last Saturday, after recovering a Cleveland fumble in midfield.

Soldan Too Crippled to Scrimmage.

Soldan's regular lineup will start tomorrow, although the Brown and Gold eleven was so badly bruised by Roosevelt last week that Coach Cook has been unable to send his charges through a scrimmage all week. The backfield suffered most of the damage and is likely to be slowed up somewhat.

Cook has developed an aerial attack, however, that will give Beaumont a lot of trouble. Although the Soldan passes fell into enemy hands last week on two occasions and resulted in a touchdown in both instances, Cook's eleven executed several in a fashion unequaled by any other team on the card.

Cleveland will be idle tomorrow, and will meet Roosevelt next week.

Former College Stars Join Blues

Hironimus, Indiana and Ferrier, W. and J., May Face Panthers Sunday.

A football tussle between two elevens hitherto undefeated is in prospect Sunday, when the St. Louis Blues and Pullman Panthers of Chicago, professional teams, will meet at St. Louis University Field.

The Chicago team, through Manager C. E. Pennington, reports victories in three of four games, and one scoreless tie, so far this season. The Blues have won their two previous games, played at Benld and Anna, Ill. Former college players make up both teams largely.

Football is only one of many sports sponsored by the Panther organization, which is the Pullman Athletic Club, boasting of 400 members, and which features also boxing, baseball and basketball. Don Davidson of Chicago is coach of the Pullman football aggregation.

Collegians to Aid Blues.

Addition of two former college players to the Blues' roster this week has rounded out the local eleven to full size. One of these, Fred Hironimus, an end from Indiana, has been with the squad since it first mobilized, but has not been in the games so far because of an injury. The hurt was a fracture of a finger, which has entirely healed.

A 215-pound lineman is the other newcomer. He is Joe Ferrier of Washington and Jefferson, who has been working out with the team in its daily practice sessions at C. B. C. field, and who probably will be seen in the forward line Sunday.

All the color and equipment that go with a college football game will be on tap in the pro contest. The Blues wear the colors of St. Louis, purple and gold, with white head guards. For sideline wear they have hooded gray coats. Numbers on their backs identify the players.. The Panthers sport maroon uniforms.

St. Louis U. Team Ready for Rolla Game Tomorrow

Varsity Foregoes Scrimmage to Watch Freshmen Play Chillicothe.

Interest in the St. Louis U.-Rolla Miners contest of tomorrow was overshadowed today by the game between the freshmen and Chillicothe Business College which will be played this afternoon starting at 3:30 at St. Louis U. field, Grand and Laclede.

The varsity will do little more than watch the yearlings go through their paces and then limber up a little afterwards. The hope of the 1927 squad, the frosh to date are undefeated and give every indication of being a strong machine. The first year group is no longer merely scrimmage material for the varsity and erstwhile exponent of the next enemy's plays, but is under the direct supervision of the same staff that preps the varsity. Virtually the same plays are used by both teams so that the new men will be thoroughly in harmony with the system of the Mathews regime when they come up next season.

Joe Lintzenich, former Webster star, shows the makings of a real backfield man and is a good punter. "Huck" Flynn and Cornell are other backfield stars who will appear today. In the line Barney Miller, giant tackle and former Washington U. player, stands out.

Athletic Director Bob Mathews has returned from California and will direct the freshmen, assisted by "Skippy" Stivers and Harry Reget, former stars at Idaho U.

Yesterday the varsity had dummy scrimmage and Bud Kearns and Eddie Jordan practiced kicking. Although Rolla trimmed the Billikens last year, the Billikens expect to even matters by a decisive score tomorrow, and on the form, should do so.

Evenly matched in weight, except in the backfield, where they concede nine pounds a man, the Billikens' flawless execution of plays should bring a victory early.

Probable starting lineups:

ROLLA.	Pos.	ST. LOUIS
Allenbach	L. E.	Kahle

Officials: Ramp (Cincinnati), referee; Mumma (West Point), umpire; Hagerty, linesman.

AMES, Iowa.—On the eve of departure for the Nebraska stronghold Iowa State College's football team was strengthened by the return of Don Wilson, a fullback, and Harry Johnson, former all-state end. Wilson had been illegible since early in the season and Johnson was out because of injuries. The Cyclone backfield has been weakened from the beginning of the season by injuries and Wilson's eligibility bolstered the hopes of team followers.

Mickey Walker Matched With Tiger Flowers

Negro to Defend Middleweight Title at Chicago Dec. 3.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Negotiations have been closed for Tiger Flowers, Georgia Negro, to defend his world's middleweight title in a 10-round match with Mickey Walker, former welterweight champion, at the Coliseum, Chicago, Dec. 3, according to announcement today by Walk Miller, manager of Flowers.

Miller said he signed with Jim Mullins, Chicago promoter, for the match after being guaranteed $65,000 by Jack Kearns, Walker's manager. Kearns has taken over Flowers' percentage and shouldered the financial task in order to clinch the match, Miller declared.

Tex Rickard, Madison Square Garden promoter, also was a bidder for the bout, but refused to offer Flowers more than $50,000, according to Miller.

Flowers also has been signed for a 10-round match at Chicago, Nov. 22, with Eddie Huffman, California light heavyweight. It will be at catch-weights.

Miller said he was leaving for Atlanta today to confer with "Pa" Stribling on a proposal to take over a controling interest in the management of Young Stribling. Miller has offered $100,000 for a three-fourths share in the young Georgia boxer and hopes to close the deal in a few days.

PETRI-LANDS TEAM IS LEADING 6-DAY RACE

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—A four-lap lead separated the German-American team of Petri and Lands from the second placers today as the fifteen entries in the International Six Day Bicycle Race pounded into the last two days grind.

At midnight, the ninety-ninth hour, Petri and Lands were in definite possession of a four lap advantage after traveling 1666 miles.

Featuring the night's racing was the hard riding of Stockelynch and Gosens, who took advantage of jams and spills to breast McNamara and Georgetti, who had held second place for some time.

Records were broken for the number of laps stolen when the total reached 205.

Pohl Meets Robinson.

Eric Pohl will meet Cyclone Robinson of Oklahoma tonight at the Garrick theater in a wrestling bout in the regular weekly mat feature.

Mountaineers Expect to Beat Missouri Tigers, in Spite of Big Disadvantage in Weight

Both Line and Backfield of "Show Me" Team Outweigh West Virginians, According to Figures Given Out at Morgantown—Easterners to Rely on Passing.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 29.—The West Virginia University football squad was given a respite yesterday and today from the hard practice sessions which have characterized the drills so far this week.

The comparatively light mountaineer eleven with a line which averages 172 pounds to the man and backfield averaging 159 pounds will be called upon to meet a Missouri Tiger forward wall scaling 179 pounds from end to end and a set of flashy, forward passing backs who tip the beam at 162 pounds.

The famous West Virginia shift which depends on precision and speed, is counted upon by Mountaineer followers to discount the large weight advantage of the "show-me" eleven.

The brilliant forward passing attack which the Mountaineers have flashed when pressed, has caused Coach Rodgers' eleven to be rated as favorite in the coming international clash, Saturday at Mountaineer Field.

Romping into the stretch with victories over Davis-Elkins College, Washington and Lee University, Allegheny College, Georgetown University and West Virginia Wesleyan, and with a backfield whose power has not been revealed, Coach Rodgers will be forced to disclose his entire hand when the undefeated Missouri Valley conference winners appear Saturday.

Big Ed Morrison, sleepy Glenn, Casey Ryan and Mike Hardy are in the van of the Mountaineer brigade as it prepares for the biggest game ever played in West Virginia.

However, Rodgers has two stars in Glenn Hamilton and Clarence Keefer who are liable to break into the battle at any time. Morrison, who backs up the line, a plunger and passer, has been the bulwark of the West Virginia backfield in the five victories won this season.

Hamilton and Ryan have worked in shifts and both have starred with long, spectacular runs, with Hamilton rated as one of the best passers in football.

Keefer, a dark horse, pulled the Georgetown battle out of the fire by his terrific line plunging in the dying moments of the game.

LEO LAMPE SHOWS LIKING FOR MUD TO WIN SECOND AT FAIRMOUNT

UN RAJAH THREATENS AT FINISH

ond Maid Graduates From Maden Class by Taking Opening Event With ue Finn Second; Attendance Good.

By Dent McSkimming.
he Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

FAIRMOUNT RACE TRACK, t. 29.—Splashing through a ppy, slippery three-quarters of mile of mud, Bond Maid, ridden D. Froggatte, captured the ening race of today's program d graduated from the maiden ss of 2-year-olds. Blue Finn, e even money favorite, was second, coming in the stretch but well aten. Chappie was third.

Although weather conditions re extremely bad, a good crowd s present.

Some horses seem to really like e mud. Leo Lampe is one of that ecies. After he had permitted een Anna Marie to get off on top the start, he went right after her. ssed her at the half-mile pole and en went out to put a five-lengths d between himself and the nearest contender. With plenty of room, ckey D. Smith coasted home, but had to come down suddenly with e whip when Sun Rajah, making effort to catch the leader, ashed up at Lampe's heels. Gloa Quayle was third. The winner d $12.90 to $2.

Post Mistress overtaking Omage at the end of the back etch, appeared much the best of field of eight which contended the third race. Brandeis, off ll but lacking speed enough to ep pace with the winner, finished a good second, while Omage hung on for third money. It s strictly a three horse race for e five others were never serious ctors. The winner paid $6,10 $2.

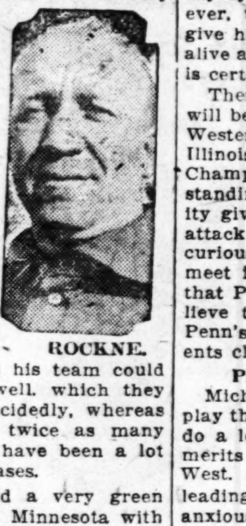
Rockne Defends Stagg Against Critics; Reminds Them of Old Man's Service

Pioneer of Athletics in Midwest Always Fair, Square and Fearless, He Says; Picks Penn, Michigan and West Virginia in Tomorrow's Games.

By Knute Rockne
Coach of Notre Dame University.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 29.—A football coach must have a thick, rhinoceros hide and a tender conscience. I know of no football coach who in past years has paid less attention to criticism than old man Stagg. After reading some of the press comments the week following his defeat by Pennsylvania, however, I wonder if some of the remarks did not pierce the epidermis of the grand old gentleman.



ROCKNE.

The main criticism of Stagg was that he had given his team only seven plays. Stagg has a very green outfit. Every good football coach will tell you that a few plays well learned are much better than a lot of plays half learned. I feel quite confident that Stagg was very wise in giving his team only seven plays up to the time of the Pennsylvania game. That was as many plays as his team could learn and learn well, which they did. They did decidedly, whereas if they had had twice as many plays they would have been a lot of doubting Thomases.

Last year I had a very green team and we beat Minnesota with just six plays in the repertoire. This year is much more advanced and we are using around 20 plays. Last Saturday evening Jimmie Phelan, coach of Purdue, told me that Chicago showed him as fine a diversified attack as it has been his pleasure to witness. However, I don't believe the old man needs any defense along these lines.

Midwest Athletic Pioneer.

Two years ago the critics predicted that Red Grange and Illinois would beat Chicago by an overwhelming score. The old man crossed them up and the final score of 21 to 21 was one of the big upsets of the year. His whole history shows that he has given many ideas to the game that were both sound and original.

Stagg is 64 years old, he was the pioneer of athletics in the Middle West and has been its leading figure. He has always fearlessly fought the abuses of athletics and has been a constructive force in all that is good and fine in our present system. I have seen him on 100 different occasions, under stress and strain and I have always found him fair, square and fearless. He is remarkably pleasant man to meet in defeat as well as in victory. He has always kept football in its proper place, just a game for the boys. After he is dead there will no doubt be a memorial erected to him and he will be acclaimed and lauded to the sky by everyone. It is a pity, however, that as a public we cannot give him just dues while he is still alive and give him the comfort that is certainly just reward.

There are several games which will be vitally interesting to Middle Western fans this week-end. The Illinois-Pennsylvania game at Champaign is perhaps the outstanding contest. The wide publicity given Lou Young's hidden ball attack will no doubt intrigue the curious as to just how Zuppke will meet it. I am inclined to believe that Penn will win, but I don't believe this hidden ball stuff of Penn's will go as far as its adherents claim.

Picks Michigan to Win.

Michigan invades Baltimore to play the Navy in a game which will do a lot to determine the relative merits this season of the East and West. Both are representative leading teams. The Navy will be anxious to wipe out last year's decisive defeat, and while I look for Michigan to win, it will be only after a hard game. Michigan will be under pressure all the way and her passing attack will not run amuck as it did a year ago.

Wisconsin plays Minnesota in a game where there is probably as much natural rivalry as anywhere in the country. I pick Minnesota to win. Northwestern should not have much trouble with Indiana, whereas Iowa and Purdue have easy practice games.

Ohio State will bring a fine team to Stagg Field to play Chicago. Ohio will meet an improved team. However, Dr. Wilce has one of his great outfits again and will not be denied.

Missouri travels to Morgantown, W. Va., to play West Virginia in a third intersectional game. Missouri has a fine team, but they will find the Mountaineers too much for them in their own bailiwick. This game, however, will have no bearing on the Missouri Valley championship, for which Missouri and Kansas Aggies are the principal contenders. Missouri should win the rest of its valley games handily. The Kansas Aggies, however, have their big hurdle Nov. 13 against Nebraska.

Notre Dame plays Georgia Tech at South Bend, Ind., and, although crippled by many injuries, should win.

Soccer League To Return to 'Point' System

No Provision Made for Tie Games Under Percentage Plan.

A protest against the percentage method of determining the winner of the new Western Soccer Cup Association championship has been lodged with Commissioner W. E. Barker by Billy Foley, manager of the Ben Miller club. Foley advocates a return to the point total basis. His objection to the percentage system is that it is impossible to play all league games to a conclusion. Tie games are a common occurrence in soccer. The point system provides for a division of points in case of a tie game, but the percentage system permits of no such reward.

Barker, in his capacity of commissioner in the new intercity league, has taken the question up with Joseph Triner, the Chicago commissioner, and it is highly probable that the percentage system will be dropped. The Chicago teams have never been enthusiastic over the experiment, which was attempted this season as an innovation.

"It is not quite fair to say that a team which plays a tie game should get no greater reward than a team which is beaten," said Manager Foley, in explaining his objection. "If it were possible to play every league match to a definite conclusion the percentage system would be ideal, but we know from experience that there will be many tie games. The condition is not strictly analogous to baseball, as has been pointed out, for in the case of baseball all tie games are played off."

Millers Go to Chicago.

Foley's club will visit Chicago Sunday, opposing the strong Bricklayer team of that city. The Brickies were held to a tie by the Thistles last Sunday. Under the percentage system they are at the bottom of the standing with a .000, whereas, if the point system were in force, they would be half way up the ladder with 1 point as compared with 2 points for the winning clubs and no points for the two defeated teams.

In the double-header at Sportsman's Park Sunday, the Wellstons will oppose the Thistles of Chicago in the second game while the Raticans and White Banners will open the program. The first game will be started at 2 o'clock In order to insure a full two games before darkness spoils the show, the halves will be reduced to 35 minutes.

Thistles an All-Scotch Team.

The Thistle team has never appeared here before. The club is composed of the following players all Scotchmen:

Osborne, goal; Tardiner and Davidson, fullbacks; Cuthbert, McClure and Scott, halfbacks; Saunders, Newman, Howell, Hilton and Craig, forwards; McKay and Ferguson are reserves.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Look for a Gas Attack.

THE open season for cash customers with a leaning toward the wrestlers will begin here Nov. 2. On that occasion the welkin and the cash register will again ring, as John Pesek gets up a sweat, with the kind-faced and complaisant Mr. Friberg of Chicago assisting him.

Friberg specializes in getting beat, as his history during the year will attest. By no possible distortion of mat form could he be pictured as having any more chance to extend Pesek than a blond hair has to grow on a 70-year-old bald spot.

Still, the event already has been referred to as a MATCH, and doubtless will be alluded to as a "struggle." But the plain fact seems to be that it is just an opportunity to exhibit Pesek.

Nothing wrong in that—absolutely nothing!

In fact there is nothing wrong with any of the mat shows here, or elsewhere, if they are properly labeled EXHIBITION.

It is more than doubtful whether, among all the "championships" and "main event" matches held here in the past three of four years, half a dozen have been other than exhibitions.

ALL have been advertised as contests.

Good Night.

FOR ways that are dark and tricks that are not in vain, leave it to the college alumnus.

Al Panck is Denver University gridiron star. One of the compensations that soften the burden of Al on his way through school is a job as night watchman for a private residence, obtained for him by an alumnus.

Al, it is reported, gets his room rent in return for working as private watchman.

Probably Al watches with his right eye while the other knocks off a few hours. Then the relief left eye goes on duty for the rest of the evening.

The ever-alert alumnus can always be counted on to find a strictly legal occupation for football talent that can add to the greater glory of the university.

MORE power to Mr. Alumnus.

At St. Louis University it was the alumnus who found jobs and means of employment that enabled about 15 of the country's best football players to earn their way through school and, incidentally, give this city the finest football in its history.

It also resulted in seven football stars who did everything from delivering milk to lighting and extinguishing street lamps to earn their way through college, gaining their diplomas at the university in the same year!

Was the alumnus in vain?

It Pays to Advertise.

ADVERTISING pays, especially when it's practically free. Perhaps that is why so many of our municipal soccer teams still stagger through their season labeled incongruously with the names of undertaking concerns, florists, tailoring establishments and other business enterprises.

Wherever a company actually puts into the field players employed in its own establishment there can be no complaint against the use of commercial names.

Unfortunately, in nearly every instance the firm has no employes represented, and merely buys the space on the manly breast of the player to make a sandwich man of him advertising the company.

Up to the M. A. A.

TO obtain this free advertisement all the concern pays is the $45 Municipal League entrance fee and the cost of equipment for the team—perhaps $300.

The Municipal Athletic Association itself is thus placed in the position of approving the selling of advertising space on the backs of its players.

Would it not be advisable to permit the use of firm names on Municipal League teams of all sorts, only where the players are bonafide employes of the company whose name they wear?

There Are Others.

THERE are elevens—not many—that finance themselves and take pride in paying their own way—teams like the White Squadron.

They preserve their individuality and dignity out of their own pockets. They decline to be referred to as the "Wunderbaldinger Embalming and Undertaking Co. team" or otherwise branded commercially.

There is only one justification for the commercialization of soccer names, where players are not employes—that is where the players are not financially able to put up the $20 or so apiece for uniforms and franchise.

And even here the M. A. A. ought to be able to find some other way to help than by making its organization a first aid to free advertising schemes.

MICHIGAN TEAM CALLS ON PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Members of the University of Michigan football team, which will play the Naval Academy tomorrow, piloted by Coach Yost, paid their respects to President Coolidge at the white house today.

Kirksville Held to Tie.

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., Oct. 29.—The football teams of the Kirksville Osteopaths and the Jackson University battled here this afternoon to a scoreless tie. Both goals were threatened frequently but the lines held the game was characterized by hard tackling.

Phillips, Jackson half, got away through center for a 60-yard run being overtaken on the 20-yard line by a fleetfooted Osteopath.

Kaiser Awarded Technical K. O. Over Jack Stacy

Latter Claims a Foul but Claim Is Disallowed; Refuses to Continue Fight.

Johnny "Peewee" Kaiser, St. Louis boxer, gained a technical knockout victory last night at the Avenue Theater, East St. Louis, when his opponent, Jack Stacy of Jefferson City, refused to continue in the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout after his claim of foul had been disallowed.

The first round proved fast and honors were evenly divided. After a minute and 12 seconds of the second round Stacy suddenly crouched over and claimed Kaiser's left hook to the body had disabled him. The fight was stopped and Stacy was taken to the dressing room, where two doctors of the State Boxing Commission staff gave him a 15-minute examination and pronounced him uninjured. Stacy was given five minutes of grace to return to the ring but refused. His purse is being withheld pending a ruling by the commission.

Jackie Horner, St. Louis boy, gave Johnny "Red" Byrd of Okmulgee, Ok., a heavy lacing for eight rounds and had the Oklahoman down for a nine count in the second round. Byrd was badly damaged, but showed real gameness throughout. The weight was 150 pounds.

Walter Roland was given a technical knockout decision in the second round over Frog Vidal of Scott Field when the bout became too one-sided. Billy Cain defeated George Ketchel in four rounds in the curtain raiser at 112 pounds. Andy McCabe was referee.

ART FLETCHER SIGNS WITH YANKEES AS COACH FOR NEXT YEAR

WILL BE FIRST LIEUTENANT TO MILLER HUGGINS

Gene McCann, Former Big League Pitcher, Acquired by New York Club as Scout.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Arthur Fletcher, former manager of the Philadelphia Nationals, has signed as a coach with the New York Yankees, the club announced today.

The Yankees also announced the acquisition as scout of Gene McCann, manager of the Springfield, Mass., club of the Eastern League last year and a former major league pitcher.

Fletcher joins the Yankee board of strategy after three years as manager of the Phillies. He was notified of his release 10 days ago and has been succeeded by Stuffy McInnis.

Fletcher is expected to serve as first lieutenant on the field to Miller Huggins, manager of the American League champions. He was a star at shortstop for the New York Giants for years under McGraw, but this is his first American League engagement.

McCann has had wide minor league as well as major league experience. He formerly managed the Bridgeport club in the Eastern League, before taking the helm at Springfield.

Tunney's Future Manager Once Refused to See Him Work Out

According to Anecdote, Gibbons Protested That It Was "Too Hot" — Shouting Seconds, Who Made Roberts Battle a Madhouse, Taught Champion Value of Self Control.

By Gene Tunney.
World's Heavyweight Champion.
CHAPTER IX.

GENE TUNNEY.

THERE is much ado in the newspapers these days about Gene Tunney's "serenity" in the ring. My "serenity" seems to have been discovered, but the fact is that my self-confidence dates back to and far beyond the seven years in which I have schooled myself for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Perhaps I gained my first "serenity" when I was 10 years old, in Greenwich Village. My late father bought me a set of boxing gloves. My brother and I used to put them on and mix it. My father was ready with his hands, although he never was a professional. He and Chief Kenlon of the New York Fire Department sailed before the mast together, and the Chief often tells me how ready my father was with rights and lefts.

Once I began to be capable with my fists, a confidence took hold of me that never has deserted me. Why not be serene in action? Too many fighters, in my opinion, check their brains in the dressing room. Outside the ring I sometimes meet fellows who guess me for anything but a fighter. Occasionally they pick on me. Possibly they do this because I look contented and happy. I always succeed in talking myself out o' trouble with such chaps.

I think that the most upsetting thing to a boxer is to be pestered with violations of the rules on the part of an opponent. It is here that a fighter's self-control is taxed. Getting hit in the breakaway—when you are supposed to step out of a clinch without striking an opponent—is particularly annoying.

'Persuaded' His Foe.

I REMEMBER when I boxed a Staten Island celebrity about 10 years ago. He was a good fighter, and game, but every time we clinched, he would clasp me about the neck with his right arm, and when ordered by the referee to break, would clout me with his left. I argued with him, but he merely grinned and then sent in the unfair sock.

This occurred so repeatedly that I decided it was up to me to "persuade" him. I poised as this fellow clinched and held up my left hand under his right arm—which was affectionately glued to my neck. At the call of "break" and just as my opponent was beginning to let fly with his left, I sent a left to his jaw that made him reel. He evidently thought I was mad and that I was about to rush in crazily. Instead of charging I gave him a good, steady, stiff jab and laughed at him at the same time. He quit slugging me in the breaks.

When I met Al Roberts, after the war, I was still raw, despite my training and boxing overseas. Roberts was a rough one. He always was dangerous. When I walked out in the first round and offered to shake hands, I got a surprise. It was a stinging right-hand punch to the jaw. Fortunately it glanced off as I twisted my head. It sort of disillusioned me, that punch. I stepped back, and as Roberts rushed in, I keeled him over with a right. This made Roberts rather angry. He leaped up, began rushing again and was somewhat rough and tumble in the frequent clinches.

Seconds Go Mad.

THEN began one of the toughest ring assignments I ever had, not excepting the first fight I had with Harry Greb.

Roberts, clinching, would hold and hit, using the "rabbit punch," a slam at the base of the skull. He was tired in the fifth and I belabored him with blows for two rounds. At the end of the seventh I was handicapped by my seconds who seemed to have gone wild. They waved, shouted, told me to do everything and then not to do anything—it was a madhouse. I learned then and there to control myself under most trying conditions and beat Roberts with a right to the jaw in the eighth. That was in 1920.

Here is an anecdote that is given me for a fact, but I am always slow to say a thing is so unless I have first-hand knowledge. Anyway, it is so interesting that it ought to be true.

Back in the days of my novitiate, I boxed two preliminary contests in the ring of the Fairmont Club on One Hundred and Forty-fifth street. This was a ramshackle, bandbox structure which was owned and managed by Billy Gibson, who later was to become my pilot. Gib opened the club in 1908 when boxing was suffering in New York from pernicious anemia, infantile paralysis and the gout.

Too Hot to Move.

UNDER the old membership plan, the gladiators were introduced as "Both boys are members of this club." Every Saturday night for the following nine years, Gibson ran the Fairmont, despite the fact that the gendarmes frequently descended on his pugilistic parties. Some of the most famous boxers of the time appeared in that ring. Among them were Sam Langford—one of the greatest of heavyweights—Packy McFarland, Willie Ritchie, Mike Gibbons, Frank Klaus, Abe Attell, Owen Moran, Jem Driscoll and Leach Cross

Benny Leonard made his debut there. My recent antagonist, Jack Dempsey fought at the old Fairmont in his initial metropolitan appearance. His opponent was Wild Bert Kenny, and he received the very welcome sum of $13, I believe, for his efforts. Later he was awarded $47 for boxing John Lester Johnson and also collected three fractured ribs in that bout.

Well, the story has it, that I was appearing in a prelim one hot, sultry night in summer. My form was excellent and Billy Jacobs, who had spurred me into the contest, was watching me keenly. He then pushed through the steaming crowd back to Gibson's office. There slumped my future manager in a chair. Perspiration poured from him. His shirt was off. An electric fan was pointed at the Gibsonian torso. Jacobs shouted:

"Say, Bill, come down to the ringside. There's a young kid named Tunney boxing out there and he's as promising as any youngster I've seen in a long time. Take a peek at him.'

Gib raised his hand weakly and motioned Jacobs aside. He gasped:

"I'm too tired and too warm to move out of this chair. Tunney may be promising, but I wouldn't walk 10 feet to see him tonight if I knew he'd be heavyweight champion of the world!"

Just then Gib collapsed back in the chair. At least, that's the story and today Gibson laughs heartily when it is told.

Final Race in Dog Speed Trials On Tonight's Card

Judgement, Little John, Tarrasfoot and Bromley Will Vie the Honors.

The fourth and final of the elimination Futurity match races will take place tonight at the Madison Kennel Club, when Little John, Judgment, Bromley and Tarrasfoot go to the post. The dogs finishing first and second will quality for the eight-dog final to be held on Monday.

Marshall's Ribbon was the winner of last night's match race. Zeff was second. The dogs which qualified for the final in the two previous races were Wasteful Girl, Motor Speed, Rex Cantonian and Actor Boy.

A repetition of his race behind Marshall's Ribbon the other night will prove a winning move for little Bromley in tonight's event. Bromley was a close second to the English dog when he set a new track mark of 25 2-5 seconds for the quarter mile distance.

Tarrasfoot, holder of the world's record for the Futurity distance, is undiubtedly the one Bromley will have to beat. Tarrasfoot hasn't been running in his best form of late. Not since the time he established a new track record for the three-sixtenths distance early in the meeting has the Wohlauf star performed here in the fashion he is capable of.

Another interesting race on tonight's card is the seventh, which will also be contested over the Futurity distance. Motor Speed, Actor Boy, Wasteful Girl and Bee Martin will be among those to go to the post in this race. It may take some running for Wasteful Girl to beat Motor Speed again.

Oxford's Brooksie Makes Good Showing in Ohio Field Trials.

WASHINGTON COURTHOUSE, O., Oct. 29.—The first day's running in the all-age stake of the Southern Ohio bird dog trials brought out several dogs that may develop into the winners of the stake, provided those that are to follow today do not eclipse the work that was done in the early heats.

One of the very first dogs in the stake to make a showing was the setter Sir Redman, owned by J. H. Brown of Wellston, O. The dog made a very good bevy find, showed perfect breaking and absolute steadiness to wing and shot. The pointer, Mack Pritchette, owned by C. F. Most of the 1,500 spectators who gathered at the hunt, eighteen miles from here, missed it entirely. A strong wind, carrying the music of the full cry far into the hills led many to believe that the high wind and late start had ruined the day for a chase.

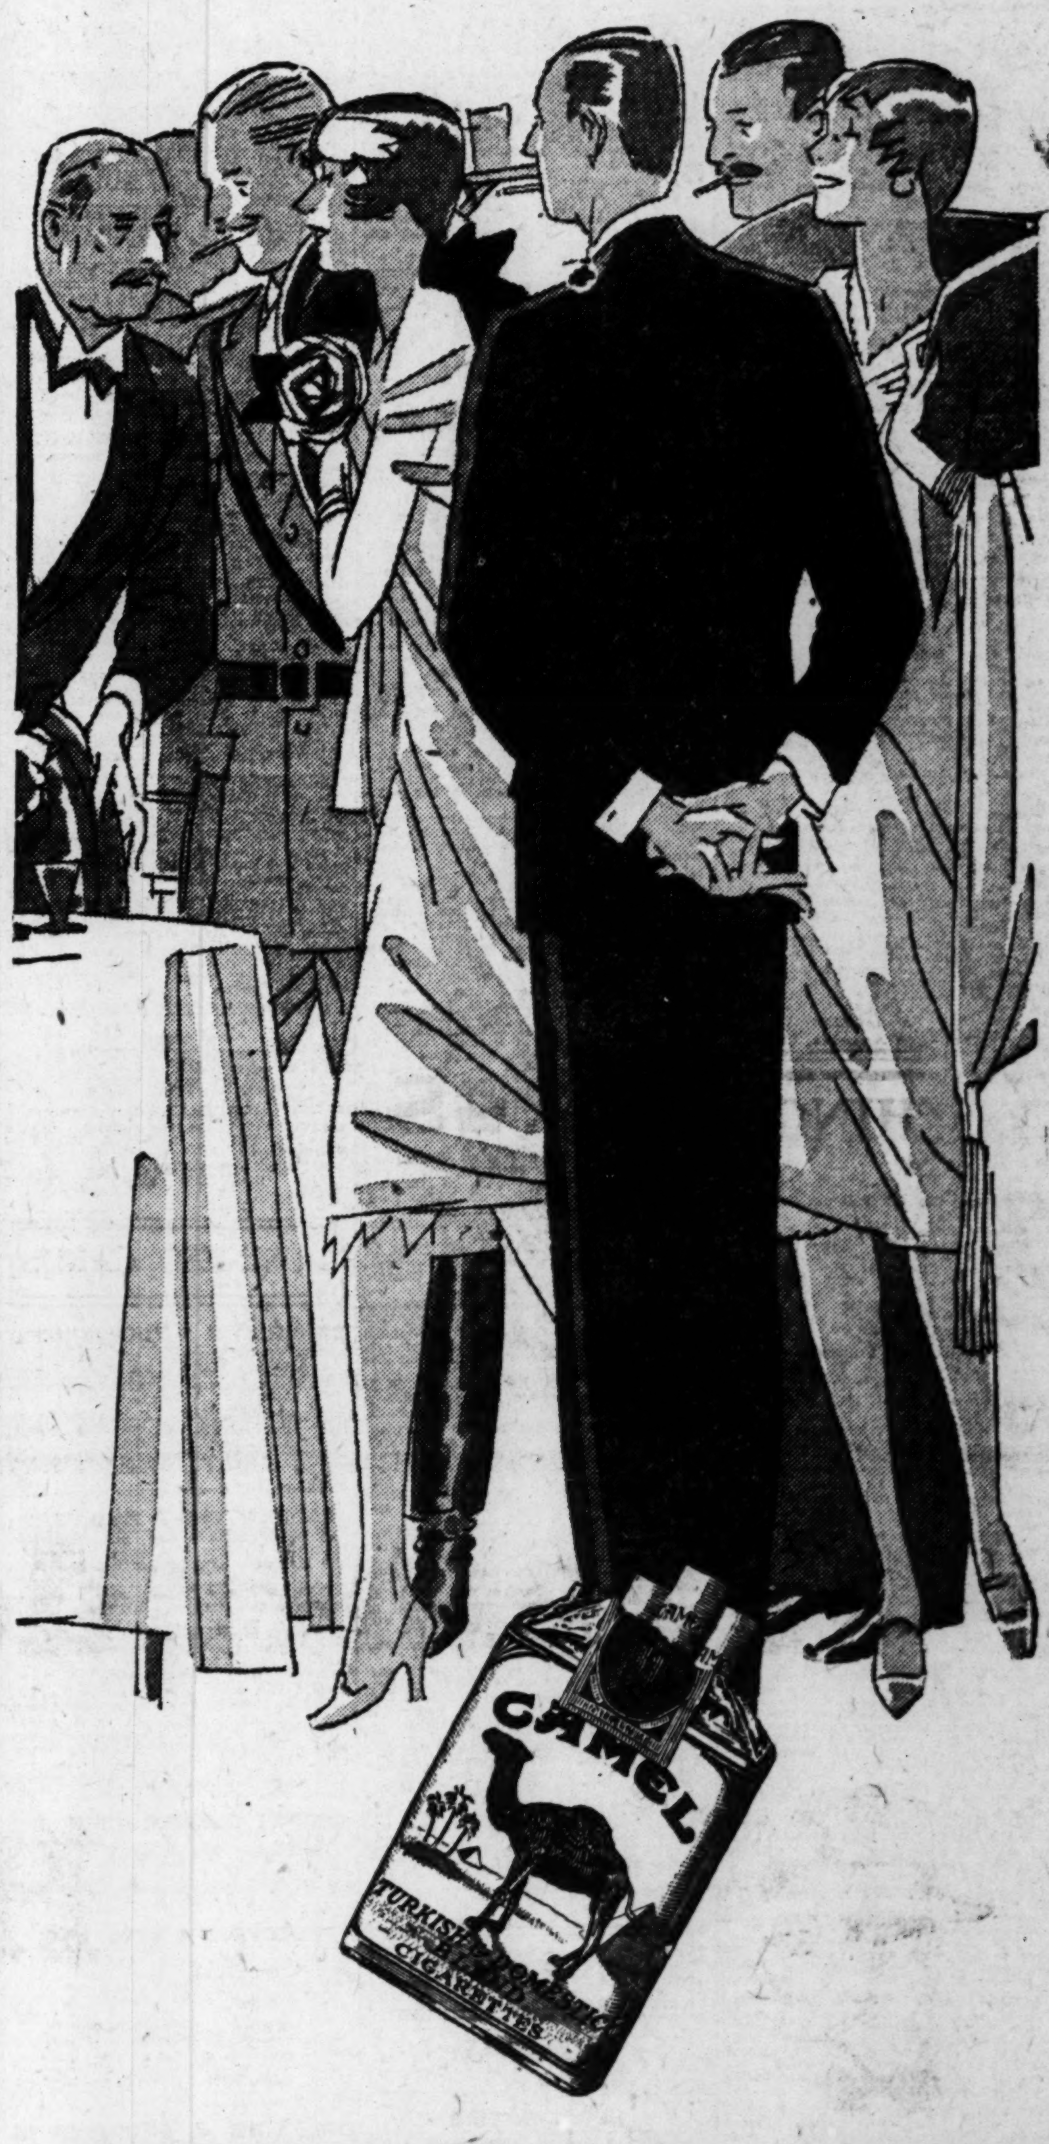
"HAVE A CAMEL" IS MUSIC TO YOUR EARS



Camel is totally different from any other smoke. . . . It is more than a cigarette. . . . A lighted Camel is smoking enjoyment realized —the closest thing to the perfection of taste this old earth ever knew.

Camel's popularity has no equal. Camel demand exceeds any other cigarette preference ever known. To say "Camel" is to ask for the world's most popular cigarette. And to light a Camel is to taste the best.

For there's a solid reason back of the fame and the enjoyment of Camels. Quality. Camels are rolled of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos money can buy . . . blended for matchless taste and fragrance.

If you would know how mild and mellow a smoke can really be, just treat yourself to a pack of Camels. Once you know what these words mean, they're music . . . "Have a Camel!"

100,000 WITHOUT SHELTER AFTER ARMENIAN EARTHQUAKE

All Food Which Peasants Buried for Winter Buried Beneath Tons of Debris.

By the Associated Press.

LENINAKAN, Armenia, Oct. 29.—After making a thorough survey of 25 ruined villages, Dr. Joseph Beach of Bangor, Me., director of Near East relief, says first reports gave no adequate idea of the misery and loss of life caused by last Friday's earthquake.

In the village of Daharlu, with only 700 population, 125 persons were buried alive with their cattle and 345 were injured.

All food which peasants had stored for the winter is buried beneath tons of debris and will be ruined by the first rain.

"Daharlu is only typical of a score of other villages," said Beach. "The Government is making heroic efforts to meet the unprecedented situation, but the mere problem of finding shelter for 100,000 souls before freezing weather begins is staggering and requires outside help."

WOMAN CONVICTED OF MURDER

West Virginia Nurse Fatally Stabbed Doctor with Knife.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 29.—Mrs. Georgia Ridgeway, 37 years old, a nurse, was found guilty of second-degree murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of Dr. William B. Borror, April 15. Mrs. Ridgeway declared on the stand that the doctor accidentally stabbed himself while struggling with her for possession of a knife.

From eight to 15 years is the penalty for second-degree murder.

MRS. J. M. D.—If the man de- ived the woman he married ut his name and identity she ld probably have the marriage nulled. The use of an assumed e in getting married is not essarily grounds for a divorce.

MRS. D. G.—Suit can be filed on e personal note at any time thin 10 years after the note be- me due or after the last pay- t on it. Personal property in ess of the $400 exemption al- ed by law can be levied upon.

E. H. P.—Write to the Con- ssman or Senator in the dis- ct where you live about the il war pension. Report the vio- ion of the prohibition laws to Prohibition Enforcement Of- e, Customs House, Eighth and ive streets.

CHARLIE.—You must have the consent of one parent to join the army, navy or marines. The army is not now accepting recruits who have not had previous military training. You must be 18 years old to join with the consent of your parents.

L. B.—If you were more than 50 miles away from St. Louis on registration day apply at the office of the Board of Election Commissioners, City Hall, for a blank, which you must fill out, and have it sworn to by two registered voters in the same ward and precinct in which you reside.

MRS. K. L.—Common law marriages are legal in Colorado. There must be a mutual marital agreement, followed by the living together of the man and woman as husband and wife for such an association to be termed a common law marriage. Such a marriage in that state would be legal if the couple came to Missouri a year or so after making the agreement.

CHICAGO SEEKS FEDERAL AID AT POLLS AGAINST GANGSTERS

City Policemen Will Be on Duty in Affected Districts Armed With Shotguns.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—A request for Federal aid in protecting the polls here from gangsters next Tuesday, was made yesterday by United States Marshal Anderson who, in a telegram to Attorney-General Sargent, pointed out that a United States Senator and Congressmen were to be elected.

To guard against a recurrence of the wholesale vote frauds disclosed after the April primary, which resulted in the returning of more than 200 indictments by grand juries, naming election officials and workers, Mayor Dever said every policeman on the force will be required to work all day next Tuesday, and squads stationed at polls in the gangster districts would be armed with shotguns.

Members of the Chicago Bar Associations are busy marshalling their members to serve as county officers at the polls in compliance with a request made of the organization by county election commissioners.

CANADA TO SLAUGHTER BUFFALO

2000 Animals in Wainwright Park to Be Killed; Herd Too Large.

By the Associated Press.

OTTAWA, Oct. 29.—Owing to the increase of buffaloes in Wainwright National Park in the last three years, 2000 of the animals are to be killed by order of the Department of the Interior. Others had been shipped to the Wood Buffalo Park

Wainwright has room for about 8000 buffaloes, and the authorities were faced with the problem of disposing of nearly 12,000 this year. Last year 2000 were sent to the Northern Alberta Park area. In 1924 2000 were killed.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"Increased evidence of more favorable credit conditions provided about the only development of interest in today's financial markets. Securities held within a narrow range, while commodities were mixed and exchange were dull. Money was again freely offered for trading purposes at 4½ per cent and time loans were effected at the lowest rates since August. This condition was reflected in a further advance in investment bonds in fairly active trading. Foreign issues were in good demand, while high-grade industrial and rail issues were strong and the Government list received good support.

Bears Make Little Progress.

"In the absence of buying orders at the opening of trading on the stock market, prices of leading industrials showed a tendency to recede, but buying at slightly lower levels was sufficient to withstand renewed speculative selling for the decline and operators in quest of lower levels, made little progress. Underlying conditions remained satisfactory, in trade as well as in credit conditions with October out of the way and the season for more abundant funds at hand, the financial district looked for a further gradual easing in rates. Evidence of this was found in increased offerings of time funds with a lowering in quotations for short terms to 4¾ per cent. The weekly trade summaries pointed out that gains this month have been less pronounced that in September, but business volume, nevertheless has been exceedingly large in the face of heavier advance buying and somewhat unseasonable weather.

Oil Shares Higher.

"Standard industrials held in a narrow range, good resistance being shown to selling pressure. Some of the investment rails were in good demand while oils continued fairly active at higher levels. Some of the motor stocks recently under pressure rallied. Evening up of accounts and a slackening in volume of business in preparation for the election day recess accounted for some irregularity in the last half of the session. There was a decline in the New York Federal Reserve Bank's reserve ratio, but the setback of about 2 per cent was recognized as due largely to preparations for month-end settlements and the situation was expected to be corrected next week. In the main price movements failed to indicate a definite trend. Several recently favored specialties attracted attention with rallies while mercantile and coal shares were in demand.

Exchange Trade Falls Off.

"Trading fell off sharply in foreign exchanges and a generally steady tone prevailed for leading European documents. Sterling ruled firm while French and Italian rates were marked up noticeably. Exchange on Havana was advanced but changes in the remainder of the list were small.

Corn Prices Down.

"Prices in the principal commodity markets moved within a narrow range. Cotton ruled throughout the session, holding a moderate advance from the start on fairly well sustained investment and trade buying wheat. Wheat lost a fraction on the day, closing below the best levels while corn again was freely offered at concessions and declined more than 1½ cent a bushel.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Prices were unchanged in the raw sugar market early today at $4.52 for spot Cuban, duty paid. No sales were reported.

Reduced European crop estimates for the 1926-27 season of 7,211,000 metric tons, raw value by a prominent European statistician or 73,000 tons less than his estimate of August 10 had a steadying effect in raw sugar futures and caused considerable European and local short covering which advanced 1 to 2 points at though failing to create any general demand. Prices eased off later and at midday were net unchanged to 1 point higher.

Press advices from Havana said that a committee of sugar growers had recommended to President Machado that the coming sugar crop in Cuba be limited to about 4,500,000 tons.

COTTON PRICES HIGHER ON NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The cotton market opened firm today at an advance of 10 to 25 points on continued trade buying covering and a little more active commission house demand which appeared to be stimulated by relatively firm Liverpool cables and reports of continued progress with arrangements for financing storage cotton in the South.

January contracts sold up to 12.54c by the end of the first hour or 15 to 18 points above yesterday's closing quotations.

Private cables said the advance in Liverpool was due to [illegible] selling and covering. They also reported comparatively little hedge selling and a fair inquiry for cotton cloths from India, although many offers were unworkable.

The market became quieter after the early demand was supplied and there were reactions of some 10 or 12 points from the best later in the morning under realizing. Very little Southern selling was reported here however and trading was quiet on the setback. January was selling around 12.47c at midday with the general market ruling about 7 to 9 points net higher.

The market was a shade easier during the afternoon on rather bearish view of week-end figures and realizing or liquidation by early buyers. January contracts sold off to 12.40c or about 14 points from the best and within 4 points of yesterday's closing quotation, but trading remained quiet. The market was about 5 to 8 points net higher at 2 o'clock.

CURB TRADE IS QUIET FOR THE MOST PART

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Activity and strength were shown in a number of issues on the Curb Exchange today but the great majority of stocks reflected a pre-election condition. Business in many of the unusually active industrials and utilities was in small volume and with no important change in market position. New York Transportation was strong, offerings of that stock being again taken at advances and a fractional gain moved it up today to 55½c for a new high for the year. Estey Welte continued its advance again lifting its high record and Cities Service issues were traded on a fairly large scale.

Standard Oil of Indiana continued a feature of the petroleum group, making a further advance of 1 point and carrying it to the highest level reached in a long period. This movement which started about a week ago has established the stock at an advance of over 3 points in that period. Vacuum Oil was another strong feature moving up over a point after a slight decline at the opening. There was active trading in many of the tropical issues but business in those stocks was conducted within a narrow range.

Utilities were irregular. Mohawk Power was strong and Electric Bond & Share rallied after an opening loss. United Gas Improvement showed a moderate decline. Industrials also were irregular. Glen Alden was a strong feature and a further advance was made in Brill "A." Freshman dropped over a point. Foundation Foreign after showing strength yesterday reacted.

Bonds were fairly active, but generally showed only fractional changes.

FRENCH AND BELG BONDS ARE H

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—A spectacular rally in foreign bonds trading in the investment market and carried most of the French and Belgian issues to new high records of the year. Lowering of time money rates gave impetus to the forward movement.

Because of the remarkable market which has developed for foreign securities, bankers who had scheduled a $10,000,000 Hungarian municipal loan offering next week decided to offer it in the market today. The issue was oversubscribed within a few hours. The 20-year 7 per cent bonds were priced at 93½.

After climbing to new high levels yesterday, French Government and municipal bonds started out with another burst of strength today, some issues gaining a point before noon in a heavy turnover. The new Belgian 7s established another high record and were heavily bought. It was said prospects that gold currencies and the elimination of tariff barriers in the European countries would usher in a new era of prosperity before the end of next year.

Railroad liens continued to make the best showing of domestic issues with a steady demand maintained for Erie Railway, Baltimore & Ohio and other standard issues.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, Oct. 29.—Mills are taking a quantity of wool but on the whole the wool market continued spotty today. Territory fine and medium wools are moving well, with French combing wools at $1.05 @1.10, the bulk around $1.08. Three-eighths blood was sold in large bulk at 93c clean basis and quarter blood at 83c but the range was 82@85c. The tendency here is to discount reports of lower prices in Australia on the ground these were said to have been largely in burry or defective wools.

WHEAT PRICE SETBACK ON CHICAGO MARKET

Special to the Post-Dispatch

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Wheat prices had a further setback today largely because of December liquidation and pressure based on heavy Canadian marketings. The corn market broke badly to new low price levels for the season on heavy marketing of old corn.

Wheat recovered most of its early decline today on good support credited to leading longs and short covering. Last prices were unchanged to ⅛c lower. December $1.42⅝ to $1.42½. May $1.47⅝ to $1.47¾. July $1.40⅝ to $1.40½. Corn closed 1c to 1⅛c lower. December 75¼c to 75⅛c. May 83⅝c to 83½c. July 86c. Oats were ⅛c to ½c lower. December 43⅝c. May 47⅞c. July 47⅝c. Lard closed 20c to 42½c lower, bellies 5c lower. Local cash sales were 140,000 bushels of corn, 105,000 of oats, 5000 of barley. The seaboard reported 200,000 bushels of wheat taken for export. Cash wheat basis was unchanged to 1c higher, and corn and oats ½c higher to ½c lower.

Locals were friendly to the buying side of wheat early and were encouraged by strength in Winnipeg. But just as soon as they stopped buying the market weakened under its own weight. Later, reports of heavy Canadian marketings caused early buyers to unload the grain. At midday December was $1.41⅞. May $1.46⅝. July $1.39⅝. Foreign news was more bullish. Liverpool futures were ⅝d higher to ⅝d lower, with strength in nearby months because of strong ocean freights. Broomhall advised that Russian receipts are falling off. Australian shipments were only 272,000 bushels.

The seaboard advised of an indifferent foreign demand, with foreign buyers holding off in expectation of easier freight rates. There was report from Canada of 30 cents a hundred pounds having been paid for vessel room from Quebec to Rotterdam, shipment by Nov. 5, or the highest rate ever paid from that port. Shipping demand is quiet, but mills continue to pay good premiums for choice hard and red wheat. Canadian farmers marketed the big total of 4,139,000 bushels Thursday and country elevators loaded out 2586 cars. Minneapolis stocks increased 200,000 bushels for the week.

Longs were much discouraged over the corn situation in view of receipts today of 736 cars of old corn and bookings to arrive of 125,000 bushels. Locals joined with the discouraged holders in selling, causing a break to new low levels for the season. Buying against indemnities was the only support. Eastern demand was only moderate. At midday December was 75¼c, May 83½c, July 85⅝c.

Oats trade was more active. Commission houses were good buyers, while selling was largely by locals because of weakness in corn. At midday December was 43½c, May 47¾c.

Selling by cash interests caused provisions to drop. Lard was 12½c to 30c lower at midday.

MARRIED WOMAN

JUST LIFE.

GRAY days, gay days,
November days and May days —
Days of tender sorrowing and days of joyous songs!
Gold days, cold days,
Yesterdays and "old days"—
All the little days of life go tripping right along!

Chill days, still days,
Full-of-pep-and-thrill days—
Days when you could laugh at all the troubles in the Land!
Glad days, mad days,
Lucky days and sad days—
Days, you pray, "God send me one—just ONE—who'll understand!"

Glum days, dumb days,
Take-them-as-they-come days—
Days of work and glory—days of weariness and strife!
Laugh days, sigh days,
Holidays and high days—
It takes so many, MANY days to make one little LIFE!

A man will inconsistently choose a girl because she is "like putty in his hand"—and then complain bitterly to Heaven because she sticks to him like chewing gum.

Some modern girls seem to fancy that it is painting the lily for anyone so peppy and beautiful to be a good housekeeper, too.

The girl who used to whisper scornfully, "That woman PAINTS!" now has a sixteen-year-old daughter, who uses three kinds of rouge and feels utterly unclad without her lipstick.

In Life's Shop Window, everything comes in "combination sets," like department store furniture—the cocktail and the headache; love and poverty; wealth and dullness; art and loneliness; success and the wrong mate. And Fate never "breaks the set."

* * *

A man picks out a wife entirely by his eye, and then feels cheated and resentful forever afterward because she happens to grate on his ears.

Love making is the art of talking old, old nonsense, so that it sounds just like a new and thrilling revelation.

THE CHALLENGE.

CHAPTER LXIII.

THE Count was returning to Paris for the second time within a week, and for the second time, he had met with defeat. Both trips had been in the nature of a wild goose-chase.

He was in no very pleasant frame of mind. He was angry and ready for trouble.

His hasty visit to Russia had been a farce with the laugh all on him.

It had been no easy matter getting a passport under the soviet regime. He'd had to pull all manner of wires. It had been expensive and the traveling was abominable. He liked ease and comfort. He'd half frozen on the beastly trip for all his fur-lined topcoat. And then, at the end of the journey, after all the nuisance of the customs and the rest——

At the end of the journey, there were no jewels hiding their brilliance behind a blackened brick in the fireplace of a peasant's cottage. There was no cottage. There had never been such a cottage. There had never been an aristocratic and titled family such as the dead poet had claimed was his.

The cottage, the family, the jewels themselves were a pure fabrication of the Russian's unbalanced mind.

Count Romeo had found that out for a certainty.

In the village where Ivan Ivanoff had claimed to have hidden himself from the revolutionists and left behind him his family jewels, the townspeople had laughed at the Count's interrogations. Ivan had come of a moderately well to do family—that was all.

The Count left the little village with a face like a thundercloud. He had been neatly tricked by the poet's farewell letter to Doris.

Had she been tricked too, he wondered? Had she made the fruitless journey only to learn the truth, as he had?

On the return trip, he read in the newspapers of the burning of Hartley's chateau and the belief that a young woman, who had been a guest there, had perished in the flames.

He smiled to himself.

By now, Doris must be safely in Paris.

But she was not.

Her apartment was still dark and empty. The French woman had received no word, she said. The Count went to the nearest cafe where his intimates were wont to gather for dinner. Not one of them had seen or heard of Doris since she had been there last with him.

The Count became more angry than ever—at Doris, this time: He was striding out of the cafe when he came face to face with Hartley.

The latter was looking angry too —and dangerous.

"What have you done with Miss Mackay?" he demanded of the Count, barring his way to the door.

"That's a question for me to ask you," sneered the Count. "What have you done with my wife?"

"Your wife!" echoed Hartley.

The diners at nearby tables turned at the sound of the angry voices, neglecting their food and wine.

"Precisely," said the Count with a thin smile. "She was more than my fiancee. We were already married when you carried her off. You have stolen my wife!"

"That's a lie! You cur!"

Hartley's clenched fist struck the Italian full in the face. He staggered and fell backward over a table. The crash upset a bottle of wine which poured over two indignant diners, who immediately added their voluble Latin protests to the hubbub.

The Count regained his balance, wiped his assaulted face tenderly with his handkerchief.

"You will give me satisfaction for this, public insult M'sieur," he said furiously. "My friends will wait upon you yet this evening."

"A duel?" asked Hartley with a short laugh. "Very well, I shall meet you with pleasure. In the meantime, where is the lady I am seeking?"

"Alas, M'sieur, I wish I knew!" said the Count in heartfelt tones, momentarily forgetting his fury. Then, he remembered his dignity, bowed ironically, and turned to his friends who were already clustering around him.

"A duel!" thought Hartley with a grim smile, as he left the cafe. "Well, I don't care. But if only I knew Doris was safe. Of course that hound has her shut up somewhere, and if I'm killed, he'll put through that abominable marriage right away. I wonder if he knows I'm a crack shot?"

Before he turned in that night, it was arranged with the Count's seconds that he meet that gentleman with pistols just after dawn the following morning at Fontainbleau, outside Paris.

To Be Continued.

FRENCH CHEESE TOAST

Mix one egg, one and one-half tablespoon cream, the same amount of flour, and one-fourth pound of grated cheese until smooth. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Spread on slices of bread cut two and one-half inches thick. Fry in butter, cheese side down, to a golden brown.

Flowers on Garments.

Flowers drawn from the canvas of Van Dongen, great modernist of the French school, will bloom on the garments of women next spring, declares New York, looking ahead as winter comes. At the "spring opening" of a great silk house these new designs revealed themselves as a brilliant reproduction of the technique of brush and oils, applied to silk.

Van Dongen's women, with their characteristic elongated eyelid, haunt the flower faces that the silk designer has borrowed.

Mencken Finds Man Always Gets Worst of Bargain

Bill Tilden Thinks Marriage Interferes With Tennis

By Hannah Stein

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WHY do a great many successful men and women remain unmarried? To find the answer to this question I interviewed a number of the best-known bachelors and single women in public life. Here are some of the answers:

Sir Thomas Lipton

SIR THOMAS LIPTON'S friends play on the word Singhalese, a people employed on the Lipton tea plantations in Ceylon, by saying that Sir Thomas never married because he is too fond of his "single ease."

"Were you too busy all your life to marry" I asked him.

"I simply didn't think of it; that was all. Mother and I were such great pals, you know."

"Did she ever oppose your marrying in the old days?"

"Oh, no. We rarely ever talked about it. It just happened that I didn't, in the same way that a good many things happen without deliberation.

"Mother was a dear soul," he said later. All mothers are.

"Any young person who makes his mother his goal and lets her be his light and his guide is sure to come out all right. Be sure to tell your mother what I said when you get home.

Sir Thomas said that he re-established acquaintance with the landlady of his boyhood days in America years after he had forgotten her because of a respectful reference to his mother.

"I was the guest of the Mayor of New Orleans on a visit to the states shortly before the war broke out, when an elderly woman called and asked to see me. 'Don't you remember me?' she said. 'You once told me I made pancakes like your mother.' Sure enough, it was old Mrs. McBride, who had owned the boarding house where I lived as a boy. She couldn't have brought back a pleasanter memory, and I never forgot her after that. A few years later her boy sent me a letter to say that his mother 'had gone to her heavenly rest.' Nice fellow. A son who thinks so beautifully of the after-existence of his mother must be a fine chap."

When I got up to leave Sir Thomas said:

"Do you want to see my mother's photograph before you go? I always take it with me, if I travel only overnight."

And the tall gentleman of massive frame and slightly stooped shoulders went out to fetch the precious photograph without the pretense of ordering secretary and valet, within calling.

"This is my mother (introducing an elderly woman with a sweet, gentle expression, framed in a gold oval). Wasn't that a strange headgear middle-class women wore in those days?"

There was no attempt to wipe out the past of a once middle-class Irish lad of the first generation in Scotland.

"I perpetuated her name by turning over our house near Glasgow for the Lipton Memorial Home for Nurses. The only consideration I asked in return was for permission to drop in any time I came around."

All the way home I thought about the unusual knighted multimillionaire who has never grown out of his adoration for his mother.

Mary Lewis

THE day after a newspaper had given out a false report of her engagement, Mary Lewis, this season's debutante at Metropolitan Opera House, said that she was unmarried because she hadn't met the man for whom she would make the sacrifices she was prepared to make in marriage.

"That answers it sufficiently, doesn't it? Although it may be interesting to add that from a very young age I organized my life so that marriage was not the only goal in my life. I always loved music. And while my friends enjoyed their beaux and concentrated on marriage, I preferred to remain the enigma among them by following my own interests and enjoying the illusions of a professional career. I couldn't help it. I had no more control over that urge in my soul than one has control over life itself.

"And yet here is the paradox: Despite my own aim to be the peak of success in music, I still believe that the little friend who followed a different trail and at 18 or thereabouts married and settled down to raise a family is the more successful woman between us. Her life is the richer, and she gets considerably more happiness every day. There is a nothingness, an emptiness in one's life if she hasn't a home and children, and no professional success can take its place.

"But on starting out in life one cannot control a good many things. She cannot curb a something or other in the soul that has greater force than any other emotion. My own friends could not understand why I should want to work so hard while they happily were following the normal instincts of young people. But when I look back I see that none of us deliberately chose the one or the other. The bigger thing in each of us was different, that was all."

"Is your career interfering with matrimonial possibilities?"

"I hope not. Even my career would not hold the same interest for me if I had to abandon it for the hope of a home and children. Frankly, I am not ready for it yet. I have hard work before me at the Metropolitan and on the concert stage, and it would be a physical impossibility to be successful in something else at the same time.

"But let me assure you that I do not forget for a moment that a woman aims at something futile if she expects her career to be her ultimate goal. The happiness derived from it is only transitory. It is only of limited duration. For just as soon as she ceases to be at her best as a singer or a writer, or a painter, or anything else you please, bygones are forgotten, and that is the end. Unfortunately, that is the penalty for the 'different' man or woman.

"But I haven't abandoned the hope of marriage and children," Mary Lewis said. "The very thought of being 40 and upward with only a career and material comforts as my companions is depressing. And if I shall be able to control my destiny in a few years from now, my choice will be a quiet little home somewhere away from the hustle and bustle of the city—and children. I hope to have children by all means."

"I am sure you will have your wish," I said encouragingly, basing my expectations on the facts that she is still young and beautiful. "You have a number of years to go before you despair."

"Quite right," Mary Lewis said. "But the more independent a woman grows the harder it is to give up her freedom and the more discriminating she is of the person for whom she must sacrifice it. As she goes higher and higher her sense of values changes so that eventually * * * you understand. But I am not despairing. I have too much work on hand to worry just yet."

H. L. Mencken

H. L. MENCKEN, editor of the American Mercury and one of the most popular bacheiors in the country, said that the fact that he remained unmarried at 46 was a mere accident of fate, not due to any enterprise on his part.

"If any woman of the proper resolution had ever made up her mind to marry me," Mr. Mencken said, "I'd have succumbed like the rest of the poor dogs, and to the tune of the pathetic hosannas. I have escaped so far because every woman who enjoys the honor of witnessing me sees at once that I'd make an impossible husband. I am too vain for the office. My interest in myself is so inordinate that it is obvious that nothing remains for a possible wife and children.

"Here, of course, I do not refer to my so-called literary work. That is not myself; it is simply my business. I refer to my rheumatism, my increasing baldness, my political and theological prejudices, my puerile snobberies, my Cro Magnon table manners—in brief, to all the things that constitute the essential man. They engross me, I regret to say. It would be impossible while I was at them, for me to give any seemly thought to a wife's hat, or even to the loftiest yearnings of her soul.

"I am a firm believer in monogomy, H. L. Mencken said. "I have never heard any sound argument against it. It is comfortable, laudable and sanitary. That I have escaped its benefits is not my fault, nor is it to my credit; it is due to a mere act of God. I am no more responsible for it than I am for my remarkable talent as a pianist, my linguistic skill, my dark, romantic, somewhat voluptuous beauty."

But a twinkle of the eye betrayed the fact that he had given only part of the truth why he is still unmarried. And in answer to a specific question, Mr. Mencken said that not many men, worthy of the name, gain anything of net value by marriage, at least as the institution is now met with in good society.

"A man in full possession of the modest faculties that nature commonly apportions to him, is at least far enough above idiocy to realize that marriage is a bargain in which he gets the worst of it, even when in some detail or other he makes a visible gain.

"He never, I believe, wants all that marriage offers and implies. He wants at least no more than certain parts. He may desire, let us say, a housekeeper to protect his goods and to entertain his friends, but home cooking may be downright poisonous to him. He may yearn for a son to pray at his tomb, yet suffer acutely at the mere approach of relatives-in-law. He may want a cook and not a partner in his business, or a partner in his business and not a cook.

"But in order to get the precise thing or things that he wants, he has to take a lot of things that he doesn't want—that no sane man, in truth, could imaginably want. So the moment that his oafish smirks and eye rolling signify that he has achieved the intellectual disaster that is called falling in love, he and his life are hers to do with as she will."

William T. Tilden

IT TOOK exactly 10 days' effort and no less than twice that number of telephone calls before I could interrupt Big Bill Tilden, actor-tennis champ, during rehearsals, and find out that he isn't married because he hasn't the time for it.

"An athlete hasn't the time to be married," Bill Tilden said. "There is entirely too much outside demand on his time to enable him to be a successful home body. And what I say about an athlete follows usually in the case of in public life."

SECRETS OF HEALTH AND SUCCESS
BY CHARLES A. L. REED, M.D.
FORMER PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

IT HAS long been known that the red color of the blood is due to the presence of iron.

Iron in the blood is found in one of its constituents called haeglobin.

If you haven't enough haemoglobin you become pale and weak, a condition called anaemia.

If anaemia goes on until it becomes what is called "pernicious" it generally results in death.

You see therefore that iron, which is likewise found in various tissues, especially in the liver, is a vital constituent of the body.

Some very important discoveries about the role that iron plays in the human body have recently been made by the distinguished chemists, Professor John Uri Lloyd and Dr. J. Thomas Lloyd, working in collaboration.

The most important of these discoveries, which may make it necessary for us to learn much of our physiologies over again, is that formation of the familiarly called carbonic acid gas, is dependent in part if not wholly upon the action of sunlight—on the iron in our blood.

This is the poisonous carbon dioxid, or CO2 that we throw out of our lungs every time we breathe, and that is constantly escaping to lesser quantities through our skins.

And this discovery explains why we need both iron and sunlight.

It makes rational great many things that we have been doing in a more or less impirical way.

We now know, for instance, why and how sunlight with iorn and vitamins are necessary for the upbuilding of the system against the encroachments of tuberculosis.

We know why and how the combination of these three great agencies are so important in helping the victims of infectious diseases through their convalescence.

We now know why and how they are essential to the maintenance not only of your health but especially the health of your babies.

And now an additional word about the babies—their nature and growth.

There is much evidence that young children often do not get enough iron and that their anaemia, thought to be due to digestive and bowel poisoning, really is due to this and not to bad milk or too much fat.

Neither human or cow's milk contain enough iron for the needs of the growing infant which, until it received a mixed diet, must draw upon the iron reserves in the liver at birth.

Since most of this reserve is laid down in the later months of pregnancy the premature infant invariably becomes anemic before it is 5 or 6 months old unless it is supplied with additional iron as a drug, and with abundant sunlight to make the iron effective.

Minor anemia is also very common among full term infants. While it may not be known how much of this is due to deficiency of iron in the mother's milk, or in other milk, it has long been known that such babies do best under prolonged exposure of practically the whole body to sunlight, with protection from the direct rays. We now know why.

Talk over this article with your doctor. It will interest him and may be of great value to you.

"From that point let's see how it ordinarily works out with the best known of our public beings, actors. If both are on the stage, we don't, as a rule, hear of them getting on particularly well together. If their interests are different and they have divergent tastes, it is much worse.

DAD

By Lucy Lowell.

DAD had been sort of overlooked, someway. Nobody's fault, you know—it just happened.

It was after daughter had grown into her teens and become a lively, thoughtless youngster, rather startlingly up-to-date. Mother, who'd never had to work as hard as Dad had, was up-to-date, too, and she and daughter were great chums. So without realizing it their life was set a step apart from him.

Besides, he was so busy making money to buy them pretty things that he fell a bit behind their up-to-dateness. His grammar got a little slippery. And in the evening he'd put on his slippers—they were old and shabby and comfortable—and he'd sit in the little room behind the living room where everything was old and shabby and comfortable, with his paper and his books.

And he got to looking rather like the room, old and shabby and comfortable. He wasn't exactly neglected but just to himself. He never, for example, was invited in to meet daughter's guests, who were numerous and gay. It got to be a tradition about the house that "dad wouldn't care for this or for that."

After a time daughter's friends became persons of consequence—artists and musicians and others who had done important things.

Then a trouble came to daughter. And she lay in her darkened room, heart-sick and hopeless and ill.

And Daddy came in and sat beside her with his hand on her head and his kind old eyes looking into the distance. He said never a word. But daughter thought as she lay there—thought and thought.

And more time passed and daughter was entertaining her friends again—more numerous and gayer than ever. But now dad was there, too—right in the living room with everybody else.

He protested at first An old fellow like him—and he liked his slippers and his ancient smoking jacket. So she made him wear the slippers and the jacket.

Then he bothered about his slipperty grammar—said they'd notice it. And she made her grammar slippery, too, and said she liked it that way.

And when more time had passed her friends began to ask for dad when he wasn't around.

Finally it came about that he moved back into the little old shabby comfortable room. But the artists and musicians and others who had done important things moved in there with him!

For everybody had discovered that the one who is overlooked quite often is the one everybody wants to see.

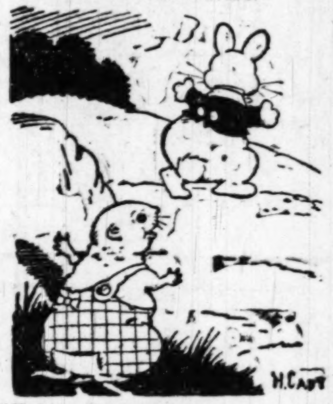
Danny Finds the New Home

Sometimes 'tis wisest to be blind;
To look before, but not behind.
—Old Mother Nature.

PETER RABBIT was shocked. At first he didn't understand what Danny Meadow Mouse had meant. Then it gradually came over Peter that Danny was simply terribly jealous. Yes, sir, that was what was the matter with Danny. He was terribly jealous and he believed that Nanny had gone off to a new home with someone else.



"Hold on!" squealed Danny. "Hold on, Peter!"

"Danny Meadow Mouse," said Peter, "you ought to be ashamed of yourself. Yes, sir, you ought to be ashamed of yourself. You're jealous, that's what's the matter with you. If that is the way you feel I guess it will be the best thing for you if you go right off again and lose yourself the way you did before. I guess it is a good thing that Nanny isn't living in the old house. Now you don't know where she is, and it's a good thing for her that you don't."

With great difficulty Danny Meadow Mouse swallowed his bad temper. "I'm sorry, Peter," said he. "Truly, I'm sorry. If you know where Nanny is living, won't you please tell me?"

Peter scratched a long ear with a long hind foot. He stroked his whiskers. He scratched the other long ear with the other long hind foot. Peter does these things when he is thinking. He isn't quite sure whether he is scratching thoughts in or scratching thoughts out, but he says that anyway it helps him to think. As Peter is such a happy-go-lucky chap that he doesn't think very often, perhaps it does help him.

"I think," said he, "that I had better go to see Nanny first and tell her that you are home."

"No, no, Peter, no, no!" cried Danny, "don't do that. I want to give her a surprise."

"Huh!" snapped Peter. "You mean you want to find out whether or not she has company. I think I'll let you hunt for her for a while. It will do you good."

"But, Peter, I haven't the least idea where to look," replied Danny. "Please show me where Nanny is living. You might do that much for an old friend who has been away for a long time."

This reminded Peter that he didn't know where Danny had been. At once Peter made himself comfortable and demanded that Danny tell him all about his adventures. Danny discovered that only by doing this would he ever find out from Peter where Nanny was, so he hurriedly told Peter where he had been, how he got there, and how he got back again. "Now, Peter," he concluded, "it is your turn. Lead me to Nanny's new home."

Peter had to admit that Danny had fairly earned this information. So off he started, lipperty-lipperty-lip.

"Hold on!" squeaked Danny. "Hold on, Peter!"

Peter stopped. "I thought you were in a hurry to see Nanny," said he.

"I am, Peter; you know I am. But you forget that your legs are long, while mine are short. Be a good fellow and go slowly."

So Peter was a good fellow and went slowly. At last they reached a thicket of bushes along the edge of the Green Meadows. Peter pointed up in these bushes. "There," said he, "is Nanny's new home."

Danny looked up. At first all he saw was what looked like an old nest of Brownie the Trasher. Then he discovered it had a roof to it. Danny's heart almost skipped a beat for joy. He had found Nanny's new home.

OLD SONGS MADE NEW.

(The Lass of Richmond Hill.)

IN Richmond Heights there lives a lass
Who cast her eyes on me,
But her stern parents say, alas!
That mine she cannot be.

Although they draw the County line
Upon my fervid suit,
I hope some day to make her mine,
Sans cavil or dispute.

This lass so neat, with smile so sweet,
Belongs to me by rights;
And you can bet I'll get her yet
Sweet lass o' Richmond Heights

Sweet lass o' Richmond Heights,
Sweet lass o' Richmond Heights,
I'd cross the line to call thee mine,
